POPE LEO'S DEATH HOURLY EXPECTED BY THE WATCHERS GATHERED AT HIS BEDSIDE

His Holiness Becomes Partially Unconscious and Shows Signs of Great Depression.

CALLS OUT SEVERAL TIMES DURING RESTLESS SLEEP

Pontiff's Ideas Seem Somewhat Confused as He Is Aroused from Slumber—Official Bulletin Shows Failing Strength.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 14, 4:30 a. m.—Dr. Lapponi has succeeded in reanimating the pope with stimulants. He also gave him a little nourishment. The patient's breathing is again difficult. He says he feels very tired.

3 a. m.—The pope has been faintly conscious for an hour, he is sinking fast. When he emerged from his coma his first whispered words were, "It is growing darker."

2:15 a. m.—The pope called out several times in his sleep and then awoke, showing great signs of depression and with his ideas somewhat confused.

1 a. m.—The pope is rapidly sinking. All his relatives have been summoned. It is reported that he has relapsed into unconsciousness.

12:20 a. m.—Shortly before midnight the pontiff fell into a state of unconsciousness—half sleep, half coma. He is very restless. The heat of the body is high for the patient's organism and appears to be feverish.

ROME, July 13, 8:45 p. m.—The following bulletin has just been issued.

"The depression in the pope's strength persists. The frequency of respiration is slightly augmented. Respiration 36, pulse 92, weak; temperature 37 centigrade. General condition always grave. No immediate danger.

(Signed.) "ROSSONI.
"LAPPONI.
"MAZZONI."

Condition Very Grave.

ROME, July 14.—2:16 A. M.—"While there is life there is hope" was all the consolation that Dr. Laponni could give tonight, in admitting that Pope Leo's condition was "very grave."

The pontiff has suffered another relapse and he lies this morning in a more critican condition than at any time since the middle of last week. The semi-comatose condition into which he fell at midnight and the confused state of his heretofore lucid mind on his awakening at an early hour this morning, accompanied by still greater depression than during yesterday, are regarded as symptoms of the gravest nature and as pointing to an imminent dissolution. Even in the early evening medical opinion was less pessimistic and Dr. Mazzoni thought the end was not within sight. He expressed the belief that unless the disease took an unexpected turn there was no reason to apprehend death for two or three days. This statement, however, did not relieve the anxiety of those who know what powerful stimulants are being constantly administered. Some attribute the pontiff's extreme weakness tonight to the excessive mental and physical efforts undertaken yesterday, in receiving visitors, hearing mass, etc.

Begged to Be Left Quiet.

Never before has the patient's weakness progressed as it did yesterday. For the first time since his illness the pontiff asked to have the shutters almost closed, as the light hurt his eyes, and at the same time, contrary to his custom, he begged to be left as quiet as possible.

Another noteworthy symptom of his weakening condition was the docility with which he took his medicine and nourishment. Previously, indeed during his whole life, Pope Leo has been against the prescriptions of doctors or anything which has the aspect of being forced upon him. His attitude of fatigue and indifference was taken as an indication that his vitality was fast diminishing. Late last evening nine cardinals, including Satolli and Martinelli, were admitted to the sick room, but the pope could not even speak to them, merely giving them his hand to kiss.

Dr. Rossoni was reported to have said in an interview yesterday:

"The pope's pulse reaches 90 pulsations and over. Just calculate how many times it has pulsated in 93 years and you will understand that in his present condition all his organs and the pulse must end by getting so tired that they will stop forever."

At the American embassy it was stated that no request, official or otherwise, had been received up to yesterday for information regarding the pope's condition. King Edward has instructed the British ambassador, Sir Francis Bertie, to telegraph twice daily the state of his holiness.

The Tribuna last night printed a statement that the pope's real ailment was cancer of the liver. Dr. Mazzoni characterizes the statement as a stupid falsehood without an atom of foundation.

Populace Thronged Streets.

When the news of the pope's relapse became known throughout the city tonight there was a great flocking of the populace to the streets about the vatican. Throngs were denser than at any time since the pope's illness began. Owing to the reports of the imminence of the pope's death the government quadrupled the police guard around the vatican, an unprecedented incident proving the affection of the masses in Rome for the pontiff took place today when great crowds of the people entered the vatican and ascended to the second floor, which is as high as the seventh story of an average house, to inscribe their names in the visitors' book.

The multitude was dazed because nobody interfered with their entrance. The guards and officials rejoice in this spectacle of the popular outpouring to pay their respects.

Dr. Lapponi is accredited with saying that the death agony of his holiness was expected by the physicians to be as long as the pope's brother's, Cardinal Pecci, whose physical and mental vigor was much the same, and who had a long agony before dying. The exhausting vigil has rapidly incapacitated many aged officials and attendants at the vatican.

Telegrams of inquiry as to the pope's condition were received today from Archbishops Farley, Ireland and other American prelates. Cardinal Rampolla was deeply affected by Mgr. Ireland's telegram, which announced that a wave of sympathy was spreading over the United States.

A cardinal who visited the sick room said that the pontiff had become so emaciated he weighed only 50 pounds, about the weight, as Dr. Lapponi says, of a boy of 12 years. Hence the physicians carried the pontiff easily from his chair to the bed and vice versa. There was hardly any tissue left. The nerve and brain chiefly remained, and upon these his holiness maintained his marvelous battle against death.

QUIGLEY THINKS GOTTI WILL SUCCEED PONTIFF

Cardinal Rampolla Is Not Acceptable to German or Austrian Statesmen.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 13.—Archbishop Quigley believes the next pope will be Cardinal Gotti. The archbishop believes that Cardinal Rampolla is persona non grata to the sacred college because of his pro-French services during the expulsion of the religious orders from France.

"There is no doubt," said the archbishop, "that France would be mightily pleased to see Rampolla elevated to the papacy, but for that very reason it is not likely that he will be. For the reason that France would be most pleased at the elevation of Rampolla, Germany and Austria would be opposed to him. The emperor of Germany is one of the shrewdest diplomats of the continent and it is not doubted that he would like to secure the friendship of the vatican, to the extent, in fact, of securing permission to Roman Catholic missionaries to enter the Ottoman empire and other eastern countries.

"Cardinal Gotti, one of the prominent and most likely candidates for the papacy, would be very acceptable to Germany. He is a wonderfully equipped man for the place, too. He is a profound scholar, knows the world well, and is large in his sympathies and of a very kindly nature. He would undoubtedly evince a fine knowledge of statecraft if elevated to the papacy. Cardinal Gotti, however, might not prove acceptable at first to the government at Washington. He is a very religious man and would naturally lean to the side of the friars in the Philippines."

PAPAL DELEGATE HAS ABANDONED ALL HOPE

Washington Representative of the Vatican Receives Discouraging Cablegram.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 13.—At the apostolic legation here little hope for Pope Leo's recovery is entertained. Cardinal Rampolla's telegram: "Amelioration of the illustrious patient not progressing; prayers requested," is read as a warning.

The news of Pope Leo's death will be communicated to the world by Cardinal Respighi, the vicar of Rome. Cardinal Rampolla's duties as secretary of state cease upon the death of the pontiff. Cardinal Respighi will announce the news by a public proclamation in Rome which will be posted on all the churches, and while this is being prepared will dispatch a short telegram to every papal representative throughout the world. In all likelihood these dispatches will precede the telegraphs to the rulers of European

FAILED TO STOP RAILROAD BILL

Stevenson Faction Unable to Prevent Passage of Elevated Ordinance.

DEPENDED ON A TRICK

Called Meeting to Order and Adjourned for Week When No Quorum Was Present.

HELD A CAUCUS IN A HOTEL

The Stevenson faction played its last card in common council last night and lost, the Duquesne way railroad ordinance passing finally after the opposition leaders had made a futile attempt to prevent a meeting and postpone action. Councilman W. H. Stevenson and his supporters tried to trick the railroad advocates by calling the meeting and adjourning it before a quorum could put in an appearance. M. G. Leslie successfully blocked this little parliamentary game by having a president pro tem. elected to succeed Gebhardt Sahner, the Stevenson chairman, who left the hall after declaring the meeting adjourned for a week.

D. J. Bole, elected chairman pro tem. upon the motion of Mr. Leslie, called the council together half an hour later, found a quorum present and the ordinance was passed by a vote of 29 to 1, J. C. Wesson of the Twentieth ward, being the only member voting in the negative.

Mr. Wasson and Thomas M. Brown questioned the legality of the meeting, presided over by Mr. Bole, but were ruled out of order. They claimed the meeting was illegal because the regular president pro tem., Mr. Sahner, had adjourned the meeting until next week, and also that the preceedings were irregular because Mr. Bole had been elected when there was not a quorum of the members present.

Caucus at Monongahela House.

Later in the evening the number opposed to the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance held a caucus at the Monongahela house. They decided to proceed as though a meeting of council had not been held last night. This morning Mr. Sahner, as president pro tem of common council, will direct clerk H. B. Davis to send out notices for an adjourned meeting of that council at 8 o'clock next Monday evening to take up the Pennsylvania's Duquesne way ordinance on third reading.

Another caucus will be held Saturday night when further plans will be adopted. The object in waiting until that meeting is to take advantage of anything that may develop at the meeting of the chamber of commerce on Thursday.

After the meeting last night Mr. Wasson said Mayor William B. Hays would probably be asked to consider the legality of the passage of the ordinance for the reasons given, but he did not apprehend that the matter would get into court.

Mr. Wasson said he believed that the railroad advocates would try to have a meeting of select council called for Wednesday afternoon to pass the ordinance before the chamber of commerce could take action, a special meeting of the chamber having been called for Thursday afternoon.

Started to Work the Game Early.

The special session last night was called for 7:30 o'clock. At that hour not a dozen councilmen were at city hall. The Stevenson people started promptly to put their scheme into operation, but it failed to work smoothly. Mr. Stevenson asked the clerk of common council to call the members to the council chamber. The clerk declined and Mr. Sahner, the president pro tem, took the gavel himself and rapped loudly on the railing in the rotunda.

This brought the members together and Clerk H. B. Davis was finally induced to call the roll. The following 15 members responded, two short of a quorum: Messrs. Armstrong, Barker, Beckert, Bole, Brand, D. F. Crawford, Delaney, Hughes, Leslie, McNally, Sahner, Shuch, Semmelrock, Sterret and Wasson.

Councilman Stevenson, W. C. Reitz and other opponents of the railroad measure remained outside of the council chamber to aid the game of preventing a quorum. When the clerk announced that there was

OTHER RAILROADS WILL ENTER OVER WABASH'S TRACKS

Two Western Systems Are Negotiating on Terms by Which Pittsburgh Will Gain Additional Lines—Goulds Willing.

More than one big railroad system will have entrance to Pittsburgh over the tracks of the Wabash railroad when these tracks are opened for traffic within the next six or eight months. During the visit of George J. Gould and his party here on Saturday and Sunday, it developed that negotiations are now on looking to the use of the Wabash tracks by two or three other large western systems. It has been told these companies frankly by the Wabash that that railroad will be entirely willing to allow the trains of the other roads to enter the city on the Wabash tracks, but that they must provide their own terminals here.

This is the same arrangement that the Wabash has with the Grand Trunk by which the Wabash extends from Toledo to Buffalo. The terms of the use of Grand Trunk tracks provide for the payment of a certain amount per annum and a fixed proportion of the operating expenses.

Such an arrangement is being considered by at least two lines that have long wished to have Pittsburgh freight come to them from some more friendly source than the lines which now originate it. It is stated that one of the largest Vanderbilt lines is considering this, the reason why it does not use the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie tracks being the tripartite agreement by which the freight from the Lake Erie goes to the Erie and the Lake Shore. It might be possible for that line, however, to arrange with the Lake Erie for the use of the "Little Giant's" terminals here without a breach of the agreement.

Mr. Gould and his party left Pittsburgh at 7:20 o'clock yesterday morning over the Baltimore & Ohio. Their first stop was at Connellsville, where the coke industry received considerable attention. A run was then made over the Fayette County branch of the Baltimore & Ohio to Uniontown, the purpose being to see the country through which the Greene county line of the Wabash will run. Returning to Connellsville the trip was continued to Cumberland, and the special train then switched to the West Virginia Central.

Before leaving yesterday morning Mr. Gould said:

amazes me. Then there is about everyone you see the appearance of being busy. There are no loafers. Hustle is everywhere evident."

SUBSIDIARY LEASES TO BE TERMINATED

The Shipbuilding Receiver Aims to Gain Control of Properties.

SCHWAB UNAFFECTED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 13.

Receiver Smith of the United States Shipbuilding Company, after a conference today with counsel at the offices of the company, announced that he had signed an order terminating the leases of the subsidiary shipbuilding plants.

In the organization of the United States Shipbuilding Company the receiver said the properties of the subsidiary shipbuilding companies were acquired and then leased back to the subsidiary companies for one year, with a proviso by which they may be terminated at a five days' notice by the parent company. The properties were leased upon a rental to consist of the earnings of the plants. In order to get control of the properties the receiver had terminated these leases. The order, the receiver stated, would not include the Bethlehem steel plant.

"The Bethlehem Steel Company does not stand on a par with the other subsidiary companies," was asked of the receiver.

"Well, we don't know yet," replied he. "Even the lawyers seem in doubt about that."

The Sheldon reorganization committee, which plans to reduce the capital stock of the Shipbuilding Company from $81,000,000 to $43,000,000, thus eliminating $38,000,000 of "water," now has a decisive majority of the first and second mortgage bonds, the preferred and common stock and will be able to show Receiver Smith that approximately 90 per cent of the security holders favor their plan. The action of the trust company of the Republic in depositing its bonds in favor of the plan will doubtless have weight with the receiver. The opposition to the Sheldon plan is apparently diminishing. The broker who inaugurated the opposition movement has sailed for Europe.

PORTLAND, ME., July 13.—Judge Putnam in the United States circuit court today ordered that a notice returnable before July 21, be given on a petition that James Smith, Jr., of Newark, N. J., receiver of the United States Shipbuilding Company, be appointed ancilliary receiver for this district.

INCREASED WAGES FOR GLASS HOUSE EMPLOYES

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—(Special.)—Increased wages for glass house employes in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey will be the result of the International Glasshouse convention, which has just adjourned at Terre Haute. A wage scale for all union factories was adopted. The new wage scale will not affect Illinois. A conference will be held in August by employes and operators. The next convention will be held at Belleville, Ill., June, 1904.

RACE ENMITY DEPLORED BY WASHINGTON

Colored Educator Warns Negroes Against Useless Strife.

BETTER DAYS COMING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Atlanta, Ga., July 13.—Booker T. Washington tonight addressed an immense audience at the Peoples tabernacle, the occasion being the thirty-sixth anniversary of the First Congregational church, colored. Mr. Washington spoke in part as follows:

"Every decent white man and negro in the south is glad that the time will soon be at an end when a negro will be popular with his people in proportion as he curses the white man; or when a white man can be promoted to positions of trust and honor, in proportion as he has been successful in unfairly condemning the negro.

"The time has come in the south when I believe the very highest type of southern white men and women are going more and more to take a hand in the elevation of the blacks at their doors.

"Whites and blacks are to reside together in the country permanently and we should lose no opportunity to secure in a manly way a harmony between the races. Whoever, north or south, black or white, stirs up strife needlessly, by word or deed, is an enemy to both races and to his country.

"I appreciate from the bottom of my heart the tremendous and trying strain that is now upon us and how difficult it is for us to make progress under such circumstances, but I believe the momentous period through which we are now passing will draw to our support the good will, sympathy and helpful co-operation of large numbers of white men in the south as well as in the north, if we only exercise due patience, self-control and courage."

TALKED TOO MUCH.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 13.—(Special.)—The application of Mrs. Roland B. Molineux for a divorce has been rejected and will not be granted for the present, at least, according to an apparently well founded rumor which is in circulation tonight.

Before she had been here more than two or three days Mrs. Molineux admitted that she was in South Dakota solely to procure a divorce. Under decisions of the United States supreme court, a residence established in one state by a citizen of another for the express purpose of securing a divorce is not of a bona fide character.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED NIATVES KILLED BY CYCLONE

MARSEILLES, July 13.—The mail from Haiphong brings news of a terrible cyclone which ravaged the French possession, Tonquin, on June 8. One hundred and fifty natives were killed and many villages laid in ruins.

Wabash Soon to Let Contract Amounting to Over $4,000,000

Masonry and grading contracts amounting to over $4,000,000 are about to be let by the Wabash for its Pittsburgh extension. The work preparing for these lines has been going steadily ahead, and much of the territory through which the lines will be run is being inspected by George J. Gould.

Bids were asked yesterday for the masonry and grading of the greater part of the Greene county line of the Wabash. Today a number of prospective bidding contractors are going over the route in anticipation of making tenders for the work.

The part of the line which will now be put under contract without delay is that running from Patterson's Mills near Hickory, Washington county, to Waynesburg via Washington, Pa. The distance is 37 miles, and the cost is expected to be approximately $2,000,000. The work will be heavy in places, but the line is to be a thoroughly modern one, with light grades and easy curves. The part of this work from Patterson's Mills to Washington forms the western half of the "V" which will connect the Greene county line with the through line. It is intended as the western outlet and also the western inlet to the coal and coke country and for through business. The work on the eastern half of the "V," which will extend from Bishop via Canonsburg to Washington, is also nearly ready for the start of construction. This contract covers 12 miles and is expected to amount to about $700,000. This will be the route between Pittsburgh and the east.

In addition to this work there is also another 12-mile line extending from Waynesburg to the state line which is nearly ready for the contractors. This will cost about $700,000. This line will connect the Greene county line with the Buckhannon & Northern, which extends from the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line to Belington, there connecting with the West Virginia Central.

The Saw Mill run branch of the Wabash, extending through the southern end of the city from the main line to the junction with the Union railroad of the Carniegie Steel Company, is also about ready for letting after a number of unexpected delays. This line will cost $700,000 or thereabouts.

PANIC AND PRAISE GO HAND IN HAND IN DENVER STORM

Wild Scenes at Collapse of Endeavor Tent, but Followed by Peaceful Calm as Thousands Sang in Pouring Rain.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Denver, July 13.—The big Tent Endeavor, where the Christian Endeavor convention has been held for the past four days, was blown over late this afternoon, more than 8,000 people being in the tent at the time. The injured numbered nearly a score, but fortunately none of them was seriously hurt. Mrs. Jessie M. Thornburgh of Denver was the most seriously injured. Her nose was badly gashed and she suffered several scalp wounds.

The presence of mind of A. M. Ramsey of Chicago, who sprang to a chair and called to the people to hold up the canvas and poles, saved many from death by suffocation. Many woman fainted and were extricated from the folds of the canvas with much difficulty.

The convention was in full progress at the time of the accident. The sides of the tent had been raised to admit air and this enabled the wind to lift up the big canvas as if it were a balloon. Immediately the 8,000 occupants were in a panic, the air being filled with screams of hundreds of women. It was then that Mr. Ramsey sprang to a chair and called loudly on the men to hold up the canvas and catch the big supporting poles as they fell. Hundreds of men sprang to their feet and successfully carried out the suggestion and thus averted serious casualties.

More than 1,000 people who had been seated near the walls of the tent escaped the folds, and these immediately formed themselves into a rescue corps. Those who had fainted and those suffering from slight injuries were quickly removed to the hospital tent.

The most seriously hurt are: Mrs. Thornburgh of Denver, Alleia Murdock of Denver, Miss Mary Ellis of Denver, Mrs. I. N. Johnson of Denver, E. C. Patterson of Alamosa, Col.; Miss Mindeck of New York and Miss Etta Ward of Chicago.

At the time of the collapse of the balloon a meeting for the consideration of national problems was in progress. Among those who had addressed the meeting were the Rev. John Royal Harris of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, who spoke upon "The Liquor Problem." The Rev. F. J. Horsefield of Bristol, England, was just closing his remarks when the tent collapsed.

The final meeting of the convention arranged for this evening at the big tent was abandoned and praise meetings were held in some of the principal churches.

SANGER RESIGNS, OLIVER SUCCEEDS

President Roosevelt Appoints New Assistant Secretary of War.

VISITORS AT SAGAMORE HILL

Archbishop Farley and Secretary Root Consult Chief Executive About Conditions in the Philippines—Jewish Petition Will Be Discussed Today.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 13.—Obliged by the ill health of his wife, Assistant Secretary of War Sanger has resigned. The president has decided to appoint Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver of Albany, N. Y., to succeed him. Gen. Oliver, who is brigadier general commanding the New York National Guard, will not be able to assume the duties of the office until September 1, but Assistant Secretary Sanger will be obliged to relinquish his duties within a very short time. Secretary Root, who is visiting at Sagamore Hill, discussed the change with the president, who felt much regret at the necessary retirement of Col. Sanger.

Gen. Oliver is now engaged in the iron business in Albany. He is a veteran of the civil war and was later in the United States regular army. He was also chief of police of Albany.

With Mr. Oscar Straus, former United States minister to Turkey, Mr. Leo Levi of New York, and Simon Wolf of Washington, representing the executive committee of the B'Nai Brith, President Roosevelt will tomorrow discuss the sending to the Russian government of that organization's petition of protest against the cruelties to Hebrews. The exact mode of procedure has not yet been decided on, but one of two courses will be chosen, either a preliminary note of inquiry if the Russian government will receive the petition or the sending of the petition direct.

President Roosevelt had as his guests at luncheon today Archbishop Farley, John D. Crimmins, James R. Sheffield and P. W. Hoils of New York; Judge Bretano of Chicago, Civil Service Commissioner Cooley, Secretary Root and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Riis. The visit to Sagamore Hill of these persons was entirely unofficial. Archbishop Farley has always been a warm supporter of this government's policy toward the Friars in the Philippines. The administration does not anticipate the death of Pope Leo will interfere at all with these negotiations.

President Roosevelt has received no direct word or even intimation that Postmaster General Payne feels inclined to resign. The president knows Mr. Payne is not at all well.

There is no intention on the part of the president to make any change in the list of United States ambassadors to other governments. The report that Ambassador Meyer at Rome will be succeeded by Charles Francis of New York is without foundation.

Miss Alice Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay tonight.

AMBITIOUS M'KEES ROCKS.

Desires to Take in Some of the Adjoining Boroughs and Make a City.

McKees Rocks wants to expand and take in some adjoining boroughs. It is said some citizens of Stowe township and West Park has intimated to different members of the McKees Rocks council that they would be only too glad to unite.

During a special meeting of the McKees Rocks council last night the subject was broached by the chairman of that body, Frank H. Hieber, and taken up and discussed thoroughly by every member present, as well as by Borough Solicitor Buckley, Borough Engineer Gardner and Messrs. Speer and Green, two members of the local board of health. The concensus of opinion was that in addition to the townships of Stowe and West Park, those of Herrington and Norwood, and probably Schoenville, should be included.

Chairman Hieber instructed Solicitor Buckley to draw up a number of duplicate petitions embodying the Greater McKees Rocks idea, which will be distributed in the townships interested.

Cyrus Booth and the Second Presbyterian church of Johnstown. The Rev. Mr. Booth was asked to resign the charge and was given until the next spring session of the presbytery to seek another field of labor.

Opposition to the Rev. Mr. Booth's pastorate began about two years ago. He was too radical in some of his teachings, it is stated, and some of his utterances from the pulpit were objected to. The presbytery decided to ask the Rev. Mr. Booth to resign, but the matter was referred back to the congregation, the preacher being given nine months to secure a call elsewhere.

PENNYPACKER'S FIRST REVIEW OF THE GUARD

Governor Is Pleased With Appearance of Troops at Camp Hastings.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
CAMP HASTINGS, PERKASIE, PA., July 13.—Gov. Pennypacker made his first appearance in the field as commander-in-chief of the National Guard of Pennsylvania this afternoon by reviewing the brigade of Philadelphia and he broke the custom observed for many years by governors by being seated in a carriage instead of mounting a horse.

The review was called for 5:30. Assistant Adjutant General Gilmore completed the formation quickly and turned the brigade over to Gen. Schall who wheeled about and presented it to Gov. Pennypacker. The latter raised his hat in acknowledgement. He was accompanied in the vehicle as he rode by Adjt. Gen. Stewart. Three of the governor's staff acted as escort.

The parade of the brigade was a beautiful sight. As Gen. Schall and his staff arrived in front of the governor, their swords rose and fell in salute and again the governor uncovered, but remained seated. After the review the governor said it was a handsome sight and that he was much pleased at the exhibition made by the brigade.

A light rain fell during the morning hours which made the ground rather bad for the regimental drills. All the commands were kept busy during the day with drilling.

DOESN'T SCENT DANGER.

William Jennings Bryan Calls the Cleveland Movement a Comedy.

MILWAUKEE, July 13.—W. J. Bryan was interviewed here today as to the Grover Cleveland movement. Mr. Bryan said:

"It is a comedy as it now stands, but a tragedy if it should succeed."

He declared all he desired is the nomination by the Democratic party of someone who would stand by Democratic principles.

"By Democratic," said he, "I mean the principles enunciated at the Kansas City convention of the Democratic party, the last opportunity the party had to declare the principles on which it stands."

Asked if he believed there was any danger of the old line or Cleveland Democrats capturing the next Democratic convention, Mr. Bryan said: "I do not think such a thing is a probability. If there was such a probability, danger would be the right word to use in connection with the results it would work to the party."

In this report Surgeon Hesler says officers kept in the islands more than one year are subject to both mental and physical deterioration and at the end of the period of service are in an unfit condition to attend properly to their duties.

ORANGE, N. J., July 13.—(Special.)—Strong odors of kerosene in milk furnished by some of the dairies of South Orange to their customers have added to many complaints, but not until a valuable cow died, which belonged to David McCollough, did anyone really believe that the cows had drunk the kerosene which is being deposited liberally on marshy land in order to kill the mosquito larvae. An autopsy on the cow adds to this belief and McCollough will sue the village for damages.

POPE'S DEATH HOURLY EXPECTED

countries, as these dispatches will not necessarily be according to a set formula. For instance, the pope is the God-father of the king of Spain and more sympathy will be expressed in his communication than to President Loubet of France.

The procedure in the case of the Italian king is attracting much interest here. When Pius IX. was dying, so shortly after Victor Emmanuel, King Humbert and Queen Marguerita, respeatedly inquired as to the condition of the pontiff and were given information. After his death they intimated unofficially that they would be gratified to attend his obsequies. Because of the informality of this request no notice was designed and the Italian government received its only news through the posters on the churches. The death of Mgr. Volpini, lately appointed by the pope as consistorial secretary, leaves no one between Cardinal Respighi and the world, and all communications will be sent out in his name. His attitude toward the king and queen of Italy is not predicted here, but is awaited with keen interest as the first sign of possible new relations between the vatican and the quirinal.

There is no permanent diplomatic intercourse between the president and the pope and no notification of Pope Leo's death is expected either at the state department or Oyster Bay. However, in view of the fact that President Roosevelt sent a telegram of sympathy and inquiry to the vatican after the seizure of the pope, it is thought in clerical circles here that President Roosevelt will receive some formal notification. This will be in the routine of fully acknowledging the courtesy of his first spontaneous inquiry. The semi-official relations between Washington and the vatican concerning the Philippines will also have an effect to dictate this course. It is, however, absolutely without precedent in the customs of the Roman curia, and none here will speak finally in the matter.

PONTIFF PROPHESIED DEATH NEXT THURSDAY

Credited With Saying His End Would Come on Feast Day of Carmelite Medonna.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]
ROME, July 13.—The pope this morning suffered from mental confusion, during which he seemed to lose consciousness of his surroundings, while he believed he saw a vision. He explained afterward that he thought he saw an undefined shadow moving about the room and slowly, approaching his bed, whereupon the pontiff became agitated and called for his valet, Pio Centra, saying:

"Pio, Pio; who is it? Who is it?"

Dr. Lapponi and Centra rushed to the patient's bed and soon succeeded in tranquilizing him.

Pope Leo is credited with having said: "If I am destined to die from this illness I feel I shall expire on Thursday, the feast day of the Carmelite Madonna, whom I specially worship.

This presentation is remarkable because in a certain way it coincides with prophecy made in the Twelfth century by St. Malachy, the bishop of Armagh, who predicted that Pope Leo would be succeeded by a pope symbolizing the motto, "Ignes Ardens" (burning fire.)

The Carmelite Madonna is the patroness of the Carmelite order, which attributes its origin to the prophet Elijah, who ascended to Heaven in a chariot of fire. Besides, a member and protector of this order is Cardinal Gotti, who is looked upon as the most likely successor to the pontiff.

MOB TORE DOWN FENCE.

Carnival at Johnstown Is Disrupted by Angry Citizens.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., July 13.—(Special.)—Two thousand men tonight went to the grounds on which the Johnstown Carnival Company has its exhibition and tore down 1,500 feet of high board fence. The mob then over-ran the grounds. The carnival is located on the Point, which was left to the city by Joseph Johnson, founder of Johnstown, for a public playground.

A number of citizens decided that the carnival people had no right to build a fence and charge admission on the Point. Outside the grounds early in the evening a great crowd gathered. At a given signal from the leaders the mob rushed to the fence and in a few minutes had the entire affair on the ground. All police on the ground were brushed away. Several arrests were made.

WILKINSBURG BURGESS JUMPS ON COUNCILMEN

Quite a Breeze Raised by a Motion to Refund the License Fee Demanded of Merchants Who Sold Fireworks for the Fourth.

At a meeting of the Wilkinsburg borough council last night Burgess John A. Keys criticised members on their methods of doing business and for the lack of support given him in his efforts to establish a strong government in the borough. He aroused the ire of several members by stating that some councilmen had advised merchants to go ahead and ignore the requirements of the borough.

The speech of the burgess was precipitated when a resolution was presented by Councilman D. B. Douthett to the effect that the license fee of $5 collected from six merchants for the privilege of selling fireworks be returned to them. The burgess got the floor and said: "Do not act rashly. I appeal for stability. Do not reverse your own acts so soon without due thought. I have been told that certain councilmen when asked regarding the license for selling fireworks advised the merchants to go ahead and sell all they wanted to and pay no attention to the license. I was therefore compelled to arrest several parties for so doing and fine them. This sort of work is not supporting me in trying to give Wilkinsburg a strong government."

Councilman Douthett, who introduced the resolution, prefaced his remarks by saying: "Wise men change their minds sometimes, but a fool never." He objected to the burgess' remarks, saying that no reflection was made on the chief executive of the borough by the introduction of the resolution. He thought it was unkind of the burgess to criticise the councilmen as he had done, and declared that they were not acting rash, but justly. The resolution was finally passed.

A communication was read from the Pennsylvania Water Company, protesting against Pittsburgh fire engines attaching to the water plugs of Wilkinsburg. They said there was a pressure of 150 pounds in the plugs and the additional force was liable to break them. A resolution was passed thanking the Pittsburgh department and the Edgewood company for their assistance at the Young's planing mill fire.

A resolution was passed donating $100 to the families of Penn station who suffered in the Jeannette flood.

not a quorum Mr. Wasson read rule 2, as follows:

"At the hour appointed for the meeting of councils the president shall take the chair and the clerk shall proceed to call the roll. And no member shall depart without leave from the president. In the absence of the president the members present shall elect a president pro tempore so soon as the chief clerk shall announce the presence of a quorum. Should no quorum attend within 15 minutes after the hour appointed for the meeting, the council shall thereupon stand adjourned to such time as the president, or in his absence, the members present, shall determine, or should the members present so determine, a recess may be taken and the members sent for as provided by ordinance."

Sahner Adjourned Meeting.

While Mr. Wasson and Mr. Leslie were wrangling over the matter Mr. Sahner left the chair, stating that recess would be taken for 15 minutes, the members to reconvene at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Leslie moved to adjourn until 8:15 o'clock, but Mr. Sahner said he had already declared that a recess had been taken.

"If you will not preside over this meeting we can get someone else," exclaimed Mr. Leslie. "I move you, Mr. Clerk, that Mr. Bole act as chairman of this meeting."

The clerk put the motion, which was carried, and Mr. Bole took the chair. Mr. Bole put Mr. Leslie's motion to adjourn until 8:15 o'clock and it was carried.

At 8 o'clock Mr. Sahner returned to the council chamber and rapped the gavel. There were only four or five members in the room.

"Fifteen minutes having elapsed, and still no quorum present, I'll adjourn this meeting until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock," he declared. Mr. Sahner then left the council chamber and the city building with W. H. Stevenson.

At 8:15 o'clock Mr. Bole took the chair. This time 28 members were present, two more than a quorum. Others came in later. Mr. Leslie moved that the Pennsylvania ordinance be taken up, and this was seconded by Chris. Beckert, Jr.

Brown Made a Protest.

Before the chairman could put the motion Thomas M. Brown was on his feet with a protest. He denied the legality of the meeting, basing his point on the rule previously read by Mr. Wasson. He said:

"The regular president pro tem. called the meeting to order at the time appointed in the call; there was no quorum present, and after waiting 15 minutes, in accordance with this rule, he again found no quorum present, and adjourned the meeting until next Monday night."

Mr. Leslie interrupted Mr. Brown, asking him if he were present when Mr. Sahner adjourned the meeting.

"No; I was not present, but I have knowledge of what happened that is just as reliable as your own," he replied. Mr. Brown then insisted upon the minutes of the meeting being read.

Mr. Leslie objected, stating that the minutes could not be read until the next meeting of the council. He declared that Mr. Brown was out of order, and the latter again asked Chairman Bole to make a ruling.

"Mr. Brown, in all respect to you, I will have to rule you out of order," said Chairman Bole.

"Then, in all respect to the members of this body, I will have to withdraw. I decline to take part in this meeting," said Mr. Brown as he picked up his hat and started for the door. Chairman Bole asked him to stop until he read the rule. Mr. Brown and the chairman became engaged in discussion over the rule and Mr. Leslie interposed.

"I decline to take any information from the gentleman from the Seventeenth ward," retorted Mr. Brown.

This stirred Mr. Leslie. He exclaimed: "I will not allow anyone to dictate to me. If the gentleman from the Twentieth ward desn't like this he can go out, where he belongs."

Walked Out of Room.

Mr. Brown shouted back defiance to Mr. Leslie with the exclamation, "No, and I won't allow you to dictate to me." With that he walked out of the council chamber.

Mr. Leslie again called up the railroad ordinance and it was read the third time. Mr. Leslie made the motion to pass it finally, seconded by Mr. Beckert. The vote was then taken, which was as follows:

Ayes—Armstrong, Barker, Beckert, Bole, Bonini, Brand, Cavette, D. F. Crawford, Cross, Delaney, Fitzpatrick, Hogue, Hughes, Jack, Lauler, Leslie, Martin, Moore, McNally, M. E. O'Brien, Rodgers, Schuck, Schwarzwaelder, Semmelrock, Sheehan, Sterrett, Walls, West and Zeuger.—20.

Noes—Wasson—1.

Jacob Soffel of the Thirty-second ward entered the room while the ordinance was read but left before the vote was taken. The ordinance had been passed finally and the council had started on the report of the surveys committee when Mr. Wasson made an attack on the legality of the meeting.

Mr. Wasson said that he regretted having to object, but the proceedings were clearly irregular and he disliked to see council transacting business which would avail nothing. He raised the point of order that the proceedings were illegal because the presiding officer, Mr. Bole, had not been elected by a quorum of the members of the body. He recalled the previous events of the evening, stating that Mr. Bole had been elected chairman when there were only 14 or 15 members present.

Mr. Wasson read from the rule that when the president was absent a president pro tem could only be elected when the clerk announced a quorum present. He said this rule had not been obeyed and that Mr. Bole was presiding when he had no right to do so.

Ruled Wasson Out of Order.

Mr. Leslie answered the point of objection raised by Mr. Wasson. He said the president pro tem. had no greater power than any member, that the rules of the councils provided for no regular president pro tem., but that the council body had seen fit, three weeks ago, to elect Mr. Sahner president pro tem. In anticipation of the absence of President C. S. Crawford. Mr. Sahner called the members together, had a roll call, decided there was no quorum and then walked out. Mr. Leslie said the members then elected Mr. Bole and that the meeting was regular in every respect.

Mr. Wasson insisted that 14 or 15 members could not elect a president pro tem. Mr. Leslie said Mr. Bole was elected in anticipation of a quorum.

"You have a quorum now," said Mr. Wasson, "but you have not yet elected a president." Mr. Wasson again asked for a ruling. Mr. Bole said:

"I am sorry, Mr. Wasson, but I will have to rule you out of order."

The committee on the Flinn dock reported that the United States government would not permit the dock to be extended; that the committee found it to be of great use to the business men and recommended that it be maintained and opertaed under existing conditions. The report was approved.

Mr. Brown had prepared a resolution asking for a reapportionment of the city for members of common council. The paper was presented by Mr. Beckert. It was referred to the finance committee.

Owing to Mr. Brown's absence from council the report of the filtration committee was not presented.

The ordinance for vacating Gas street, which was negatived in the surveys committee, was reported and action indefinitely postponed.

AFTER BURIED TREASURE.

Confederate Veteran, Dying, Leaves Valuable Secret to His Employer.

SAVANNAH, July 13.—(Special.)—W. H. Haslip of Philadelphia is here to dig for buried treasure on Warsaw island. The treasure was buried in 1864 by a confederate soldier, Amos Berrien, who died in Philadelphia last week. Berrien, who had been in the employ of Mr. Haslip for the past 10 years, often told that gentleman that he had treasure buried on the Georgia coast. Shortly before his death he told Mr. Haslip that in his trunk would be found certain papers that would be of value to him and that the property was all to be Mr. Haslip's.

The papers contained a map of Warsaw island, locating a certain spot. Accompanying it was a stement that Berrien was first mate on the confederate blockade runner Lucy Verne, out of Baltimore. On one trip, when a rich Virginia family named Stark was aboard, the Verne was chased by a federal vessel. Finding themselves overhauled it was determined to bury ashore all the treasure aboard. Berrien was one of the party assigned to bury the treasure.

RAILROADS ARE IN NEED OF MONEY

But Existing Financial Conditions Preclude the Issuing of Bonds.

DECLINE IN PENNSY SHARES

Was to Be Expected, Says Financier, After Bond Syndicate Concluded Its Contract—No Influence in Market Now to Hold It Firm.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, July 13.—Discussing today's stock market the representative of an important New York banking interest, noted for its conservatism, said to the Evening Post today:

"There is no special significance in the breaking of Pennsylvania below the subscription price. Now that the syndicate has accomplished its purpose there is no need for its influence in holding the stock firm; therefore, Pennsylvania must take its chance of making history along with other institutions.

"Intrinsic values are given no more consideration now than they were two years ago, when crazy prices carried the market valuation of good stocks 50 points higher than some of them should have gone.

"The trouble is that almost all of the companies, the industrials included, are in need of money. They will not issue bonds under present conditions for obvious reasons. It is known that New York Central and Lake Shore are in need of money to finance improvements and to take up temporary loans, and that is the immediate cause of the trouble.

"The $27,000,000 of Lake Shore borrowed for a year at 5 per cent is not due until next January, but as both that company and New York Central were put at a considerable disadvantage by the drain Pennsylvania placed on the money market, neither cares to be beaten the second time."

LOVERS WERE SEPARATED.

Young Irishman Who Came to Wed Had Hard Work Passing Inspectors.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(Special.)—Love triumphed over red tape today at the immigrant depot, when the Noordland landed her passengers. Peter Docherty, a bright looking man from Ireland, was greeted by two pretty girls, but before they could more than ask after his health he was hustled into the immigrant landing bureau. They were left crying outside.

To Deputy Immigration Commissioner Hughes he announced he possessed only $5, and that he had come to marry one of the two sisters who had come from Elkton, Md., to meet him. After he had paid his fare to Elkton—$1.50—he would have only $2.70 and a gripsack of clothes with which to begin housekeeping, and in consequence the commissioner ordered the newcomer detained. Between sobs the girls pleaded for Peter's release, and Hughes finally relented, on the bride-elect assuring him that she had money in the bank. The trio started for Elkton.

It approved President Palma's recommendation to move the penitentiary to Principe castle from the presidio. The latter is situated on the harbor front and is desired for the erection of a great hotel.

BALTIMORE, July 13.—(Special.)—In the United States district court here today Judge Morris signed an order restraining the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railway Company from interfering with the poles and wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company located on the railroad company's property. This prevents the railroad company, unless it acts in defiance of the court, from duplicating in Maryland its action in Pennsylvania, where it removed the poles and wires.

The books were found and showed a shortage of $70,000. Pilditch offered to pay the alleged shortage, but he was arrested today at the office of his counsel.

Murder Ends an Old Feud.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., July 13.—(Special.)—Eli Brown and Perry Griffin, two negro coachmen, ended an old feud today when Griffin shot Brown dead. The murder occurred in sight of 500 excursionists bound for Glen Island. Griffin, who was arrested, says Brown threatened his life. "He pulled a stone from his pocket, and I thought he was going to hit me," said the man. "He was a bigger fellow than I, so I just let him have four bullets."

Ammonia Mistaken for Medicine.

Mrs. H. O. Gilson of Hay street, Wilkinsburg, took a drink of ammonia in mistake for medicine, about 7:30 o'clock last night, and badly burned her mouth and throat, but Dr. A. O. Blachly, who was called, believes that none of the stuff reached her stomach. Mrs. Gilson realized her mistake instantly and managed to force the stuff from her mouth and throat. No serious results are expected.

Money for Jeannette Sufferers.

Many responses were received by the East End board of trade yesterday to the request for funds to aid the sufferers of the Jeannette flood. It was stated by a member of the board last night that $250 would be sent to Jeannette today, this sum having been raised yesterday. It is expected that at least $5,000 will be raised.

GHOUL KING REVEALS ANOTHER FOUL CRIME

Guides Brother of Murdered Woman to Place Where Body Was Buried.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Rufus Cantrill, "King of Ghouls," who claimed that Miss Carrie Salvage, who disappeared while demented, had been murdered by ghouls and buried, went with Detectives Ash and Manning and Joseph Salvage, brother of the missing girl, to the Union Chapel cemetery this afternoon to locate the grave. On the way out Cantrill told a circumstantial story of the murder of the girl, saying that she had been found wandering along the road, and was taken to an old hut, where she was murdered.

"Dr. Burkett," said he, "wanted the body of a woman who died of a strange disease, and the body of Miss Salvage was buried in the grave from which the woman was taken. You will find the lid off the box and the lid of the coffin lying over the body with the underside up."

When Union Chapel cemetery was reached he pointed out the grave and the dirt was quickly removed. The top of the box which contained no coffin was standing on the edge in the grave and the coffin lid was found just as he described it. The body of a woman was in the coffin and when it was lifted out Mr. Salvage was at first certain that it was that of his sister, but a closer examination led to doubt. Cantrill declared it was the body of Miss Salvage, but the brother could not identify positively, and is still in doubt.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(Special.) The Pennsylvania railroad loan of $40,000,000, obtained in this city and New York in January last to settle payments then coming due for improvements, will be paid off before the end of this month. The first note expires this week, and the others follow in rapid succession. As the company realized $85,000,000 from its recent bond issue, it will have more than $45,000,000 left to expend for improvements after paying off this loan.

JOHN S. SCULLY QUITS AUGUST 1

President of Diamond National Bank Accepts Syndicate Offer for Stock.

NAMES NOT KNOWN AS YET

Price of Which Shares Were Sold Is Also Not Mentioned — Mr. Scully Will Remain President of Diamond Savings Bank.

John S. Scully, president of the Diamond National bank for several years and one of the founders of that institution, has disposed of his holdings of the bank's capital stock and will on August 1 cease to be its president. No successor is yet known. Reports to this effect, which had become current in Fourth avenue yesterday afternoon, were confirmed last evening by Mr. Scully himself.

"It is true that I have sold my holdings in the Diamond National," he said. "They were sold to a syndicate at a price which I am not at liberty to state. It was simply a business proposition that was made to me, however. The syndicate offered a figure at which I was willing to dispose of the stock. I cannot say now who compose the syndicate."

Various conjectures as to the membership of this syndicate were made yesterday. It was reported that it is composed of people in the bank. Several new interests have come into the institution recently, Will Price and D. M. Clemson being named as instances. Whether these interests have secured Mr. Scully's holdings is only a guess.

Mr. Scully will retain his holdings of the stock of the allied Diamond Savings bank and will remain its president. "The work there will be comparatively slight," he said. "Combined with the attractiveness of the offer made for my Diamond National stock was my own desire to unload a considerable part of the details and cares and take a rest."

It is 41 years since Mr. Scully entered the banking business in Pittsburgh, his first employment being with the old Pittsburgh Trust Company, which has since become the First National bank. He remained with the First National after its formation until 1870 when he and some associates started the Diamond National. He was in succession its cashier, vice president and president. Among Pittsburgh bankers Mr. Scully ranks high. He has in addition a number of other business interests.

JOHN S. SCULLY,
Who Will Retire August 1 from Presidency of the Diamond National Bank.

DEATH AT THROTTLE OF FAST EXPRESS TRAIN

Engineer Hoover Found Dying by His Fireman as the Train Rushed Around Curve.

With his hand tightly clutching the throttle of his engine, which was hauling the fast St. Louis express, westbound, on the Pennsylvania lines, Engineer J. S. Hoover, 45 years old, one of the best known engineers on the Pennsylvania lines, was found dying in his cab as the train whirled around a sharp curve near Braddock shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

The dying engineer was discovered by his fireman, who became alarmed when the engine failed to slow up for the sharp curve. Hoover was placed in the baggage car immediately after being found and hurried to the West Penn hospital, where he died at 8 o'clock.

The accident which resulted in Engineer Hoover's death occurred at No. 18 overhead signal tour, near Bessemer. The signal is located on a sharp curve, and it is thought that while the express was rounding the curve at high speed Hoover leaned too far out of the cab window to get a better view of the track, as it was unusually foggy at the time. His head struck the supporters of the tower and bent and twisted the strong steel beams. The entire top of his head was crushed to a jelly and he lay on the window ledge of his cab.

When found by the fireman his hand held to the throttle, though life was almost extinct. The train was running at a rate of almost 60 miles an hour when the accident occurred and had traveled nearly two miles before the condition of the engineer was discovered.

Hoover's body was taken to Samson's undertaking rooms. He was married and lived at Altoona. He was employed on the Pennsylvania lines for many years and was known to hundreds of the employes and patrons of the road.

MORE AUTO RACES.

Brunots Island Matinee Track Will Be Used for Motor Cars.

The third series of motor races to be held under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Automobile club will be run on the Brunots Island track of the Pittsburgh Matinee club early in August. More exciting events are promised in the future, and speed trials and pursuit races are being planned. To run two machines abreast was almost impossible on the boulevard in order to prevent accidents, but with the fine track at Brunots Island the sport augurs as much success as horse racing.

It is probable that a mile-a-minute speed will be developed in the next race. Some especially built racing cars have been ordered by local dealers, and the club hopes to be able to lower some American class championship records.

MILK WAGON PUT TO A NOVEL USE BY POLICE

Homestead police officers for several weeks past have made several fruitless efforts to capture visitors in two Cherry alley houses known to be speakeasies. They succeeded early yesterday morning after resorting to a novel plan. They captured a milk wagon and four of the officers concealed themselves in it and had the driver stop at the two houses where they captured 14 visitors and Mrs. Mary Barkin, the alleged proprietor. The milk wagon was used to haul the prisoners to the lockup, where all were fined.

SCAFFOLDS COLLAPSED INJURING WORKMEN

Two Accidents in Allegheny and One in Munhall Yesterday. Men Badly Hurt.

The breaking of a scaffold on a house at No. 827 California avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, resulted in the serious injury of Joseph A. Calvert, aged 47 years, of Allison Park, and his son Frederick of No. 4913 Hatfield street, Pittsburgh. The men were painting and were thrown 35 feet to the ground. Both were removed to St. John's General hospital.

The collapse of the supports of a scaffold on the new Industrial school in Peiral street, Ninth ward, Allegheny, yesterday morning injured Charles Nimick of No. 1238 Stewart street, Jesse Stephenson of No. 3343 North avenue and Edward Miser of No. 237 River avenue. The men are bricklayers and the falling scaffold struck them in its descent, throwing them to the ground. All were removed to their homes.

By the breaking of a scaffold on the new school building being erected in Twelfth avenue, Braddock, yesterday, George Puck, 30 years old, of Homestead, and Robert Andy of Rankin were injured.

The way Germany works her inspection laws to discourage imports is shown by a recent case reported to our government. A Bremen firm imported 20 barrels of pork livers from New York. The general fees for examination were $18, then $14 40 additional for chemical examination and $69 85 for special examination for trichinae, the total charge amounting to $102 25 on a consignment costing $714. The goods being passed, the firm had to pay $122 21 in duties. An appeal was made to the imperial government at Berlin in the hope of securing some reduction of charges, but this made matters worse, as a regulation was produced requiring that imported pork liver should weigh not less than 4 kilograms, or 8 4-5 pounds, and as these livers weighed less they could not be admitted at all. What between duties and inspection laws Germany has a protective tariff of the hardest kind, and its sharp edge is always turned against this country.

A boom has developed in the mining regions in favor of Judge George Gray of Delaware as the Democratic candidate for president. Judge Gray was formerly United States senator; he has the sort of ability and experience to make a good president, and his geographical position also makes him available, but it is doubtful whether Mr. Bryan, the party pontiff, will recognize him as eligible. In the last issue of the Commoner Mr. Bryan denounces the Iowa Democracy because of their abandonment of free silver. He says that "the convention was controlled by the reactionary elements of the party and that the refusal of the convention to reaffirm the Kansas City platform was due principally to the influence exerted by the representatives of the corporations." Similar condemnation is awaiting Judge Gray or any other candidate who does not submit to Mr. Bryan's dictation. Mr. Bryan has created for himself the office of infallible expounder of party doctrine, and he exercises its authority with energy, ability and integrity which deserve respect.

Senor Pedro Velez, a member of the Colombian congress, has just visited Washington to confer with the Colombian representative there about the Panama canal treaty. Senor Velez is opposed to the ratification of the treaty, and one of his arguments is that if the treaty is defeated Colombia will get the uncompleted canal, which reverts to the Colombian government in case the company fails to fulfill its contract. He correctly figures that the value of the work as it stands is more than the $10,000,000 now offered to Colombia by our government. This argument was gratuitously furnished to the opponents of ratification by the senate, which conditioned the purchase of the French company's property and franchises with the requirement that a new treaty should first be negotiated with Colombia. This ill-advised proceeding has made trouble for us ever since. The way to proceed is to buy out the French company and proceed under its rights, so that it will be out of the power of the Colombian politicians to hold up the enterprise.

An important discovery is reported from Washington which it is believed may provide an efficient means of getting rid of the mosquito pest. Dr. Charles Warren Stiles of the marine hospital service, well known for his researches in regard to parasitic life, has discovered an isolated parasite which kills millions of mosquitoes every year. Experiments are now being made to discover methods of propagating this parasite in sufficient quantities for general use in mosquito infested localities. In view of the success obtained in California in getting rid of the fruit scab insect by the introduction of insects preying upon it, and also the extirpation of the grasshopper plague at many points where it used to blight the crops by distribution of a parasite culture deadly to grasshoppers, it is considered very likely that the new discovery will afford means for keeping down mosquitoes and perhaps of accomplishing their eventual extermination. As it is well known now that mosquitoes are active agents in the spread of malarial fever, this would mean a great gain to public health, as well as to public comfort.

Liberty avenue occupies a more important position in Pittsburgh than Broadway in New York. Like Broadway, it is a broad, central avenue through the city from end to end, the junction with Center avenue making it a continuous thoroughfare from the Point to the city limits. But it is more important than Broadway because all the numbered avenues in the city start from it, and public convenience in the principal business streets is affected by Liberty avenue conditions. The present railroad franchise is as bad for Pittsburgh as the running of railroad trains over lower Broadway would be for New York. Hardly any sacrifice would be too great to make for relief from such an obstruction to municipal development. Pittsburgh has the opportunity to secure this relief without direct payment for it of any kind by consenting to the exchange of the Liberty avenue franchise for a franchise to the use of Duquesne way. It is a deliberate falsification of the facts of the case to represent the Duquesne way franchise ordinance as a grant without compensation. The city gets the biggest possible compensation for it, far exceeding any money computation that can be made of the value of the Duquesne way franchise.

The Clarion Normal school rake-off case has been brought to public notice again by a demand of the school treasurer upon the trustees that the 10 per cent paid as commission upon the appropriation shall be restored to the school fund. It is pretty well known that a rake-off business is done in appropriations, and that the Clarion case is only one outcrop of a vein of corruption underlying state politics. Intimations are sometimes conveyed to the trustees of institutions receiving state aid that an increase of appropriation may be obtained if a commission will be paid upon the amount. Trustees are put in a very disagreeable position by such propositions, as the same influence which is strong enough to secure an increase of appropriation may cause it to be reduced or withdrawn. The root of the trouble is the haphazard and irresponsible manner in which the state budget is prepared. In Switzerland, Australia and Canada—where the methods of self-government have been worked out systematically—the rules of procedure prohibit any appropriations not recommended by the government. The budget is prepared and submitted to the legislature by the administration, and amounts cannot be increased by the legislature. The schedule of appropriations is made up in advance of the meeting of the legislature and after deliberate consideration of the merits of such particular case. The rake-off is an appurtenance of the system of committee control over such matters peculiar to American legislatures.

More Progress Made.

In as far as common council is concerned the Pennsylvania railroad Duquesne way ordinance has been passed finally. There may be some contention of illegality based upon the action of President Pro Tem. Sahner, who declared council adjourned to next Monday evening because there was not a quorum present at 8 o'clock. The contention will hardly hold against the will of a clear majority of the body, though the friends of the ordinance may find it convenient to be present next Monday evening and repeat their work. They have the votes and with the filibustering and obstructionist tactics of the other faction in view need not stand on ceremony in the exercise of their power. Dilatory procedure and trickery are not argument, nor are they any more creditable than bossism.

Before any further action can be taken upon the ordinance the chamber of commerce will hold another meeting to decide what shall be done with the resolution presented to it yesterday. In some features the resolution expresses proper sentiment, but it is not probable the directors of the chamber will indorse it as a whole. The business men composing that body will certainly not go astray in underestimating the benefit to the city from having the railroad tracks removed from Liberty avenue, nor are they likely to fall into the sophistry of overlooking the fact that the railroad company has a vested right in that thoroughfare which it offers to exchange for a new franchise in Duquesne way. The sole question for them to decide is whether the surrender of the old franchise is adequate compensation for the new, or whether the city can afford to jeopard the chance to make the exchange while the railroad is willing.

As we said before, the chamber cannot entertain the argument that the location of the elevated road will prevent the raising of the river bridges. It is on record against the raising of the bridges because that would be an unwarranted interference with the traffic passing between the two cities. It is properly concerned with the provisions made to give free access to the wharf.

What select council may do cannot be conjectured. It ought to be made to act under pressure of public sentiment as in the Wabash case, but it may feel more secure in the new affiliations the hold-up members are reported to have made. Beyond select council is the mayor. We see no reason why he should veto the ordinance if it reaches him in its present form. The amendments made have met all of his suggestions, except joint use of the tracks with other railroads. That proposition is impractical and useless. No road has availed itself of the joint use provision in the Junction ordinance. There is no such provision in the Wabash franchise. And while the Wabash is said to be dealing with other roads with a view to bringing them here, it is with a distinct understanding that they must provide their own terminals, because the joint use of terminals is never satisfactory.

The trade reports that came to hand at the end of last week, when the Wall street stock market had a recurrence of the doldrums, were highly encouraging, furnishing abundant evidence that the stock markets are governed at the moment by special conditions that have only an indirect relation to commerce and industry. Whatever troubles there may be in Wall street are the troubles of Wall street exclusively, and the circumstance that there is trouble there that manifests itself on the floor of the stock exchange is evidence that New York bankers are permitting the speculators to work out their own salvation or swallow their bitter dose rather than to imperil the business of the country by lending the means that can be so much better employed in financing the movements of crops and other commodities. The ills of Wall street will cure themselves and the best aid to cure is not aid which might be given directly, but that which will be given indirectly in the form of credits to the farmer, the merchant and the manufacturer. With the producing and distributing agencies of national prosperity well taken care of others may well be left to the healing processes of time.

In the west, we learn from the trade reports, "there is the customary excessive demand for farm hands," indicating unerringly that there will be food for all. On the other hand those who manufacture goods to exchange for food are well employed because of the certainty that those who devote their time to the production of food will have an abundant surplus with which to pay for the things they need and do not produce. "There is less than the usual midsummer idleness in manufacturing, except in cotton," says a trade report, and the exception is due to a special cause unconnected with the demand for cotton fabrics, and will soon pass away. Already the makers of holiday goods are arranging for their distribution to the middlemen en route to their ultimate destination, and "representatives of holiday traffic say trade in holiday goods shows no diminution in purchasing power." Also, it is said, and not as a mere encouragement to hope, but as a sober assertion for the information of commercial houses, that "semi-annual inventories show a more gratifying situation than expected." And with this "railway earnings for June are 13.1 per cent larger than last year and 25.8 per cent in excess of 1901," while during the month there was a slight increase in commodity prices, pointing as surely as the needle to the pole to the commercial truth that demand is not halting or supply exceeding it. "Retail distribution of merchandise is accelerated by more seasonable weather and fewer labor controversies, while wholesale and jobbing trade, especially at the interior, shows the encouraging effect of brighter agricultural prospects," is the cheerful summing up.

The dark background to this picture, which Wall street has supplied, is comparatively unimportant, affecting individuals only, and not the nation.

The present excessive consumption of water is not through use, but waste, and the waste is not in the average household, but is among classes who can and ought to be made to pay for it. It is a common thing on summer evenings in the East End to see water sprinklers running to cool the air, throwing out more than the lawn can absorb, so that a stream is pouring into the gutter. As at present the rates are the same no matter how much water is used; the waste is enormous. The introduction of meters would stop the waste, but for all proper use, including lawn sprinkling, the expense would be no greater even for spacious houses and grounds, while it would be much less in the case of the average home.

Still another aspect of the case more directly and immediately concerns the workingmen than any other class of the community. The cost of putting in a sand filtration plant, as provided by the plans now held up in councils, is below cost, and the work would all have to be done here in Pittsburgh. The plant is simply a reservoir of large area, with a bottom composed of six feet of sand and gravel. The water is purified by nature's method of filtering through strata, so that it issues as clear as a spring on a mountain side. In the operation of the plant the top layer of sand must be scraped off from time to time, and replaced with fresh sand. Both in installation and operation the expense of sand filtration is a labor cost. Mechanical filtration means the shipment of a factory plant into Pittsburgh and the clarification of the water by the addition of alum as it passes through the apparatus. The large item in the operation of the plant will be the purchase of alum, over a hundred tons of which would be required every month. There are big commercial interests behind the mechanical filtration, which are plying councilmen with inducements in its favor. The workingmen should see that their interests also receive consideration from councilmen. They should let it be known that they don't want alum water.

Railroads Coming.

As a sequel to the visit of George J. Gould and some other dignitaries of the Gould system of railroads, contracts have been ordered let for the prompt construction of $4,000,000 worth of railroad lines in the Pittsburgh territory in addition to the work going forward. Mr. Gould has been looking over Pittsburgh, and being a man who knows a good thing when he sees it, he has no hesitancy about investing upon its prospects. Of course, he knew Pittsburgh statistically years ago, but a sight of the real thing strengthens faith in greater development for the future than statistics of present conditions indicate.

As a result of attention attracted by the visit of the Gould party, unofficial information leaks out that two western railroad lines are negotiating for entrance into Pittsburgh over the Gould tracks. Rumor has it that the Gould interests agree to rent track privileges for such entrance to the city limits, provided only that the other lines secure terminals of their own. The rumor is plausible because it has ever been the policy of the Wabash system to make traffic agreements of that sort with other roads. In fact, it reaches Buffalo from the west end of Lake Erie over the Grand Trunk itself, under a trackage agreement, except for the shipments it makes by its line of lake steamers during the season of navigation.

The reports in circulation do not name the roads negotiating for entrance to the Pittsburgh field, but it may be conjectured that one is the Erie, controlled by J. J. Hill as a part of a genuine transcontinental system, because it is known the Erie has optioned property in this city for terminals. The other is most likely one of the Vanderbilt affiliations, such as the Big Four. No matter who they are they will be welcome to handle a part of Pittsburgh's enormous tonnage, the largest in the world and now only partly developed. But if Mr. Gould intends to accommodate two systems beside his own in this territory he should at once make plans to increase his Pittsburgh line from two to four main line tracks.

Labor Interests in Filtration.

There is no class in the community so deeply interested in securing a supply of pure water as are the mechanics. Office men can protect themselves by house filtration, or by the use of distilled water, the sale of which for such purposes has become large. The working man has to use such water supply as he finds where his work takes him, and hence the working classes are the chief victims of the typhoid fever epidemic—this "wholesale system of murder" as Dr. Holland accurately describes it. The $2,200 a week loss in wages, doctors' bills and funeral expenses, which at the lowest possible computation the typhoid fever epidemic is now costing the community, comes mostly out of the pockets of the working men of Pittsburgh.

They are more largely concerned than any other class of the community, not only in the quality of water supply, but also its cost. The investigations of the filtration commission showed that the Monongahela river was so contaminated with sulphuric acid, and excessive quantities of both earthy and organic matter, that it was not a fit source of water supply. The existing plans therefore provide for supplying the South Side with filtered water from the Allegheny river. To do this it is proposed to stop the excessive waste by introducing meters, a system which would in practice greatly reduce the water rates for small households. The present water rates are a fixed charge of $3 for one room, $1 extra for each additional room, $1 extra for each sink, $1 extra per each set wash stand, $1 for a bath tub and $3 for every water closet, with additional charges for every separate tap or faucet. The total for the average home is one-third to one-half more than is charged in other cities, and amounts to much more than the cost of any measured service. The workingman's household would pay much less with a meter service, using water just as freely as now.

While the west laughs with the harvest in response to the tickling of agricultural implements of the most improved pattern, it can't be expected that the distress of the bulls in Wall street pastures will divert the attention of the plain people from the pleasing prospect. It is the condition of the person who used to be the man with the hoe that tilts the scale of prosperity, and the nation has eyes and ears only for him at this moment.

While it is, of course, gratifying to know that Admiral Beresford continues to believe that England and America together could defy the world, it is entirely pertinent to point out that there is much more to be gained by conquering the world with kindness. The defiance game is promotive of strained relations that tend to make the footings of the trade reports look like thirty cents on the dollar.

Royal receptions of Admiral Cotton and his jolly tars are pointers to congress that Americans will always be sure of a cordial reception from crowned heads as long as they are able to make friendly calls in thoroughly up-to-date warships.

It is the optimistic man who, when the mercury is in the nineties, looks forward with pleasurable anticipation to Christmas weather, and at Christmas time contemplates with satisfaction the coming of the Fourth of July.

Gold exports are also partly explained in the circumstance that the opposition of the London county council to American building enterprises reveal that Americans are still taking money abroad to build up Europe.

What we would like to know is whether the report of the suicide of the leader of the mob which massacred the Jews at Kishineff is for publication or a fact.

Those college boys who went west to help with the harvest are convinced that this year's wheat crop is all that anybody's fancy painted it.

George Gould's confession that Pittsburgh is a revelation to him inspires us to admit that it is a constant surprise even to old Pittsburghers.

At this season of the year if we can't sell cotton to Europe we must pay for what we buy with gold. And we have the gold to pay with.

It is now understood that the art collection which Mr. Morgan will present to a national art gallery is all preferred art.

The American boom for Cardinal Gibbons for pope indicates what might happen if the United States did the voting.

If Pittsburgh is a revelation to George Gould, whose fault is it? Here's to better acquaintance, old man.

Anyhow, it wasn't alum water that our soldiers in the Philippines pumped into the poor natives.

Oyster Bay continues to get into print every day without half trying.

Alum councilmen will have rough sledding in the next election.

The Worm Turns.

We note with alarm that a baseball umpire, forgetting the meekness and humility which are expected of him, has turned to and hammered an abusive player into a condition of coma. These indications of unrest and revolt upon the part of a subjugated class cannot but arouse the gravest apprehension.—Chicago Chronicle.

THE MODEST MAN.

I met the other day a little guy
With knobs of wisdom like mosquito bumbs
Enlarged and magnified; a forehead high
He had that topped the brows of common chumps,
And he was filled with air both hot and dry
And had a leaky valve. He chewed the rag
To pulp and then laid in a fresh supply,
Until I longed to choke him with a gag.
He was surprised I could not tell him why
And when and which and where and whence and what.
He swamped me with his fact and theory,
Then told me that I had to learn a lot.
The lobster! Did he think I'd have the gall,
Like him, to reckon that I knew it all?

I'm ignorant, I'm willing to admit,
There's scads of things to which I am not wise,
And it's not often that I chance to hit
A solid truth squarely between the eyes.
I got my stock of wisdom bit by bit,
But know there's lots more of it in the shop.
I don't delude myself that I am "it"
And think that it is time for me to stop.
I try to get what won't be a misfit—
To know enough to come in when it rains;
For I am but a humble, lowly nit
In the backyard of knowledge, picking grains.
Just here and there, dear friends, I call the turn,
But I confess I've still a lot to learn.

ERASMUS WILSON.

And then what?

Scientists, pseudo-scientists, cranks, et. al. having located microbes in everything eatable and drinkable, they have now tackled the inorganic substances, such as granite, marble and sand stone. Not being satisfied with that they declare there are microbes or some sort of evil germs in tobacco smoke.

One smart chap alleges that he has discovered the cause of the peculiar flavor of the real Havana cigar. He says the cause is the same as the flavor of cheese—microbes.

He is now hunting for these fine scented little bugs, and expects when he finds 'em to start up a propagating plant where he will raise them to sell.

A small colony of these—say a million or so—will make a four-for-five toby taste as fine as any three-for-a-quarter cigar.

Wont that be nice?

But what will become of the uppish young fellow, the exclusive old fellow, and the uncommon sort of fellow, who cannot bear the thought of eating, drinking or smoking the same as common folks?

* * * * *

But for that matter what are the commonest and most democratic of us coming to?

Those of us who heed the warning of scientists, pseudo-scientists, and cranks are not far from our finish.

With half an eye you may see yours, if you will take trouble to soak yourself with microbe lore, and acquire microbe vision, or mydriasis, by which you can see microbes, bacilli, bugs or anything most small and most distressing.

With a microbe, or mydriatic eye, you can never be real lonesome, for go where you will there the microbe will be also. It is in the water you drink, millions strong, in the bread you eat by the legion, the air you breathe is just swarming with them, and the bite of cheese and sup of beer with which you think to cheer up a bit, are simply alive with them, and of all sorts and sizes and degrees of noxious potentiality.

You used to think the smoke rings you sent curling up above your head were free from them. But no; even that fragrant bit of a dream has to be destroyed by the discovery of microcosci in it, dubbed bacilli nicotine, or something real Latinish and terrible. Tobacco-bug is the plain English of it, but entirely too common to be acceptable to the cultured smoker.

* * * * *

Go where you will the microbe will be there in force, and, being a vicious, vengeful little cuss he will go for any vital spot you may leave unguarded, and bore you to death. Even carbolic acid, iodoform, bi-chloride of mercury, assafoetida, and others, will hardly keep him out of your very life.

And a sociable little fiend, too, sleeping and eating with you, drinking without invitation, the same as if he were paying for it, mingling with the air you breathe, crawling into your eyes and ears and nose—oh! he's a dandy, the microbe is, and he must know it or he would not have the cheek to do the bold and daring and dastardly things he does. He sticketh closer than a brother, he does, and insists on going with you on the trolley or the steam cars, and will even brave the dangers of automobile locomotion, for you, so affectionate, is he.

It is when he gets too familiar that we feel most like making a gigantic kick. For instance when he insists upon mingling in our tears and kisses and whisperings of love, known as jealousy, hatred, cussedness and other things disagreeable.

Oh! he's a dandy, a bird, a bugger.

And what fun he has with us! and how he must enjoy our agonies, be they of whatever brand they may.

Following is an instance of what a scheming microbe may do.

A microbe sat on a maiden's lip, right on its kissiest part,
And murmured, I'll work that young man off, in the highest style of art;
I'll send a raging colony careering through his veins,
And they shall soak his system with a choice lot of ptomaines.

"O, I'm of the choleraic sort and the epidemic brand,
And you may bet the victim knows whenever I'm on hand;
For I raise a rumpus within him, like a slowly busting bomb,

Which only ends, as a general thing, when he reaches kingdom come."
Now, he that the grizzly microbe had in its measly pizen mind,
Was a nisch, you hish laddie of the hottest blooded kind;
Who loved this sweetish, youngish girl with an incandescent vim,
Which only found an offset in the way that she loved him.

Well, on the next sweet Sunday night, this nisch, youngish man
Was seated on the same chair with his darling Mary Ann;
And he hugged until he nearly busted her precious diaphragm,
And kissed her sixteen hundred times, with the zest of a battering ram.

The microbe had been swapped at least one thousand times, and when
The young man left, the ornery beast was still with Mary Ann;
When her beau was gone, she finished up by kissing "Puggy Wee,"
And next day that devoted pup 'most died of choleree.
—W. C. Cooper, in Medical Gleaner.

* * * * *

Now will you stop it? Or, won't you?

The chances are that the pseudo-scientist who invented the noxious, vicious, nonsensical kissing microbe is an unkissable fellow—one with bad teeth, bad breath and bad disposition. You will most generally find that the man or woman who tries to scare folks with this invisible microbe is for some reason or other no temptation.

And yet there is something in it.

For instance, any one with sore mouth, diseased throat, ulcerations in the air passages or stomach, should avoid kissing anyone, even a dog. Babies should never be kissed by anyone with catarrhal diseases of the head, throat or mouth.

As a matter of fact, babies should never be kissed on the lips, and it were better not to be kissed at all. They don't like it, and it does them no good, and may do harm. Their vitality being weak, they are not able to resist the progress and development of microbes, particularly the big, bold, bad kind that some folks peddle around.

Many a dear baby is kissed and fondled and washed to death. And that's no joke. Too frequent bathing weakens grown people and is much worse for babies. Don't soap and soak them, but wipe them off with a wet rag, and let it go at that.

* * * * *

There is a sensible way for doing everything that ought to be done, yet a great many seem to act as though they believed that if a little does good more will do more good. Of course, anyone with half good sense knows this is the worst of nonsense—it is worse, it is criminal ignorance, or carelessness.

When people come to understand that they will be held responsible for the care of their bodies, the employment of their talents and the disposition of their time, the same as for the proper development of their souls, they will give more attention to health, how to get it, how to preserve it and how to enjoy it.

Very few there be who ever think of their health, or of the care of their bodies, until they get sick or begin to grow weak. Even then they are slow to take warning, thinking it will pass off and they will be all right. Such as these are the most unsatisfactory patients a doctor has to deal with. They can't understand why they are so, and feel disposed to defy their growing weakness rather than to have the cause of it removed.

You may have sometimes wondered why certain ones died who were so strong and healthy, having scarcely been sick a day in all their lives. In many instances they refused to be sick, ignoring the disease until completely overcome, and then hadn't sufficient vitality left to resist it. Had they given timely attention to their illness they might have recovered.

When we come to know more about ourselves, and live and act as well as we know how, we will live longer and better lives, and have a lot more comfort here, and a clearer title to mansions above.

Always With Us.

The man who is grumbling about the hot July is the same man who was growling about the cold June.—Detroit Free Press.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—One of the peculiarities of municipal government in New York is that each faction can prove by figures and official records that its own particular administration is or was better than the enemy's. There is this dock board controversy, for instance. For some weeks District Attorney Jerome has been investigating the doings of the board under Van Wyck's Tammany supervision and has produced a string of accusations that would wrap twice around Tammany hall. It looked like a clear case. Day after day the public has been horrified by tales of corruption and misuse of the people's money and property. Now Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, springs into the battle, fully equipped with weapons and ammunition, and defies his accusers to their teeth. He flourishes the records and professes to his own satisfaction that there were greater results for less money when Tammany was in the saddle than there have been since or were before. Of course, that has stirred up the present dock commissioner, McDougall Hawkes, and he is understood to be preparing a bomb which will blow Murphy off his perch. This afternoon Mr. Hawkes had not got any further into the fray than having his portrait printed in the evening papers, but he has two or three typewriters working double time, and there is an ominous setting of the lips to be noted in his printed picture which evidently means discomfiture for Murphy, if Mr. Hawkes knows himself.

Very Expensive Water.

Who would think that mere water would cost so much? The aqueduct commission has asked Mayor Low for an additional $6,418,056 to complete the work on the new Croton dam and at the Jerome park reservoir.

Don't Agree With Pittsburghers.

An example of the saying that what is one man's meat is another's poison is afforded in the different effects of Croton water on the systems of different people. Persons who have been in the habit of drinking the water supplied from Croton lake to New York city will declare that it is absolutely pure and harmless. It does not need filtering and unless impure ice is put into it there can be no microbes to bring typhoid or other deadly diseases. Thus says the believer in Croton. On the other hand, a stranger in New York will find that Croton water disagrees with him so much that he cannot drink it and live comfortably. There are some exceptions, of course, but so many Pittsburghers have complained to me about the New York water that evidently it is entirely different from that pumped up at Brilliant station.

Jews Organize a Regiment.

Nearly a thousand young Jews in Brooklyn have organized themselves into a military regiment and have petitioned Governor Odell to muster them into the National guard of the state. They intend to build an armory. It is supposed that "they won't do a thing to the czar" when they get fairly going.

Big Day at Coney Island.

Coney Island business men, especially the bathing house men, did such a great trade yesterday that they have not complained much about the rain and coolness today. It is said that the bathing house keepers at Coney broke all records for the number of patrons yesterday. There would have been a great many people there today if the weather had been pleasant. Even as it was the regular Coney Island boats carried hundreds of passengers, while the trolley cars were pretty well patronized. But the day has been rainy and disagreeable and there are pleasanter places than Coney Island on a wet day.

New York "Fans" Easily Pleased.

"Fans" here are delighted with the reports that come from the west of the victories of the New York baseball club. While it is no longer believed that the Giants will be able to wrest the palm from the triumphant Pittsburghers, there is strong hope in the vicinity of the sporting hotels that the New York club will not be far behind the Pirates as to be quite out of sight.

Girls Are "Drawing the Long Bow."

New York girls are turning their attention to archery. They have taken up tennis, basketball, fencing and other exercises requiring dexterity and some strength, and have made a good showing in all of them, as compared with their sisters of other cities. Now they think they can do as well at the archery butts as anyone, and have entered into the amusement with characteristic vigor. The principal archery club near Manhattan is at Huntington, L. I., which celebrated its 250th anniversary on the Fourth, with President Roosevelt's assistance. The archery club is an annex to the golf club, but it is declared that shooting with bow and arrow is more popular than driving, putting and foozling on the links.

Restaurants Couldn't Make It Go.

In spite of the demand for medium-priced restaurants in upper Broadway, at least two in the neighborhood of Herald square have gone to the wall in the last year. Both were well-equipped places, with large, airy rooms, good food and good service, at reasonable prices. Somehow, the people would not go there, and after trying hard to keep going for a few weeks or months, both dismally gave up the ghost. There is a large concern of the kind just opened along the Rialto, where scores of actors are passing and repassing every hour, and it may manage to get a living, while another well-known place in Sixth avenue, which has been in existence for several years, has been sold out to a concern which has several cheap restaurants and is undergoing such an overhauling that it will not be ready to resume business for a month. Why is it that one has so much trouble to buy food and drink fit for human consumption in this part of New York when restaurant keepers seemingly are trying so hard to fill the bill?

Different Claims to Distinction.

How hard the press agent has to work is shown in the case of a young woman who is going on the stage and whose chief claim to distinction is avowedly that she is a daughter of a man who used to know Henry Ward Beecher. By the way, a son of the famous preacher is sporting editor of a New York evening paper, although he does not proclaim the fact by means of a press agent.

Another British Capitalist in Trouble.

A subject of gossip was afforded this afternoon by the arrest of a New York manager of a great steel company of Sheffield, England, who is charged with stealing $75,000. These international complications are becoming more numerous than formerly it seems since our friend Whitaker Wright came over some months ago from England, only to drop snugly into Ludlow street jail until he consented to go back to London for trial. The gentleman arrested today was more fortunate than Mr. Wright, however, in that he managed to procure his liberty on $5,000 bail.

Political Drift.

Referring to Mr. Bryan's belated comment on the Iowa Democratic platform, the Sioux City Journal (Rep.) says: "Mr. Bryan still sees light ahead. The real contest he postpones until next year, when national delegates are elected. The unfairness shown by the reorganizers in the late convention is expected to arouse loyal Democrats to a 'battle royal for the integrity of the party.' The Commoner's last word is: 'The fight for the reaffirmation of the last national platform and the building of a new platform in line with it is on and must continue until a complete victory is won.' Iowa Democrats should begin laying in ammunition for the 'third battle.'"

\+ \+ \+ \+

It takes a good deal to discourage the true, unterrified Democrat, as witness the Philadelphia Record (Dem.), arguing that its party's case next year is not hopeless. It says: "Although the Republican party, on the other hand, is the party of opportunism and is chiefly concerned to keep control of the government, it has not been without its revolts. The Independent Republican movement of 1872 was a revolt of party leaders without support of the masses. But this, while a disastrous failure in itself, contributed no little to the great ground swell of 1874 and to the popular majority for Tilden in 1876, which were revolts of the Republican masses without the leaders. Such was the case also in 1884 and 1892, though in a less degree, when the Republican party in appearance was united and harmonious in the support of popular candidates for president and when a silent body of voters among the Republican masses arbitrated the issues and gave the decision for the Democrats."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"The advantage of having the gold standard so fortified that it would be under the exclusive control of the legislative department is that it is vastly easier for a party inimical to sound currency to elect a president than to get control of the entire legislative machinery," says the Washington Post (Ind. Dem.). "Put the standard where it ought to be and it will be subject to no sudden change. Leave it as it is, endangered by a currency hodgepodge that is a satire on the word 'system,' and you have only to wait till the next period of financial depression comes on to see the fiat of the government let go its hold on our six hundred millions of silver. Beware the awful avalanche."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Says the Philadelphia Press (Rep.): "The Democratic leaders who supported ex-Gov. Pattison in his last unfortunate campaign for governor talk of bringing him out as a candidate for president. It looks now as though most any one might have that doubtful honor. Pennsylvanians would be glad to see Mr. Pattison nominated, notwithstanding the fact that he was defeated last year by over 155,000 majority for his Republican opponent, a majority that would be greatly increased in favor of the Republican candidate for president should Mr. Pattison be chosen by the Democrats. Still, the Democrats would be certain of having a clean man for their nominee, in case they fixed upon Mr. Pattison."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Quoting Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland: "It is Mark Hanna's scalp I want to see fall," the St. Louis Globe Democrat (Rep.) says: "Of course, there is sense in Johnson's talk. He is not seeking the nomination for governor, but he is a very active and earnest candidate for senator. Cleveland's mayor is a good politician. He knows the Democrats have not the faintest show for success on governor. Herrick's plurality will be above 50,000. But the Republican lead in the legislature will not, it is safe to say, be as large proportionately as that on governor."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Of Mr. Bryan's proposed tour of Europe, the New York Mail and Express (Rep.) says: "The effete monarchies may prepare to tremble. The monarchs may brace themselves to hold down their tiaras and to keep on their crowns. William J. Bryan of Lincoln, Neb., it is announced, is going to Europe. He is going to find out what the sociological conditions are in the lands that surround. In four months he is going to round up the conditions of the working people in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany and Italy. Then he intends to give the world the benefit of his discoveries in a book. * * * But Bryan and his projected book will frighten no one. The rejected Nebraskan has developed a thrifty business instinct. He has been able to gild his political disasters with a good many of the dollars of his obstinately prosperous countrymen. It is probable that he sees a good speculation in his tour. But the assurance with which he proposes to settle all the social problems of the old world in four months is at least refreshing."

RIVERMEN CLASH WITH PITCAIRN

Lively Session of Directors of Chamber of Commerce on Railroad Ordinance.

BOARD POSTPONED ACTION

Meeting of All Members to Be Held Thursday Afternoon—Common Council Asked to Delay—Pennsylvania Representative Did Not Join in Request.

The rivermen and Robert Pitcairn of the Pennsylvania railroad had a lively passage-at-arms yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was called at the instance of the rivermen for the purpose of making a protest to councils against the passage of the Duquesne way railroad ordinance in its present shape. Mr. Pitcairn defended the ordinance and the Pennsylvania railroad, and in the debate that ensued some sharp words were handed back and forth.

Long resolutions protesting against the grant except upon certain restrictions, including a cash compensation and the right given other companies to use the elevated were presented by J. W. Marsh with the motion that the resolutions be adopted and presented to common council last night. W. M. Kennedy moved that action be postponed until the resolutions could be considered more fully.

This motion brought the rivermen to their feet. Captain John F. Dravo called it "a dodge," and said the motion was made to evade the question. Mr. Dravo spoke against the Pennsylvania being given a grant on the Allegheny wharf, declaring that it would block the river commerce, which he said would be revived by slack water navigation, the raising of the bridges and the Panama canal.

Pitcairn Made a Charge.

Mr. Pitcairn accused the rivermen of taking "snap judgment" by calling a meeting of the board on less than a day's notice and attempting to rush resolutions through in half an hour's time.

W. H. Stevenson said that if the Chamber of Commerce postponed action on the resolutions the people would recognize such a course as an evasion of the question and that it would operate to destroy the usefulness of the chamber. He said that the railroad ordinance would be up for final passage in common council that night and that action would be taken at once. Mr. Stevenson, in reply to Mr. Pitcairn's charge that an attempt was being made to take "snap judgment," had not only been taken in common council by the Pennsylvania railroad, but that the ordinance had been "rammed" through that body.

Mr. Stevenson said he would be willing to postpone action on the resolutions if the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would join the Chamber of Commerce and ask common council to delay action until the matter had been taken up by the chamber. He made such a motion, but one of the members stated that it would be impossible to get the Pennsylvania to join in such a request.

"Why, the representative of the Pennsylvania railroad is here," said Mr. Stevenson, pointing at Mr. Pitcairn.

"I am not here as the representative of the Pennsylvania railroad," replied Mr. Pitcairn with some heat. "I am here as a member of the board."

Mr. Pitcairn declared that he had no jurisdiction over the ordinance and that it was a matter for councils to decide. He refused to request common council to withdraw the ordinance for a week, and Mr. Stevenson thereupon, withdrew his motion.

Agreed to Postponement.

The rivermen then agreed to postpone action on the resolutions providing a request were made to common council to postpone action until next Monday night. J. W. Marsh made a motion to this effect; also that a meeting of the board of directors be called for next Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and a meeting of all the members of the Chamber of Commerce the same afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Capt. W. B. Rodgers, a riverman, said that there was danger of a special meeting of select council being called before next Monday and that the ordinance might be passed by both branches before the Chamber of Commerce could take action. Mr. Rodgers suggested that the meeting of the board and the chamber be called for Thursday afternoon of this week instead of next Monday, and this was agreed to.

Upon the motion of Secretary George H. Anderson the resolutions presented by Mr. Marsh were referred jointly to the river and harbor committee and the committee on municipal affairs with instructions to report to the board of directors on Thursday afternoon.

Many Changes Suggested.

The resolutions over which the board wrangled for two hours contained many recommendations, some of which were radical to the extreme. The main points covered in the resolutions were as follows:

No further action should be taken until detail plans of the proposed structure and of its location are submitted.

It should be an elevated road, supported on steel columns and of such structure as to make the least possible obstruction to the view from Duquesne way and from the river.

The columns, piers or abutments on any of the streets, alleys, highways or sidewalks of the city, except where the right is granted to build the structure along and upon the same (as in Third street) and in the latter locations the columns should be of such character and so far apart as not to obstruct the use of said streets by wagons to the minimum extent practicable.

The ordinance should contain a rigid and easily enforcible penal and forfeiture provision against the use of smoke-producing fuel.

The city should reserve the right to grant permission to other roads to build tracks over or under said structure or to cross at grade, or to connect therewith.

The removal of the tracks from Liberty street from Union station to Duquesne freight station is not a fair return for the franchise now sought by the railroad company. An annual rental of $50,000 in lieu of any other tax on the proposed trackage would be a modest sum to be paid to the city.

This franchise should not be in perpetuity, but for limited period—say 25 years or 50 years at most—and then subject to continuation for a like period at an annual rental then to be fixed.

All other roads entering Pittsburgh (whether present or future Greater Pittsburgh) shall have the right to use said trackage under reasonable regulations and rentals to be paid to the owner.

The use of the structure should be limited to the carriage of freight, unless its use is made common to all roads, and the carriage of passengers is in connection with a Union station for all roads.

Bagpiper on Gould Yacht.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. George Gould have introduced an innovation in yachting fashions. They have a Scotch bagpiper on board the Emerald, who plays on all festive occasions. The piper is Donald Cameron, who was shipped in England as a cook, but confessed that he was a champion skirler. When the Goulds heard his music he promptly lost his job as cook and became the ship's chief musician.

Long Drawn Out Strike Ended.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 13.—The strike of the iron molders in several foundries in this city, which was inaugurated in September last, has been officially declared off. No concessions have been made by the master molders and few of the strikers have been reinstated.

Boy Died of Lockjaw.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 13.—Harry H. Bishop, 13 years of age, died here today of lockjaw caused by a slight injury on the Fourth of July. Saturday night the first symptoms of tetanus appeared and he suffered terribly. The physicians pronounced it the worst case of tetanus they have ever seen.

SHORE SEEMS TO HAVE LET IT DROP

Efforts to Unseat John Bradley as County Oil Inspector Have Ceased.

W. B. RODGERS IS NOT MOVING

Charges of Voting on Fradulent Tax Receipts Withdrawn—Last Echo of Wainright—Upperman Councilmanic Contest—T. S. Bigelow to See J. A. Clark.

If the lethargy noticeable in the attempt to remove John Bradley from the office of county oil inspector means anything, it is interpreted as indicating that the Citizens party is heartily tired of the contract. More than two months ago William Shore, Jr., assistant city engineer, was appointed by William B. Hays, then known as the city recorder, to the county oil inspectorship, Mr. Hays declaring that under the law he had the right to make the appointment. John Bradley, who had been appointed to the position by judges of the courts a comparatively short time before, refused to give up the office, and although the courts decided that the prothonotary had no right to refuse to approve Shore's bond, yet the question whether the mayor's appointment was legal has not yet been decided.

City Solicitor William B. Rodgers is conducting the proceedings for the mayor and the mayor's appointee, but Mr. Rodgers has made no move since Bradley's attorneys secured a rule preventing the prothonotary's approval of Shore's bond being made a matter of record. Rodger's apparent apathy is interpreted in various ways. Shore's friends says that Mr. Rodgers in very busy, but that as soon as he has time he will institute proceedings to oust Bradley from the oil inspector's office, but Bradley's friends maintain that the city solicitor has practically abandoned the fight.

They allege that if the prison board, composed largely of judges of the common pleas courts, by deciding that the mayor could not serve on the prison board, the office of mayor having been abolished by the ripper charter act, and the right of the mayor to serve on the prison board not having been re-established, practically decided the oil inspectorship fight in favor of John Bradley.

They argue that the ripper act abolished the right of the mayor to appoint the oil inspector in Allegheny county, and that consequently John Bradley will remain oil inspector. Further, they say, Shore has drawn his monthly salary as assistant city engineer, and as the "ripper" charter act forbids city employes holding county office, Shore must have abandoned the hope of becoming oil inspector.

The caution with which Thomas S. Bigelow replies to questions concerning the fusion movement for the autumn campaign leads many to insist that Mr. Bigelow hopes to secure a compromise with the Republicans, being displeased with the independence shown by the Democrats in demand that Attorney William J. Brennen be made the fusion candidate for district attorney. Mr. Bigelow declined to say whether some friend of his is trying to dicker with the Republicans, but in the same breath he said that he expected to see James A. Clark, the Democratic chairman, some time this week. Clark is one of a committee empowered to arrange a fusion program with any political party.

The cases against 17 persons charged with illegal voting in the Fifteenth ward were nolle prossed in the quarter sessions court yesterday. With Harry Northley, the 17 were charged with having voted on illegal tax receipts, but Northley's case has been the only one tried, and he was acquitted on May 11. The other defendants were never called for trial. The charges arose out of the contest for the seat of Select Councilman John Upperman. John Wainwright, his competitor, on the Citizens party ticket, alleged that he and not Upperman was elected by 11 votes. The court declared that Upperman was the legally elected candidate, and he is now serving in council.

WU IN DISFAVOR.

Diplomat Popular in United States Not Appreciated by Chinese Royalty.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(Special.)—Because of his "Americanism" Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese minister at Washington, transferred last year to China presumably to accept a more important post in the government service, has apparently lost favor with the sovereign authorities in his country. In a report to the state department Mr. Conger announces that Mr. Wu has been appointed second assistant in the corps of under secretaries. As if to moderate the shock to the popular diplomat's friends Mr. Conger, in his report adds: "While this gives Mr. Wu nominally only a clerical place, yet it makes an opportunity for utilizing his foreign knowledge and experience, if the foreign office so desires."

A School in Emerson's Honor.

CONCORD, MASS., July 13.—"The School of Emerson," instituted in honor of Ralph Waldo Emerson, was opened here today and will continue for three weeks with exercises alternately at Concord and Boston. Edwin D. Mead, president of the Free Religious association of America, gave a brief address on the many sidedness of Emerson, saying that Emerson's doctrine affected all creeds and churches.

Is Penniless and Insane.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Moses R. Crow, lawyer, promoter and the constructor of several important water works in New York and other cities, has been declared insane and papers were made out today for this transfer to Wards island. Crow made a large fortune out of his many enterprises, but recently met with reverses and is now practically penniless.

Claim Girl Murdered Sister.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., July 13.—A sensation was created here today by the arrest of Maude Jordine, aged 17, for the murder, on Thursday last, of her 2-year-old sister Mabel. It is alleged Maude had special interest in the removal of the baby.

AFTER CHAMPIONSHIP FOR DRESSING CALVES

Butchers in a Contest in Spring Garden for Doernberger's Title.

Three butchers will contest Thursday night at the Spring Garden club's quarters, Spring Garden borough, for the championship for dressing calves. The beginning of the tournament was last night, when four swift cutters carved twice as many animals. Tonight at the same place four new entries will appear and the following night two new ones. The best two out of the ten will be selected to enter against the present champion, Herman Doernberger, on Thursday night.

The prize is awarded to the man making the best time. The animals are killed outside of the arena. The remainder of the work is done in view of the spectators and consists of stripping the carcass and dressing it. Each contestant last night dressed two calves. Their names and time made were: Charles L. Hahn, 6:55 2-5; Lewis Kohle, 7:33; William Kestner, champion of the South Side, 9:5, and Charles Scholl, 8:36.

Before beginning work Hahn was presented with a medal for the quickest work in a contest held last April. His time then for two animals was 7:24. The best time ever made is 5:02, which is the record of Herman Doernberger, champion of the world. He is a Pittsburgh man, and will appear Thursday night to defend his title.

CHANGES AT STEEL WORKS.

Many Improvements to Be Made at Edgar Thomson Plant at Braddock.

Changes by the United States Steel Corporation at the Edgar Thomson steel works yards at Braddock, started about six months ago, were yesterday put in shape for adoption. Work will at once be begun by the company on immense improvements, which will include the erection of 12 large soaking pits, a large extension to the rail mill and perhaps a billet mill. The amount to be spent in improvements is $275,000.

The change made was the moving of Braddock avenue from the plan of the famous "Old Plank road" of a century ago, that cut through the Edgar Thomson mills. By this means the Carnegie Steel Company gets a little over 14 additional acres of valuable land and the mills are not separated.

The Carnegie company built a 50-foot paved street at the south side of the new tracks of the United Traction Company. The cars were run over the new line yesterday for the first time. Work of tearing up the old tracks was started yesterday.

CHARGE OF LIBEL MADE.

Greek Catholic Priest of Windber Out on Bail—Sued by Another Priest.

The Rev. O. D. Balioka, pastor of the Greek Catholic church of Windber, Somerset county, gave $1,000 bail before Alderman S. J. Toole, yesterday to appear at the September term of court and answer a charge of libel. The Rev. Alexander Petrassowich, a Greek Catholic priest of Braddock, alleges that he was criminally libeled by the Rev. Balioka in an article in the Hungarian newspaper, Amerikansy Russky.

The trouble started over the place at which a certain Hungarian society of Braddock should attend church. Each priest advised the society to attend his church. The argument became heated and it is alleged that the Rev. Blioka answered a charge of the Braddock priest with a long statement attacking the latter's character and ecclesiastical conduct.

Robber Rudolph's Partner on Trial.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—George Collins, alias Fred Lewis, the confederate of Bill Rudolph, the bank robber, who escaped from jail last Monday, was taken to Union today for trial on the charge of killing Detective Charles Schumacher. Sheriff Bruch of Franklin county, accompanied by four deputies, escorted the prisoner to guard against his escape or rescue by Rudolph, who is still at large.

A Politician Asphyxiated.

OMAHA, NEB., July 13.—Richard S. Berlin, a prominent Republican politician and real estate dealer, was found dead in his office early today, having been asphyxiated by gas from an open fixture. It is believed the wind blew the gas out while Mr. Berlin was asleep. He was a former member of the state legislature and a Missouri river commissioner.

Shipload of Bananas Overboard.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—If a banana famine develops in New York it can be blamed upon the health department. Inspector Fuller ordered 22,000 bunches taken out to sea and thrown overboard. The ship bringing them from Port Limon was eight days behind and the fruit spoiled.

HEALTHY OLD AGE

Pe-ru-na Invaluable for the Catarrhal Diseases Peculiar to Old Age.

IN old age, no matter how healthy the person may be, there is a tendency to coldness, sluggishness of the circulation, inadequate digestion of food. Such a condition is not exactly a disease but is one of the inevitable consequences of old age. Peruna is peculiarly adapted to these conditions which result from old age. It spreads a grateful warmth throughout the whole system. It invigorates the circulation. It increases the digestive powers. In short, it mitigates all of the symptoms which are directly caused by old age.

Peruna never fails to be of inestimable worth to old people. It prevents premature wrinkles. It gives health and elasticity to the skin, and under its use the sallowness and wizened expression disappears. It has been stated over and over again in letters from old people that 'Peruna has made me look 20 years younger."

In old age the mucous membranes become thickened and partly lose their function.

This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances.

Peruna corrects all this by its specific operation on all the mucous membranes of the body.

Mrs. Jerusha M. Crane, Deerfield, Mich., writes:

"I must claim you as a friend for you have cured me of my suffering. I cannot speak too highly of you and your Peruna, for I believe it has saved my life. I suffered with my head, throat, lungs, stomach, intestines and bladder (systemic catarrh). I am now feeling well, thanks to Peruna. I can eat anything I want and it does not hurt me. I can sleep, and get up feeling well and good. I am so thankful that I found your Peruna. I am almost seventy-one years old."

A New Man at 79.

Maj. Frank O'Mahoney, West Side, Hannibal, Mo., writes:

"Up to a few years ago I felt no need to test its medicinal potency, but lately, when my system needed it, your Peruna relieved me of many catarrhal troubles. Some two years ago I weighed 210 pounds, but fell away down to 168 pounds, and besides loss of flesh I was subject to stomach troubles, indigestion, loss of appetite, insomnia, night sweats, and a foreboding of getting my entire system out of order. During some months I gave Peruna a fair trial, and it rejuvenated my whole system. I feel thankful therefore, for although 79 years old, I feel like a young man."—Maj. Frank O'Mahoney.

One bottle will convince you. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long stand-by with old and young.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

ROCKEFELLERS BUY NEW YORK CENTRAL

Gossip of Their Purpose to Gain Control Renewed in Wall Street.

BIG BLOCK AT PRIVATE SALE

Reported That 20,000 Shares Changed Hands Last Week at Prices Above That in the Open Market—W. K. Vanderbilt Has Last Say.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—A statement was sent out from Wall street today that about 20,000 shares of New York Central stock was sold privately to a Standard Oil interest Saturday. Coupled with this statement was an intimation that the price paid for the block of stock was considerably above the ruling market price for New York Central shares. The publication of the statements caused a revival of the stock exchange gossip about a possible transfer of control of the New York Central from the Vanderbilts to the Rockefellers.

A director of the Central, who is also a financier of large influence, said that he doubted the story of the sale of 20,000 shares of New York Central stock at private sale. He knew all of the large holders and was unable to see where so large a block could have come from without his knowledge. He has heard it stated that the sale was made by private parties. If such was the fact he remarked, several "Philadelphia parties" must have clubbed together to make up the 20,000 shares.

With regard to the reports of prospective Rockefeller control of the New York Central this authority said:

"It is not unlikely that the Rockefellers are accumulating New York Central shares. William Rockefeller has been a large stockholder and an influential director for several years. I happen to know that he considers New York Central stock a good investment. Whether the Rockefellers will succeed the Vanderbilts in control of the property is a matter largely for William K. Vanderbilt to determine."

SCIENTISTS WORKING ON LANGLEY AERODROME

Object Is to Reduce the Weight of the Motive Power to Extreme Lightness.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Scientists working under the direction of Secretary Langley of the Smithsonian institution are laboring incessantly to complete the aerodrome devised by Mr. Langley and to get it into condition for practical tests, but thus far it is uncertain when those tests will be made. The work is being done within a building rigidly guarded from the public. A houseboat, similar to that used by Mr. Langley in his experiments several years ago, lies moored at the wharf here, and may be removed with the air flight apparatus aboard at any time to some point down the river, where the actual tests are to be made. The spot selected for the previous tests was near Occaquan, Va., about 30 miles down the Potomac, and the same place may be revisited. The workmen are trying to reduce the weight of the motive power to an unprecedented lightness, are seeking with the most minute mathematical measurements to adjust all the parts so as to accomplish the most nearly perfect balance and to insure the safety of the machine in its flight, while at the same time to secure the rapidity in running over the air necessary to overcome gravitation.

IS BUT A DREAM.

Figures Show an Attack on New York Dock Commissioner Is Unfounded.

NEW YORK, July 13.—McDougall Hawkes, commissioner of docks and ferries, made public today a statement answering charges made by C. F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and former treasurer of the dock board under the Van Wyck administration. Concerning Mr. Murphy's allusion to the lease, by the present administration, of a pier to the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, referred to by Murphy as "Gov. Odell's company," Mr. Hawkes says the city made an excellent bargain.

The lease was approved by the sinking fund commission and the controller's office. He says Murphy's figured loss to the city of $480,000 is imaginary. "The whole story of Gov. Odell's relation to this matter," he adds, "is pure imagination and an attempt to make political capital, and was thoroughly exploded after most careful examination by the members of the sinking fund." The rental paid for the pier is at the rate of four cents per square foot more than the city receives per square foot for the adjoining pier.

EARNINGS REDUCED,

Statement of H. B. Claflin Company Shows Shrinkage in Commercial Business.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—That there has been a falling off in commercial business, though not of large proportions, was shown by the semi-annual statement of the H. B. Claflin Company for the period ending June 30. The net earnings are reported at $503,994, a decrease of $13,583. This reduction in earnings is not large in comparison with the volume of business transacted but at the same time it shows that merchants are buying more cautiously.

The reduction, however, is mainly due to the unfavorable condition of the cotton goods trade. The New Orleans bull clique has the cotton textile industry completely at its mercy. The H. B. Claflin Company, after paying dividends, carried forward a surplus of $8,750, which, with the previous surplus, makes a total of $1,240,761. The earnings of the common stock for the half year amounted to 4.22 per cent, against 4.59 per cent in the same period of the previous year.

WEALTHY BROKER IS SAID TO HAVE KILLED HIMSELF

NEW YORK, July 13.—Edwin D. Phelps formerly a well-known piano manufacturer of Brooklyn and more recently a broker of the Consolidated stock exchange, and a real estate operator, was found dead in bed at his home today. The room was full of illuminating gas. The police say it is suicide, but his son, Waldo Phelps, declares that his father died of heart failure, under natural circumstances. Mr. Phelps was 52 years old. When he retired from business, 18 years ago, he was reputed a millionaire.

BALL PLAYER MAKES HIT WITH AN HEIRESS

Wins Bride and Marries Her Despite Parental Opposition.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—Miss Mary Blossom Searle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Searle of Babylon, L. I., and Leo Fishel, youngest son of Leopold H. Fishel, president of the Babylon Electric Light Company, have just married and are now in Albany. The marriage is understood to have been performed in this city, but neither bride's parents nor the groom's father have any positive knowledge as to who performed the ceremony nor when the couple will return.

The marriage is the culmination of a rather long and somewhat romantic courtship. The attachment between the young couple dates back to their school days. Young Fishel's attentions to Miss Searle were opposed by the latter's father, who considered his daughter too young to receive attentions from any one. The lover was persistent, however, and despite the objections of his sweetheart's parent, continued his wooing, and with the result that Miss Searle is now his wife. Mr. Fishel is a young lawyer with offices at Freeport, and is locally famous as a ballplayer, having won fame as a pitcher on many diamonds. He is a graduate of Columbia and pitched on the 'varsity team two seasons. He was to have pitched with the Freeport team on Saturday last, but his engagement with Miss Searle he naturally regarded as of greater importance, and he waived that with the Freeport nine, much to the great regret of the members of that organization.

MONKEY LOSES BEARD AND EXPIRES OF GRIEF

Former Companions Refuse to Recognize Him After His Transformation.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—"Dude," one of the trick monkeys of the Kudge family at Glen Island, died yesterday from a broken heart. It was a bearded monkey and would sit for hours rubbing his face in imitation of a man stroking his whiskers. "Dude" had a misunderstanding with one of his companions and a mix-up ensued in which "Dude's" face was marred, and it had to be shaved. The animal felt its face with a puzzled look, as if it could not comprehend the change. When its paw reached a point that the razor had not covered the monkey looked relieved, and again began feeling for its beard. Thus "Dude" sought in vain day after day for its beard. The wounds healed, but the whiskers did not grow, and "Dude" was a forlorn monkey when it was returned to the cage.

Its appearance caused a sensation. A ring-tailed monkey, constructed on the general lines of a daddy-long-legs, happened to be nearest and began jabbering its opinion of "Dude." The monkeys huddled together, shivering and chattering. The bearded Kudke monkeys disentangled themselves from the mass and cautiously approached "Dude" for closer observation. The shaved monkey went to meet them, when they backed away again, held a brief but animated discussion, and turned their backs upon "Dude" and mounted solemnly to a high perch. The monkey had been formally repudiated by his kind and took it to heart. If it went to one side of the cage they would go to the other, and he had a sorry time. Twice the other monkeys whipped "Dude" who made no effort to defend himself.

"Dude" was finally transferred to another cage, but brooded and refused to eat. Yesterday the attendants were startled by an unusual noise in the cage in which "Dude" was confined. The other monkeys were screaming in terror. The poor little fellow was lying in the corner dead.

SMALL SUM FOR STREET REPAIRS

Only $79,000 Available This Year for Repaving of All Public Thoroughfares.

BLUNDER OF THE COMMITTEE

Citizens Financiers Included Large Sum Covered by Contracts in Appropriation for This Year—Director Bigelow Will Make Up the Schedule.

The surprisingly small sum of $79,000 is all there is available for the repaving of all the streets of the city this year. This fact was disclosed yesterday at a meeting of the street repaving committee of councils, which was the first meeting the committee has held, except to organize a week ago.

The annual appropriation ordinance, passed at the beginning of the year, provided for the appointment of the committee to distribute the money appropriated for street repaving, but the Citizens did not take any steps to have the committee appointed or to have work begun on the streets until recently.

The disclosures yesterday show another blunder of the finance committee, which made a great play of economy in public expenditures just before the last municipal election, at the same time alleging that $200,000 was being appropriated for the repair of streets. It developed later that the bulk of the appropriation was a balance from last year which was covered by contracts already let. The finance committee said the balance from last year amounted to $105,000 and there would be $95,000 available for this year's work.

The figures from the controller's office yesterday showed that instead of $95,000 there was only $79,000 on hand, and that $16,000 of the $95,000 was covered by contracts authorized for seven streets on which work had got been started.

Director Bigelow presented a list of streets for repaving, the estimated cost of which was $20,000 in excess of the money on hand. The committee revised the list. Amberson avenue was cut out altogether, saving $9,000, and several other streets were reduced. As finally made up, the list was as follows:

Homewood avenue, between Hamilton avenue and Kelly street, $5,000; Smallman street, from Sixteenth to Twenty-fifth streets, $15,000; Fifth avenue, from Oakland avenue east, $4,000; Howe street, from Aiken avenue east, $5,000; Sheridan avenue, from Penn to Center, $2,000; Forbes street, from Craft avenue east, $6,000; St. Clair street, from Penn avenue to Baum street, $4,600; Forty-fifth street, from end of present pavement south, $8,000; Thirty-ninth street, from Penn to Liberty avenues, $8,000; Hazel street, $2,000; Scott street, $2,800; Marion street, $5,000; Pius street, $5,000; South Twelfth street, from Bradford south, $2,000; South Twenty-first street, from Josephine south, $5,000; a total of $78,500.

Director Bigelow said the Pittsburgh Railways Company is to pay one-third the cost of repairing Forbes street, the Allegheny County Light Company one-third, and the city the other third, or $6,000.

On motion of Mr. Zahniser, the director was authorized to advertise the work.

COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER WYMAN'S DIKE SCHEME

Allegheny Plans for Prevention of Damage from High Water Get Attention Today.

Mayor Wyman's committee on flooded district, appointed shortly after he took office, to devise means to put the First, Fourth, Eighth and Ninth wards of Allegheny out of danger of high water during flood times, will meet this afternoon. Mayor Wyman hopes some plan can be presented to solve the problem that has worried Allegheny city officials for years.

The mayor proposes that a dike be built along the river front that the water may be kept out. This, the members of the committee say, would be of little use, as it would have no effect on the sewers that are backed up and which really cause most of the trouble when the river is at a flood stage. Mayor Wyman has even suggested the removal of Monument hill to get earth to make filling in case it is decided to build a levee.

Director E. J. McIlvain is willing to attempt anything that councils authorize to rid the town of the periodical annoyance and danger of floods.

Superintendent of Highways and Sewers David L. Fulton has a scheme that has been presented to the mayor and meets with his approval. Fulton plans the construction of a dike, the elevation of the entire flooded district and the raising of the sewers.

Superintendent Fulton's plans is for a concrete wall along the river front behind which tons of earth and rock can be dumped to make a strong barrier against the high water. The streets according to his plan would be raised about four feet in the lowest sections of the city, and the sewers elevated accordingly. This would necessitate the elevation of several square miles of property from the upper end of the Eighth ward to the lower end of the Ninth ward.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY.

Those Who Appeared Before Virgin Alley Widening Viewers Did Not Agree.

The viewers on the widening of Virgin alley resumed the hearings yesterday afternoon and were in session two hours. The testimony heard was on the rental values of Liberty avenue property and varied considerably. One witness said property on that street could be secured at the present time, in contradiction of previous testimony offered, that it was impossible to rent property near Virgin alley and Liberty street.

Three witnesses testified to the value of a lease on a tailor shop on the fourth floor at the corner. One said it was worth $1,750 a year, another said $1,000 a year, and another said it would be worth nothing, as the shop would be destroyed. He could not say what the shop would bring before the lease expires in 21 months.

John Flocker, a dealer in cordage at No. 618 Liberty avenue, said his lease expires next April. He pays $2,500 a year rent and was offered $5,000 a year for it one year ago. He refused the offer, believing it worth $8,000. The cut on his building will make it too small to continue it there, but he could not estimate the actual damage to his business in a manner satisfactory to the board. His attorney said he wanted only to put his claim on record, but he did not expect any damages.

United States National Bank Removed.

The United States National bank is now occupying its fine new quarters, 503 Market street, one door from Fifth avenue.

The great sale of lots in the Keating West-View Plan, at Perrysville, scheduled for next Saturday, July 18th, has so awakened the money-making instinct of investors that you'd think the remarkable event was already in progress.

It is the only time in the sweltering days of midsummer that real estate selling has gone beyond a record mark. But this proposition at Keating West-View is different from any that has ever been presented. Purchasers are sure of making money in three ways.

There is no doubt but what you will be able to earn immense profit by either holding or making a quick turn of any lot or lots you purchase, and make a handsome additional profit on the great free premium bonds which are given to you absolutely without cost and are backed by virtually unlimited capital.

Above Picture Is of a Scene Sketched From Life While the Excavations Were Being Made at Keating West-View, Preparatory to Grading, Sewering and Paving the Streets.

The free bonds are an original device to give investors "a sure thing" and to keep the property building up fast. No time since real estate men began to sell real estate has there been anything to equal them so far as an "all around chance to coin dollars" is concerned.

The opening of the splendid Perrysville district by the finest and fastest traction road ever built was enough in itself to cause excitement; but with the sensational prices and the free-bond plan, netting investors a supplemental premium of 5 to 25 per cent, such a climax has been reached as practically ushers in a new era in the real estate business.

Wonderfully Situated Lots at $50 to $500.

A PROVISIONAL TWO-YEAR PREMIUM BOND FREE WITH EACH LOT

TERMS ON LOTS:

5 Per Cent down; 2½ Per Cent per Month for balance. 10 Per Cent Discount for Cash when paid within Sixty Days.

DISTANCE CUT DOWN FROM 45 MINUTES TO 25 MINUTES.

The great manifold-motor traction road now being constructed from the city to all points in Perrysville, and at present completed as far as Keating West-View, puts the property ten minutes nearer to downtown Pittsburgh than any of the really fine East End residential districts. The road will be operated upon the greatest speed-giving system known to traction practice. The line continues up East Street extension, which is as broad as that part of Liberty avenue lying in the business section of Pittsburgh.

Fifty per cent of the entire length of the route is virtually without curves or crossings, making it possible to attain a high rate of speed without endangering lives.

At the north end of East Street, at Jake Borne's Hotel, this new fast line connects with the Riverview Park cars on Perrysville Avenue, and after passing the Allegheny City limits, branches off onto private rights-of-way, laid with double tracks and T-rails. The unobstructed route up East Street and the private rights-of-way cuts off three miles of distance. This with not more than one per cent grade nine-tenths of the entire route enables the line to make the run to Keating West-View from the corner of Sixth Avenue and Smithfield Street in twenty-five minutes. If the run had to be made up Federal Street and out Perrysville Avenue, a time schedule of forty-five minutes would be required.

The new railway, by going up East Street instead of up Perrysville Avenue, escapes a large number of long bends which would cause a great loss of time, and by going on a bee-line over private rights-of-way, instead of along the Perrysville plank road, makes another remarkable reduction of distance and saving of time.

TAKE CARS AS FOLLOWS:

The new Perrysville cars to Keating West-View Plan of Lots start on Smithfield Street at Fifth Avenue. Some of the cars are marked PERRYSVILLE (not Perrysville Avenue), and others MADISON AVENUE & EAST STREET.

One of the palace cars is just finished and in operation to the property, but until all are finished the small coaches, or old MADISON AVENUE & EAST STREET cars, will be used.

You can catch the cars marked PERRYSVILLE (not Perrysville Avenue) or MADISON AVENUE & EAST STREET on Smithfield Street, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, on Ninth Street, on Anderson Street in Allegheny, on Lacock Street, on Sandusky Street or on North Avenue.

People living on Perrysville Avenue Car line, known as Riverview Park car line, can connect with the new PERRYSVILLE SHORT LINE at Jake Borne's hotel, corner Perrysville Avenue and East Street.

THREE KILLED IN POWDER MILL

Two Others Also Injured by Explosion in Factory Near Wilkesbarre.

BUILDINGS ARE DEMOLISHED

Bodies of Victims Badly Mutilated and Plant Devastated—Concussion Shook Houses for Miles Around the Scene of the Disaster.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., July 13.—Three men killed and two seriously hurt together with three buildings destroyed is the result of an explosion at the Laflin powder works at Laflin this afternoon. The noise of the explosion was heard in Wilkesbarre, and in Pittston windows and dishes rattled as if an earthquake had occurred, and small buildings were shaken.

The scene of the powder plant is one of devastation and destruction, the force of the explosion shook every house in the town of Laflin. The people knew what had happened and the paths leading to the scene were soon lined with excited throngs hurrying to the mill.

The dead:

ALEXANDER MOORE, of Laflin, 45 years old, died in about five minutes from burns.

JOSEPH GRAY, of Pittston, 50 years old, blown to pieces.

ARTHUR GRAY, of Pittston son of Joseph Gray, 23 years old.

The injured:

THOMAS HAINES, of Yatesville, 45 years old, hurt by flying timbers.

JOSIAH TWIST, of Laflin, 55 years old, arms and legs hurt by being blown against debris.

The explosion occurred in what is called the press. There were three buildings, about 100 feet apart—the press in which the powder was compressed into a solid mass; the barrel mill, in which the powder was mixed, and the corning mill in which the powder was ground into grains ready for market.

The three men killed were in the press mill at the time of the explosion and no one can tell what caused it, though there is a theory that it was caused by friction from some of the machinery.

The bodies of Moore and Arthur Gray were found under the debris and were badly burned. Joseph Gray was found 200 feet from the mill, his body literally blown to pieces, scattered here and there. The debris caught fire which was subdued after considerable hard work.

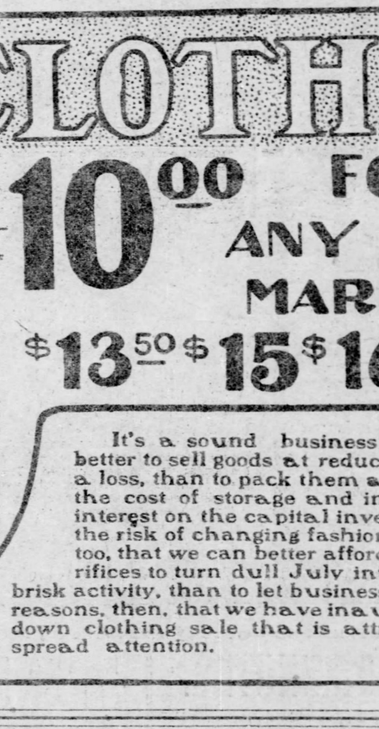
COMPLETE CLOTHING CLEARING

6.00 FOR ANY SUIT MARKED $8 $9 $10 OR $12

How different is this sale from the numerous stereotyped, prearranged and really meaningless clearing sales which now fill the newspapers. This sale is founded on fact, it wins on merit—the reductions are genuine and bona fide—that's why it's such a successful sale. Nothing could be clearer, more sweeping or comprehensive. This sale knows no exceptions or restrictions. We've simply divided our entire stock of two and three piece suits into three parts, giving you choice as above.



10.00 FOR ANY SUIT MARKED $13.50 $15 $16.50 OR $18

It's a sound business rule that it's better to sell goods at reductions, even at a loss, than to pack them away and pay the cost of storage and insurance, less interest on the capital invested and run the risk of changing fashions. We know, too, that we can better afford to make sacrifices to turn dull July into a month of brisk activity, than to let business drag. It is for these reasons, then, that we have inaugurated this markdown clothing sale that is attracting such widespread attention.

16.00 FOR ANY SUIT NO MATTER WHAT IT'S MARKED

You can well afford another new summer suit, when you can get it at a saving of 20 to 50%. Besides, it is a welcome change to have a second suit, and what's more your clothes will stand much more use and always look better if not worn continually. So by all means, purchase that second suit. As a matter of fact, if you take advantage of this clothing clearing, your new suit will not cost you much more than you would have had to pay earlier in the season for the trousers alone.

DRESS the youngsters in cool clothing—we have provided liberally for the comfort of the boys during the hot weather. Although summer weather is only just beginning, prices have been keenly reduced throughout the entire stock. LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Exposition Park.
Brooklyn at Chicago.
New York at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at St. Louis.

A very bad start and an equally bad windup on the part of the Pirates, enabled the Boston team to take a blue Monday game by a total of 8 to 3. The visitors chalked up four runs in their opening inning and these were enough to win the game, but just to be on the safe side they tallied four more in the ninth, and that was sort of rubbing it in.

The obstacle in the Pirates' road to progress was simply a big youth named Malarkey, who bears a striking resemblance to the late lamented Winnie Mercer. This Malarkey has been on the Boston payroll for two seasons, and he has pitched a fair share of that team's games, but the majority of his efforts have proved failures. Not because Malarkey is a poor pitcher by any means, but he has been a victim of ill luck. In his games he has held his opponents to a half dozen or so hits and few runs, but it so happened that his team either could not bat in enough runs to help him out or else errors were piled up which allowed the other side just enough runs for victory.

It was not that way yesterday, however, because Malarkey pitched winning ball all the way, and even if those back of him did wobble occasionally, he never let up in his work and landed a winner by a good sized margin. The victory belonged to the visitors only because of Malarkey's good work, because it took clever pitching to offset the slip ups made by Beaumont infield, with Shortstop Aubrey as the leading offender, having three glaring misplays to his credit.

Wilhelm was the boy on whom the Pirates pinned their confidence, but it was a case of misplaced confidence. The Ohio youth started in bad, being as wild as a German anarchist, and when he did attempt to get the ball over the plate in the first inning the batters pasted it all over the lot of the playing field. It was not his fault, however, that four runs were scored in the ninth inning, because had Ritchey and Sebring been attending strictly to business not a run would have been scored.

The champions seemed to be affected with the dull weather conditions, and there were times when the 2,026 spectators yelled at them to wake up and get into the game. The offenders were Ritchey, who in the ninth started the visitors on the road to four runs, and Sebring gave able assistance in the same line. It was clearly an off day for the champions, both at bat and in the field.

The visitors started off with a quartet of runs in the opening inning. Dexter was the first Boston batter to face Wilhelm, and he drove a pass to first, after which Dick Cooley slammed the ball against the score board in right and Dexter scored. Stanley drew a base on balls and Carney bunted and beat it out, owing to Jo Wilhelm's slow fielding. A double play, Wagner to Ritchey to Bransfield settled Carney and Moran, Cooley scoring on the play. Abattichio was passed to first, stole second and scored on Gremminger's single to left. Bradley also singled, but Malarkey ended the inning going out from Leach to Bransfield.

A raw decision by Umpire Emslie, who called Stanley out at the plate, robbed the visitors of a run in the fifth. In the ninth Ritchey fumbled Cooley's grounder, then threw wild to first, allowing the runner to reach second. Stanley singled to center and Cooley scored. Carney bunted and popped to Leach, Moran fouled to Beaumont, who made a pretty catch, but Sebring made a sad mess of Abattichio's fly on which Stanley scored. Both Carney and "Batty" got home on Aubrey's two-bagger to left. Malarkey ended the running by striking out.

The Pirates scored one in the second as a result of a trio of errors by Cooley, "Batty" and Malarkey, and they got another of the two in the third on a fumble by Aubrey, a three-bagger by Leach and a single by Ritchey. In the next six innings but three safe hits were made. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

"Kitty" Bransfield was cheered when he appeared at the bat he first time. He is a favorite with the fans.

It was not Fittinger's coaching that beat the Pirates, but the wildness of Wilhelm, aided by weak hitting and a little lower behind the bat.

While in the act of pitching to Leach in the second inning Malarkey caught his foot in the rubber and fell to the ground. He joined in the general laugh.

Wilhelm thought he had Dexter struck out in the opening round. The ball that he claimed went over the plate looked good from the scorers' box. Emslie, however, thought differently.

Harry Smith made a great catch of Moran's foul fly in the ninth by chasing along the foul line and then by throwing himself out on his stomach. He got the ball just as it was falling to the ground.

Besides being a fine pitcher, Malarkey is good at fielding his position. Wagner laid down a bunt in the first inning that would have got away from a less alert fielding pitcher, but the fast Hans was thrown out at first by half a dozen steps.

Perk Kennedy came up to bat in place of Wilhelm in the ninth and Cooley began to kid. "Look out, Bill, you will lose your batting average," yelled Sir Richard. Kennedy fanned and then Cooley made a few remarks that made Kennedy smile.

Moran ate up Beaumont's bunt in the seventh. Beau dropped the spheres right in front of the plate and before the local pitcher-fielder had traveled a quarter of the distance to first Moran had the ball and threw out his man by a mile.

Wilhelm and Ritchey did not try to help Bransfield in the first inning when Leach sent out a hopper between the first bag and the pitcher's slab. Kitty collected it all right, but neither Wilhelm nor Ritchey went over to take his throw and Aubrey got to the bag first.

Sebring laid up against the ball in the seventh when he hit to right for a triple. Two were out at the time, but with Wagner up the prospect for scoring looked good. Stanley, in left, played well back and near the foul line for a high, long fly, but Hans went out from Malarkey to Cooley.

Dick Cooley got a pair of two-baggers, one of them being well earned and the other a lucky one. His first in the opening inning went to the score board in right and the second in the ninth hit in front of Bransfield, got through him and went into foul territory because it caromed off "Kitty's" legs.

Twice Carney got hits off Wilhelm, in each instance chasing the ex-southern leaguer down the line. In the first inning Carney dumped it along the line and beat out the toss to Bransfield, which the latter dropped. In the ninth he laid down a pretty one. Wilhelm thought it would roll foul and let it go.

Leach took away a long hit which might have gone for two or three sacks in the first inning by making a sensational stop of Gremminger's scorching hit close to the ground. In the fourth Gremminger was on third when Charlie Dexter drove a line drive into Leach's hands, retiring the side. It was a hard-luck hit for Dexter.

Wagner was on first in the third with one out when Bransfield hit a scorching liner straight at Malarkey, which the latter broke down, but could not hold. It was the hit and run on the part of the Pirates and had Malarkey held on to the ball a double play would have resulted, as Wagner was almost at second when the ball got to Malarkey.

Wagner came pretty near being the whole show again in the field. His race back of second in the third inning after Moran's grounder, which he collected and then threw out his man at first while on the run, was one of the greatest piece of infield work ever seen at the park. No one in the park thought he would get to the ball, let alone get the runner at first.

Emslie is not in the best of health now, it is said. He also has a very bad arm, caused by stopping wild pitches, fouls, etc. His eyes yesterday seemed bad, as he made decisions that occasioned strenuous objections on the part of the Boston players. In the fifth inning Stanley hit to right for three sacks. Carney followed with a grounder to Ritchey. Of course Stanley started for home and slid over the plate before Smith had put the ball on him. Emslie, however, called him out, and then there was a mighty howl set up by the Bean Eaters. After the side had been retired and the players were going on the field they kept kicking and screened it when Malarkey put over a straight ball on Sebring, which was called a ball. "Rub it in, Bob," yelled Cooley and the whole infield. Emslie had a good reason for putting the whole team on the bench. Still the kicking did not bother him.

CHILDS WON CUP FROM DR. STEPHENS

Despite Bad Start, Winner Grows Stronger and Finishes First in Five Hard Sets.

C. L. Childs yesterday won the challenge cup emblematic of the Western Pennsylvania tennis championship, for the second time by beating Dr. T. W. Stephens, winner of the trophy last year, in five of the hardest sets ever held in Western Pennsylvania for the title. Stephens, who is recognized as a very hard player, set out a fast pace and contrary to expectations won the first set 3-6. His playing with Hunt, the coast champion, stood him in good stead and he offered an article of tennis that was bewildering. He was strong at his fore hand drives, sending the ball into the corners and keeping Childs always on the run.

Childs could not get to the net. However, in the next set Childs reversed matters, getting Stephens on the run. He kept Stephens away from the net by fine lobbing and showed strength in every department.

The scores for the sets are 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4. The gallery was the largest of the tournament, with 1,000 persons present. Summaries:

This is the third cup being played for in the history of the association. It must be won three times for permanent possession. G. D. Edwards won it first in 1900, and Childs in 1901. Stephens took it last year.

In the consolations yesterday W. J. O'Reilly beat F. J. Orth 5-7, 13-11, 7-5.

JEFFRIES IS WORRIED.

Champion Unable to Get Down to Weigh for Fight With Corbett.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—(Special.)—Pugilistic circles here are receiving all kinds of shocks over stories of lack of condition from the Jeffries camp that will not down. The most persistent of these reports is that Jeffries is finding the task of reducing a most trying one, that his efforts to acquire speed have all but disappointed the corps of trainers. The reason for Jeffries' trouble is attributed to the rather free and easy way in which he conducted himself after his last contest. Jeff has been in and out of ballrooms ever since.

So disappointed has Jeff become over his failure to get down to fighting weight that he is preparing all sorts of schedules for himself that ought to make the place a turkish bath as a weight reducer. For the next two weeks Jeff will cover all sorts of distances over the road, as well as engage in long bouts with his sparring partners.

Corbett's frame of mind is quite a contrast to Jeffries. The stories of Jeffries' woes (real or imaginary) are the source of much amusement to him.

"I'm really sorry for Jeffries," said Jim. "It's hate to go in and whip a man who was not properly conditioned. It is my hope and aim to whip Jeff in his best possible form. If the excuse should be offered that I had scored over a delicate subject it might be put to the inconvenience of fighting him again."

LOOKED RELIANCE OVER.

Sir Thomas Gets Peep at Cup Defender and Thinks Her a Fine Boat.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 13.—(Special.)—Sir Thomas Lipton and his Shamrocks are back at their old moorings in Sandy Hook Bay. Before leaving the basin Sir Thomas crossed the shipyard and carefully looked over the Reliance. He had not seen the probable cup defender out of water. He went from one side of the dry dock to the other to get a view at different angles, and altogether spent about 20 minutes in inspecting the latest Herreshoff 90-footer. When asked for an opinion, he said:

"Well, the Reliance is certainly a wholesome looking craft. Nothing in her line, so far as I am able to judge, is wanting. There is nothing to prevent her from sailing fast. I was led to believe that Herreshoff had made some important sacrifices to get speed, but I cannot see where he has neglected to make a perfect looking boat. She is as unlike the Shamrock as it is possible to get a boat."

With the new sail plan of the Shamrock III. the question of the Reliance giving her a minute or more time allowance goes up in smoke.

PLAYING GOOD BALL.

Pittsburgh Boys Win Many Games at Conneaut Lake.

The baseball nine of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh at Conneaut lake has aroused considerable interest by its many victories over other teams at that place. On Saturday last the club which is known as the Maitland Alexanders played an exciting game with Americus club of Youngstown, O., and the latter nine was defeated 15 to 7. There were 2,000 persons in attendance, excursion trains from Akron, O., and Turtle Creek, Pa., having taken many to that resort.

At a practice game on Friday the Sunday school boys formed two teams, known as the Alvins and the Alexanders. The game was warmly contested, the Alexanders beating the Alvins 10 to 6. Those who made the best average comprised the team that played Saturday.

KEEPING UP THE FIGHT.

More Bookmakers Were Arrested at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Twenty constables were engaged for a fourth time by Attorney Cantwell, acting for E. E. Farley, the turfman, who was ruled off at Detroit, to serve warrants on officials and bookmakers at the Washington park race track today. Only one constable was admitted to the track. He served the warrants quietly.

The men arrested were Lawrence Young, president of the club; Secretary James Howard, and nine bookmakers. The bookmakers had all been arrested on the previous rides on the track. Those arrested today at once gave bonds and the racing went on as usual.

THE GOLF EXPERTS.

MUDDY TRACK PROVED TOUGH FOR THE TALENT

Picking Winners Was a Difficult Thing at Morris Park—Three Favorites at the Front.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—The races at Brighton Beach today were run over a muddy track, and the talent was all at sea, unable to locate the mud horses. Three favorites won. Possession, an added starter in the Distaff stakes for 2-year-old fillies, and backed down from 5 to 3 to 1 won driving by half a length from Monsoon, the favorite. Memorian made the pace to the stretch where Monsoon and Possession moved out and in a drive the latter gained the decision by a head and Semetie third.

Sailor Knot, winner of the first race, was sold up to $1,550 an advance of $450 over his entered selling price. Mike Clancy was the buyer.

It was reported at the track today that Golden Maxin, J. F. Kraner's good 3-year-old, had wrenched himself badly in a workout this morning. He will probably be on the retired list for some time to come. Summaries:

SOME HEAVY BETTING.

Saratoga Will Be the Mecca for All the Big Turf Plungers.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—There will be $500,000 bet daily in the Saratoga ring next month. Such is the belief of many bookmakers, operators and prominent men of racing. This immense pipe recruits in the owners' list this year is offered as an explanation for this new and powerful zest to the speculative end of the sport.

Though there are yet many racing days at Brighton Beach and a full term at Jamaica to be completed before the race-goer turns blithesomely to Saratoga an air of expectancy pervades the racing round. Thousands of the professional and casual followers of the Metropolitan turf are even now scanning the situation.

With the safe arrival at the Spa on Saturday of the horses in the stable of James R. and F. P. Keene, the Coughlance stable and Capt. S. S. Brown the racing eyes turn seriously upon the Newmarket heath of America. The money angle is always an interesting phase of Saratoga.

RUNNELLS WAS BEATEN.

Bad Jockey Work Brought About the Disaster.

CHICAGO, July 13.—John A. Drake's Runnells, a horse that has hitherto shown marked sprinting ability, was defeated at Washington Park today by Elsie L. The race was at 6½ furlongs. Jockey Gray kept Runnels so far back in the early part of the race that he could not quite get up and was beaten a head. His price was 3 to 5.

Bad News won the mile race for 3-year-olds handily from Bondage and Postmaster Wright. Mary Glenn was prominent early in the race, but died away when the pinch came. Bad News and Silk Maid were the only winning favorites of the day.

First race, 6 furlongs—Nannie Hodge, 103, L. Wilson, 7 to 2, won; Aggie Lewis, 108, Helgesen, 9 to 5, second; Rainland, 106, Henry, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 3-5.

Third race, mile—Bad News, 112, B. Davis, 7 to 5, won; Bondage, 100, Robbins, 5 to 2, second; Postmaster Wright, 110, Henry, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:40.

UNIONTOWN, PA., July 13.—(Special.)—The game of ball Thursday between the Uniontown and Monessen Elks is expected to be the best one of the season in Uniontown. Yale's famous pitcher, Herbert Bowman, will be in the box for Uniontown, while the Charleroi players will include John Tenner, the ex-Chicago pitcher; Tommy Quinn, as catcher, and Frank Storey of Brownsville, as first baseman.

First Game for Charleston.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 13.—(Special.)—Charleston defeated the Sistersville W. Va., team here today in the first of a series of games 9 to 3. Collins was in the box for the visitors and the locals landed on him for 14 hits. Drew had the visitors at his mercy, only allowing them four hits the entire game.

MUSCULAR PARSON PREVENTS BLOOD SHEDDING

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—The Rev. W. W. Bustard of Boston, who occupies the pulpit of the Madison Avenue Baptist church during the European vacation of the Rev. Dr. Lorimer, showed his muscle last night. While on the way home from church Mr. Bustard saw two Italians fighting. He knocked down the more aggressive fighter and sat upon him while some of the minister's parishioners led the other fighter away. "I feared they would reach the stiletto stage," exclaimed the athletic parson.

BASEBALL WAR TO BE RENEWED

Majority of National League Club Owners Have Agreed to Go After American Players.

SECRET MEETING WAS HELD

[The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, July 13.]

That the National league intends to reopen the baseball war and fight to a finish, is certain. It was learned today that immediately before the Giants started on their present western trip President Pulliam of the National; President Potter of Philadelphia, Harry Von Der Horst and Ned Hanlon of Brooklyn, Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, John T. Brush of New York and Messrs. Soden and Billings of Boston held a secret meeting at the Hoffman house.

The men represented the clubs which sustained the action of President Pulliam in allowing the New York club to play George Davis. These men entered into an agreement which next year will see the baseball strife as bitter as it was before the peace conference in Cincinnati. Ned Hanlon said his club had been treated wrongfully, and he asked the clubs to help him give Brooklyn a strong team in 1904. Pulliam was accordingly ordered to do anything he thought proper to benefit the league, and that his actions would be backed up by New York, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia. Plans to strengthen the Philadelphia club were also made. It was practically decided to make a raid on the American league for players for the teams next year. Big offers will be made to stars in the Johnson league, and it would be no surprise if several players who now make up the invader's team here will be seen in either Philadelphia or Brooklyn uniforms next season.

One player Brooklyn will have is Fielder Jones, the center fielder of the Chicago American league club. He is under contract to the New York National league for three years, beginning next season, but Ban Johnson has agreed that he can jump to the league owning title to the conditions of the Cincinnati agreement. Jones has said that he will keep his contract with New York, and there is no question of his joining the Johnson league. At the meeting John T. Brush and Hanlon talked about transferring Jones to Brooklyn. The two magnates settled the question between themselves and gained the consent of the other members of the league present. Brooklyn will pay something for Jones to the New York club, but just what the figure will be could not be learned.

Jones' contract which he signed with New York a year ago calls for a salary of $4,500 a year for three years. Hanlon will pay that amount to Jones. The latter played his first major league ball in Brooklyn, but jumped the club two

HEAD SHOOTING STILL A MYSTERY

Now Said That Four Men Know Something of the Affray.

NO HOPE FOR WOUNDED MAN

The Police Search for John Flanigan, but Fail to Find Him—Mrs. Walsh Is Held as a Witness and Sent to Jail.

It can now be almost positively stated that Charles Head, who was shot Saturday night by a fellow boarder, said to be John Flanigan, at No. 27 Watson street, will not recover from his injuries. The bullet has penetrated his right lung and all hope of securing it has been abandoned. Yesterday Dr. E. R. Gregg of the surgical department of the Homeopathic hospital made a thorough search for the bullet.

Dr. Gregg stated that he found Head's abdomen swollen as in a case of peritonitis. The abdomen was opened in search of a perforation, but none was found. About the right lung blood clots were found showing that the bullet had entered there. The bullet has secreted itself, however, in such a way as to make its recovery impossible. The physicians say the wounded man cannot recover.

A search was carried on all day yesterday for Flanigan, who was in the room when the shooting was done and who is suspected of being the one who used the weapon, but he could not be located. He did not report for work on the Wabash, near McDonald, yesterday.

It is said the police are working on a new theory in connection with the case. This is that there were four men in the room, besides Head, when the shooting occurred. It was first stated that Flanigan and Head were alone. It became known yesterday that after the shooting there were two hats found in the room beside the won worn by Head. It also became known that two men, both wearing hats, were seen leaving the house after the tragedy.

That one of these two men was Flanigan is said to be certain, but who the other man is, and who left the two hats in the room is still a matter of mystery.

Mrs. Ella Walsh, the proprietress of the boarding house, was committed to jail yesterday afternoon for 10 days as a witness, and to await the result of the injured man's wounds.

THE FATHER LOSES.

Dispute of Divorced Couple Over Custody of Their Child Ended in Court.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Alexander C. Young, who has had many disputes with his former wife, now Mrs. Louise McAllister Jongers, who is a niece of Ward McAllister, as to the custody of their 4-year-old daughter, Louise McAllister Young, was ordered today by Supreme Court Justice Scott to restore the child to the custody of Mrs. Catherine Ogden McAllister, from whose residence at Greenwich, Conn., he took the child on June 27.

Justice Scott's order was only a temporary one, as Lawyer Keener said he intended to apply to the court for a modification of the provisions in the divorce decree, which gave Mrs. Young sole custody of her daughter.

"The order of this court," said Justice Scott, "deprives the father of the custody of this child, and if by force and violence he removed her from the custody of the person designated I think this court can deal with his action. The father has no more right than any stranger to the custody of this child."

Justice Scott directed that Mrs. McAllister give a bond of $1,000 to produce the children court whenever ordered.

SIR THOMAS WILLING.

Yachtsman Says He Will Marry an American Girl If He Wins the America's Cup.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—In a speech of welcome to Sir Thomas Lipton, the guest of honor at a reception given by Thomas Barrett, a rich manufacturer, and Mrs. Barrett at their Larchmont cottage, Mr. Barrett said that he thought it due to the American people that Sir Thomas should take an American wife if he succeeded in lifting the cup.

"If I get the cup," said Sir Thomas, "I will take an American wife, so that I will have someone to guard it as closely as the Americans have done for so many years."

While Sir Thomas was here on his last visit it was said that he was engaged to marry a prominent Boston society woman.

ANIMAL TRAINERS ARE SLAIN BY WILD BEASTS

HAMBURG, July 13.—(Special Cable.)—Only a few days ago a man was torn to pieces at the Paris hippodrome and now another report comes from Senftenberg, in Bohemia, where a bear, which was considered safe and harmless, went into a fit of rage and with one blow of its paw tore off the head of its trainer.

FATHER WANTS SON LOCKED UP

Had Boy Arrested on a Charge of Stealing $30 and Running Away from Home.

FOUND AT CONNEAUT LAKE

W. H. Champ, a Clarionet Player, Discovered Missing One While Engaged With Band—Broke Out of Jail in Ohio Town.

Harry Champ, a 13-year-old boy, living with his father, W. H. Champ, in Broad street, East End, was held in $300 bail last night to be heard before the juvenile court, which meets in September. The lad is held at the request of his father, who refuses to go on his bond.

The lad is alleged to have stolen $50 from his father a week ago yesterday. The boy then ran away. The father searched in vain for him, but could find no clue to his whereabouts. On Wednesday of last week the father, who is a clarionet player for the Commonwealth band, had occasion to go to Conneaut to play at the grocers' annual picnic.

Champ was playing away with the band that afternoon when suddenly he saw his boy wandering on the grass nearby. He dropped his instrument in the midst of a selection and ran out, seized his recalcitrant child, took him to the city jail and had him locked up.

Mr. Champ went back and resumed his place in the band. About an hour later young Champ was discovered in the street handing $1 bills to young friends. He was immediately rearrested and taken back to the jail, where he explained he has escaped by climbing through a ventilator.

The clarionetist had his son taken before Magistrate E. C. Negley in Collins avenue yesterday and had him committed. The father stated last night that he wanted the lad taken before the juvenile court, Harry will have to remain in jail until September, when the court meets again unless his father relents.

DETECTIVES SWORN IN.

Will Under Robinson Look After Culprits in the County—Assignments of Men.

George H. Waggoner, John J. Roach, Robert L. McMillan, Patrick Morrisey, George Schad and J. W. Reed, constituting the new board of county detectives, reported yesterday morning to County Detective Robert G. Robinson. They were taken to the office of the clerk of courts, where they were sworn in and each given a certificate of appointment. Late yesterday afternoon District Attorney John C. Haymaker made the following assignments for the new county detectives:

McMillan and Reed will take a trip along the Wabash to ascertain the situation regarding the camps along that railroad; Morrisey and Schad will go up the Monongahela valley for the same purpose, and Waggoner and Roach will be at the coroner's office at the morgue all night and will be in communication with anyone who needs help at night.

This arrangement will be kept up until Saturday, when all the special officers will meet at the office of the district attorney and arrangements will be made to cover the various places in the county on Sunday.

UNIONS EXPELLED.

Samuel Parks, the New York Walking Delegate, Doesn't Favor Arbitration.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—Led by Samuel Parks, the majority of the United Board of Building Trades today expelled four unions which had sent their men back to work in the morning, in accordance with the arbitration plan signed with the Employer's association.

Parks, who was in command of the situation, declared that the other six unions that have signed the agreement but have not sent their men back to work, will follow the four as soon as they report to the contractors. His action, it is thought, will result in another split in the board. Tens of thousands of men are affected.

The plan has been approved by a Missouri court and all the money tied up by 700 recently issued attachments will be released and paid over to the company's employes.

MALONE DOES NOT ACT AS THE HEAD OF POLICE WHILE M'TIGHE IS AWAY

Pittsburgh is practically a city without a chief of police just now. Superintendent John P. McTighe has not been seen for several days, and he left no official notification of the fact that he was going away. When Assistant Superintendent Thomas J. Malone read the papers yesterday morning he received his first intimation that he is acting superintendent.

It is customary when the superintendent leaves town to leave written notification and orders for his assistant or some other officer, to act in his stead. The police manual provides for the assistant acting as superintendent in the absence of the real head of the bureau. Yet in the absence of orders Malone will not act.

Inspector Bernard W. McStay is at present the highest police officer connected with the safety building. When asked yesterday who was the superintendent in McEighe's absence, McStay replied that Director Harry Moore of the safety department was. This statement was made in the presence of Malone and may have something to do with the latter's not assuming charge in McTighe's absence.

POLICEMAN WAS SUED BY YOUNG COLLEGIAN

J. P. O'Brien Objected to Being Hit With a Mace When Arrested by Elmer E. Crooks—Result of a Row in a Restaurant.

On a charge of aggravated assault and battery preferred by J. P. O'Brien, a son of Attorney Charles A. O'Brien, Policeman Elmer E. Crooks of the Frankstown avenue police station, was arrested last night. He gave bail before Alderman E. C. Negley. The arrest was made by Constable Thomas A. Joyce of Alderman S. J. Toole's office, before whom the information is made by O'Brien.

Young O'Brien declares that he went into a restaurant in Penn avenue, East End, on Saturday afternoon in company with a number of college friends, who are home on a vacation. He says a waiter insulted him and when he resented the insult the waiter drew a knife and attempted to cut him.

The young man asserts that he tried to keep the waiter off with a chair, when Policeman Crooks rushed in and struck him on the head with a mace, inflicting a wound which required 12 stitches to close. Policeman Crooks arrested O'Brien and five of his companions on charges of disorderly conduct and they were fined $5 and costs each by Magistrate Negley.

Policeman Crooks alleges that the crowd attacked him and that O'Brien tried to strike him with a chair before he used his mace. O'Brien's friends are said to be sons of prominent East End men, but they gave fictitious names when arrested.

BOLD DAYLIGHT WORK BY ALLEGHENY THIEVES

House in Residence Section Entered and Thoroughly Ransacked, Yesterday.

The residence of T. P. Herschberger at Page and Manhattan streets, Allegheny, was entered by thieves yesterday, sometime during the hours of daylight, and $70 in money and silverware valued at $100 carried away. The robbery was one of the boldest committed in Allegheny for some time, as the thieves did the job between 9 o'clock in the morning and 6 in the evening.

The Herschberger family, with the exception of two sons, Lee and Ralph, are at Atlantic City. The two sons left the house yesterday morning shortly before 9 o'clock, and returned about 6 from their places of business. They found the house in disorder, and upon making an investigation discovered that thieves had ransacked every room in the house. In a bureau drawer on the second floor they found $70, and from the dining room they took silverware.

Entrance was gained by forcing a rear cellar window, and not one room or closet in the house was overlooked. None of the neighbors saw anyone about the premises during the day, and although the robbery was committed in one of the most populous districts of the North Side, the police have no clue on which to work.

LONDON, July 13.—The Unionist free traders held another meeting tonight, under the chairmanship of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, former chancellor of the exchequer, in a committee room of the house of commons. A Unionist free food league was formally organized and it was announced that a large campaign fund was accumulating. The league will immediately start an educational crusade. An appeal will be made to Premier Balfour to set an early day for a full fiscal debate.

Herbert Yenell. He was led from the jail to the church by Sheriff Frock and a deputy and was not handcuffed. He said he sincerely repented of his sins.

MOSQUITO'S ENEMY MAY BE USED TO DESTROY HIM

Government Scientist Discovers Parasite in Mosquito Which May Prove a Friend.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Dr. Charles W. Stiles has issued a bulletin from the Hygienic laboratory of the Public Health and Marine hospital service, in which he describes the discovery of a parasite which destroys mosquitoes and to which he has given the term agamomermie. Dr. Stiles has been conducting the investigation with special zeal owing to the attention now bestowed upon the mosquito in its bearing upon public health.

Prof. John B. Smith of Rutgers college forwarded recently to Dr. Stiles two worms taken from the abdominal cavity of culex sollicitans. One specimen represented a larval round worm, but the second specimen was not sufficiently matured to be of any value. Dr. Wiley states that although no sure mosquito destroyer has been discovered, the agamomermis is known to have a decidedly destructive effect upon the breeding of mosquitos. He states that the government or public health and marine hospital service has not taken up the systematic work of breeding or propagating this parasite to exterminate the mosquito, but that this end may be eventually achieved he did not deny.

FILIPINOS COMING.

Eight Hundred Natives from the Islands to Assist at World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Dr. L. H. Wilson, world's fair commissioner to the Philippines, returned today after an absence of three months. Commissioner Wilson reports that the governors of 46 provinces have interested themselves in the collection of exhibits. The first shipment consisting of 500 tons, is now en route to this country. Eight hundred native Filipinos are also coming.

The prize list for live stock exhibited provides for the distribution of $250,000 in premiums. A letter from David R. Thompson, United States minister to Brazil, has been received, confirming the news that the Brazilian congress has been asked to appropriate $800,000 in gold for a display at the fair.

SON'S DISGRACE CAUSED FOND MOTHER'S DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(Special.)—A mother died of a broken heart today after she had made futile efforts to obtain the release of a son charged with larceny. When the announcement of her death was made Judge Audenreid suspended sentence. The case was that of Richard Graham, 17 years old, charged with breaking into a Pennsylvania car and stealing cigars. While the case was in progress counsel for Graham said he had been informed of the sudden death of Graham's mother, who had been untiring in her effort to get the boy released and had greatly grieved over her son's arrest. Judge Audenried, after receiving a technical plea of guilty, ordered his release.

ACT IN ITALIAN FEUD PLAYED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Special.)—Another Italian mafia feud has been imported to New York. Antonio Fortino was shot twice today while walking along Union street, Brooklyn. "If I die, all right; but if I get over this I'll have my own revenge," was all Antonio would say. He will probably have a chance for revenge as his wounds are not fatal. Fortino has been in America only two weeks, having been obliged to flee from sunny Italy.

WROTE LETTER; KILLED HIMSELF

Suicide of a Young Man at McKeesport Who Had Said He Was James Grant.

NAME OF ROSS ON COLLAR

Henry Doerr, an Allegheny Saloonkeeper, After Drinking for Three Weeks, Became Despondent and Hanged Himself.

A well-dressed young man, who said he was James Grant of Pittsburgh, committed suicide at the Hotel Raidle, Fifth avenue, McKeesport, last night at 6 o'clock, and no clue to his identity can be found. Shortly before he died he wrote three letters, two of which he tore up. A third was placed in a letter box and will be secured this morning.

Detectives pieced together portions of the torn letters and were finally enabled to make out the following:

My Dear Little Wife—You know how vainly I have tried to overcome my feelings—

The rest of the letter could not be made out. The young man went to the hotel at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and registered from this city. He retired to his room and wrote the letters. About 5 o'clock the occupants of the hotel were startled by the sound of a single pistol shot.

The sound was traced to Grant's room, and he was found lying in the middle of the room with a bullet wound from a 32-caliber revolver in his right temple. A hotel clerk had seen him a few minutes before go to a letter box and post a letter. Strewn about the floor were fragments of papers which showed that he had written two letters, and apparently dissatisfied, had torn them up, but decided to use the third.

The man was 28 years old, had black curly hair and black eyes. He was dressed in a light suit of excellent material and his entire apparel marked him as a man of means. A letter in his pocket bore the single inscription "James Grant," and had no address. It was not written in the same hand that had written the pieced-up letter. His collar had marked on it the name "Ross."

It is expected that the opening of the letter box in which is the letter the man mailed last night will clear the mystery. The McKeesport authorities objected to opening the box until the coroner's deputy was on the scene. The letter will be read this morning.

Henry Doerr, aged 47 years, a saloonkeeper at No. 874 Madison avenue, Allegheny, committed suicide yesterday morning shortly before 10 o'clock by hanging himself. Doerr was found dead in his room by a girl who went there to make the bed. He had been dead for some time. Doerr had been in the saloon business in Allegheny for about two years, coming here from Butler. For the last three weeks he had been drinking heavily, and had been despondent. He leaves a widow and two children.

HORSES FOR THE POOR.

British Owners of Racing Stables Give Substantial Aid to Fresh Air Fund.

LONDON, July 13.—(Special Cable.)—The recent extremely hot weather has put the charity workers of this city to a severe test and almost exhausted their available funds. A number of very prominent gentlemen have come to the assistance of the London Fresh Air fund in a very unique way.

Lord Rosebery, Leopold de Rothschild and Sir Thomas Dewar set the example by donating a number of horses to the society. Their example was soon followed by other owners of large racing stables and these horses will now be exhibited for the benefit of the poor children of the slums and will afterward be sold. It is expected that the Fresh Air fund will realize a handsome amount from this unique undertaking.

TAXPAYERS REBEL.

Resistance in England to Education Act Reaching Considerable Proportions.

LONDON, July 13.—(Special Cable.)—Resistance to the education act is spreading quite rapidly in Kentish villages. In many towns children of non-conformists are withdrawn from the religious teaching in the schools and taken away to neighboring churches, where simple Bible instruction is given. In places there has almost been a riot, while in others, large numbers of taxpayers have held protest meetings that will be heard from at the next election. Passive resistance societies have been formed in many towns and many taxpayers have lately paid in their taxes less a half-penny in the pound for educational purposes. The government accepted this in all cases the money tendered and gave until August 20 to pay the balance.

STATE OF SIEGE PROCLAIMED IN HAITI

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, July 13.—The conflict between President Nord and the chambers continues. A state of siege has been proclaimed and the national guard has been summoned to arms. The conflict between the Haitien president and the chambers is apparently the outcome of the discovery some months ago of alleged extensive frauds in the issue of Haitien government securities. The amount involved is about $2,000,000, and it was alleged that securities were fraudulently issued with the complicity of the National bank of Haiti. The president appointed a committee to probe the matter and the minister of finance, who was opposed to the investigation, resigned.

CIVIL SERVICE LAW TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Postmaster General Reaches an Agreement With Commissioner Proctor.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Postmaster General Payne and Fourth Assistant Bristow, the "sleuth" of the service, were in consultation for over an hour late this afternoon, and it is understood there will be a general sweeping out of subordinates of the postoffice department. The grand jury reassembles tomorrow and has received instructions to continue the postal fraud cases.

Commissioner Proctor of the civil service board was in conference with Postmaster General Payne today and efforts are being made to smooth over the difficulty which has arisen over the appointment of skilled laborers, messengers and clerks from the lists offered by the commission. Postmaster General Payne promises to give all co-operation possible to the efforts of the civil service commission, to apply the regulations of the merit law more rigidly to the postal service.

Investigation of the railway mail transportation service was taken up today. Acting Second Assistant Stone was called into the conference with the postmaster general and Mr. Bristow this afternoon. Previous to that conference Mr. Bristow received some documents from Mr. John Masten, assistant superintendent of the railway mail service. Second Assistant Shallenberger is on his vacation, but he informed the postmaster general that if his presence were desired in connection with the investigation of the railway mail transportation investigation, he would return at any time.

PLAGUE BARS MAIL FROM SANTIAGO, CHILE

WASHINGTON, July 13.—United States Minister Wilson makes from Santiago, Chile, a rather long report by cable to the state department, touching the plague. He says the disease has spread to nearly all the Chilean ports; that the postal service is disorganized and that no American mail has been received at Santiago for nine weeks.

Must Lose a Leg to Save Life.

Michael, the 7-year-old son of Michael Caroll of Smithdale, is in the McKeesport hospital to have his left leg amputated at the hip. Last week he fell and broke the kneecap, and had the leg cut off at the knee. Complications arose and now the only hope of saving the boy's life is to amputate at the hip.

This Group Picture Shows Men Prominent on Both Sides In Settling Bricklayers and Stone Masons Differences

Those seated, reading from left to right—William Dobson, international secretary of B. M. I. U.; James Duncan, of Boston, national secretary of granite cutters, an arbitrator; Collis Lovely, of St. Louis, vice president boot and shoe workers international union, umpire.

Those standing, reading from left to right—Philip Bryne, national organizer A. F. of L.; Joseph Ward, carpenters, chairman of I. C. C. L. C. committee appointed to bring about a settlement; Daniel Gildenew, business agent of the bricklayers; J. O. Campbell, stenographer; Thomas R. Preece, national organizer and special deputy of bricklayers, who conducted the fight; Herman Lillian, president hod carriers and building laborers, who withdrew as arbitrator; James Reynolds, secretary tile setters, an arbitrator; Fred Kress, secretary local No. 7, stone masons; Robert Woodburn, president, executive board of stone masons; Andy Kosatsch, business agent, stone masons; George Steinbiss, of St. Louis, secretary, building trade council, an arbitrator; Victor Paganeini, president local No. 8, stone masons; George Jones, national secretary, stone masons.

ATTORNEY WAS NOT ACCEPTABLE

Bricklayers Filed Protest Against Robert T. Reineman and He Withdrew as Arbitrator.

BOARD REDUCED TO FOUR

Both Sides Gave Testimony Bearing on the Trouble Between Two Organizations—More Witnesses Will Be Heard This Morning.

The arbitration board appointed to settle the dispute between the bricklayers and stone masons met yesterday and took testimony. The bricklayers refused to permit Attorney Robert T. Reineman to act as one of the arbitrators. Their objections were voiced by Secretary William Dobson. Upon the withdrawal of Attorney Reineman the bricklayers had three arbitrators and the stone masons two. Finally Herman Lillian of Chicago, national secretary of the Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' union, voluntarily withdrew, thus leaving two arbitrators on each side.

Secretary Dobson said that the National Stone Masons' union was breaking faith with the Iron City Central Labor council and his organization by appointing an attorney on the board. He made a long argument against Reineman taking a place on the board, which was answered by George Jones, general secretary of the National Stone Masons' union.

The charges and countercharges continued for over an hour, when Attorney Reineman, after being refused permission to address the chair, withdrew from the room. Lillian stated that it would be fair to both sides if four arbitrators constituted the board instead of six, and asked to be allowed to withdraw, which request was granted.

The board elected as umpire Collis Lovely of St. Louis, vice president of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International union. The board now consists of Frank Buchanan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and James Duncan of Boston, national president of the granite workers, for the bricklayers; George Steinbiss of St. Louis, secretary of the Building Trades council, and James Reynolds, secretary of the tile setters for the stone masons, and Lovely as umpire.

William Dobson of the bricklayers was the first witness. He gave a concise history of the organization, and dwelt particularly on the times when the stone masons seceded from the B. M. I. U. He stated that the local of stone masons, then members of the B. M. I. U. demanded more wages. They were refused, and decided to strike. The executive board was appealed to to issue a strike order. Before the strike order could be issued the wage dispute was compromised. For this reason the executive board refused to issue an order for strike benefits, which were demanded by the stone masons. He also recited the history of both organizations, stating that harmony existed between both unions until this spring, when the stone masons refused to work with members of the B. M. I. U.

Mr. Jones was the next witness. He stated that the stone masons were organized in 1878, before the B. M. I. U. had a local in Pittsburgh. He told of the hardships the masons had in maintaining a local and how they affiliated with the Knights of Labor. While affiliated with the K. of L. the bricklayers organized a local in Pittsburgh. The stone masons then decided to affiliate with the B. M. I. U., thinking it would benefit the organization. Instead it received chilly treatment. He said the masons, being in such a minority, could not demand their rights from the bricklayers. At every convention any request made by the stone masons would be voted down by the powerful majority of bricklayers. This he claims is why the stone masons withdrew. Both sides dwelt on the secession feature, which they claim is the point at issue.

The witnesses, consisting of five on each side, are as follows: Bricklayers—William Dobson, secretary; W. J. Bowen, James Hickey, George Stewart and Thomas Preece. Stone masons—George Jones, secretary; V. Paganinani, Fred Kress, Robert Woodburn and Andy Kosatsch. Another meeting of the arbitrators will be held this morning, when it is expected all the testimony will be given.

BRAVE MOTHER KILLS BEAR AND SAVES HER BABY'S LIFE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., July 13.—The brave act of a frightened mother under trying circumstances saved the life of her child from a terrible death near Prescott, Mich., yesterday.

Mrs. Frank Gray, living a few miles east of Prescott, with a family of four children, was engaged in picking berries near her home when a large black bear put in his appearance, having journeyed into the open field from his hiding place in a nearby woods. The three older children ran into the house and left behind the baby seated under a tree. The bear had picked up the child and had started off with it when the frightened mother rushed to the house, secured a rifle and shot the animal dead. The child escaped with slight injuries.

BRIDE'S HONEYMOON IS INTERRUPTED BY DEATH

Pathetic Circumstances Attending a Philadelphia Smallpox Fatality.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—While mass was being said in St. Columbus church for the repose of his soul today the body of Dr. John E. Stanton was borne from the municipal hospital to the grave. Not even the dead man's bride was allowed to approach the hermetically sealed casket. From her home at No. 2900 West Lehigh avenue Mrs. Stanton took a carriage and followed the hearse to Northwood cemetery, where she witnessed the burial from a distance. Dr. John E. Stanton died of smallpox.

Two weeks ago they were married. It was a short honeymoon, for within seven days the bridegroom was stricken with the dreaded disease. The sick man was borne to the municipal hospital. Death came on Saturday night. The young wife was grief-stricken when told the news. Her one request was that she might once more see the beloved face. But even that consolation had to be denied her. The municipal hospital authorities, however, permitted her to follow the hearse to the grave.

Dr. Stanton was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania 10 years ago. His education was paid for by money he saved while laboring in the coal mines. It is supposed he contracted the disease from a patient.

VICTIM OF A BOGUS RENT COLLECTOR

Mrs. John Kalmar of Swissvale was the victim yesterday of an old game worked by a bogus rent collector, who claimed to represent a Wilkinsburg real estate firm from whom Mrs. Kalmar rents her house. The man called two weeks ago and wanted to make some repairs before the month's rent was due. He was told no repairs were needed. Yesterday he presented a receipt for $15, a month's rent, and was given a $20 bill. He promised to get it changed nearby, but did not return.

Warships Aid in Celebration.

NAHANT, MASS., July 13.—The celebration of the semi-centennial of the founding of Nahant, which began with appropriate religious services yesterday, was continued today. The town formally welcomed the officers of the North Atlantic squadron, which includes the battleships Texas and Indiana, the torpedo boat destroyer Dale, Barney, Chauncey and Bainbridge, and the training ship Hartford.

LYNCHERS OF NEGROES ARE CALLED MURDERERS

Supreme Court Justice Brewer Gives His Opinion of Summary Justice.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., July 13.—"Every man who participates in the lynching or the burning of a negro is a murderer pure and simple." This opinion was given by Associate Justice David G. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, who is in the city on private business.

"Of course," explained Judge Brewer, "there may be extenuating circumstances which would vary the degree of the crime, but the principal participants in the crime, can be held by any court in the land, for murder in the same degree as if the crime were committed by an individual. There is going to be a reaction against the atrocious crimes with which the papers have been filled.

"The fact that the people are now interesting themselves in the discussion of this problem makes manifest the fact that there is a tendency toward a change. I expect that it will come soon. I cannot say what form it will take, but there will be an uprising of popular feeling against lynchers that will result in legislation or a remedy of some other form."

Three Drowned in Wreck.

PENSACOLA, FLA., July 13.—The fishing smack Amelia Lyons of Mobile was caught in a squall off this port today, and foundered. Seamen McVeigh and William Ward and the cook were drowned. Capt. Sullivan and three of the crew were rescued.

NOISY PATROL WAGON DISTRESSES LAUER

That No. 7 police patrol wagon makes too much racket while going through the South Side streets was the substance of a complaint lodged at No. 7 police station yesterday by Frederick H. Lauer of of No. 76 South Fourteenth street. Mr. Lauer, who was formerly a school director in the Twenty-seventh ward, hunted up Police Inspector P. F. Kelly and recounted to him the many hours of rest he has lost because of the iron tires on the wagon. Inspector Kelly promised to have rubber tires placed on the wheels and also to secure if possible rubber shoe plates for the horses.

ORANGE LODGES GO ON PICNIC

Six Thousand, Their Wives and Families Spend the Day in Alliquippa Park.

KING WILLIAM'S NAMESAKES

Two Hundred of Them Form Exclusive Organization to Which Williams Only Are Eligible—Speech Making by Officers of the Order.

The Orangemen of the Keystone district celebrated the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, which clinched English rule over Ireland, with great enthusiasm yesterday. Lodges from Pittsburgh, Allegheny, New Castle and Youngstown, O., the members accompanied in many cases by their families, gathered at Alliquippa park, on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

There was no general parade, the only lodge that marched being Allegheny lodge No. 75, which paraded from its hall to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station, Thomas Newell, master of the lodge, acting as marshal of the parade. The members of other lodges went to the station direct from their homes, it having been decided that a general parade would occupy time that could be profitably and pleasurably spent at the park.

Thousands of picnickers took their lunch baskets along and at luncheon and supper time the big crowd divided up into family parties, eating on the grass and on the tables provided by the park management. Part of the program was dispensed with on account of a downpour of rain, but all the sporting events and the wheelbarrow, sack and potato races came off according to schedule.

In the afternoon there was speechmaking. Thousands gathered in front of the platform, and the district secretary, George Carlisle, acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the speakers. They were the state grand master, Robert Alexander; Past Supreme Grand Master John Harvey, Past State Grand Master William Walker, District Master R. T. Alexander and Samuel McCandless.

On last St. Patrick's day a number of Home Rule Irishmen formed an organization composed solely of men whose first name is Patrick, and that organization is now emulated by an organization formed at the picnic yesterday. It is called the William society and the only persons eligible to membership are those Orangemen whose name is William. William Buchanan was elected president, William Walker vice president and William McGlone secretary. It is expected that the organization will finally consist of a larger part of the Orange lodges' membership.

On account of the assault committed on the Philadelphia Orangemen while parading it was feared by others than the Orangemen that there might be trouble here, but Past Master William Buchanan said that no Orangeman had heard an insulting word passed the whole day long, and that everything passed off quietly at the picnic.

"The Loyal Orangemen is an American organization," said Mr. Buchanan, "and are not connected with any foreign order, although, of course, we are on friendly terms with Orangemen in other countries. All our members take an obligation to support the institutions of the United States. We are in favor of the right of private judgment, free thought, free speech and a free press. We honor the memory of King William, not because he was king of England, but because of what he did for Ireland and humanity."

IRISH MEETING PROTESTS AGAINST VISIT OF KING

DUBLIN, July 13.—Wild scenes today marked the second debate by the municipal corporation on the question of presenting an address of welcome to King Edward on his arrival in Dublin. The public gallery was filled with people and the huge crowd, which was shut out, subsequently broke down the doors in its efforts to get in. Lord Mayor Harrington made a violent speech against the address. Maude Gonne (Mrs. McBride), was among the demonstrators, who continued the uproar until the lord mayor called the police, who cleared the hall. The motion in favor of the address was defeated by 40 to 37 votes.

DOWIE'S BELIEF AVOWED IN COURT

Second Elijah's Attorney Gives a Statement of His Client's Religion.

Suit of Former Dowielite for $25,000 Damages for Libel Being Tried at Chicago. Action Result of Vision Seen in Sleep by Plaintiff.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 13.—Dowie was proclaimed second Elijah anew today. The declaration was made by his attorney, former Judge Webb, during the trial of a libel suit against the head of the Christian Catholic church in Judge Smith's court.

"Dr. Dowie believes and teaches that he is the spirit of Elijah," Attorney Webb announced, "divinely appointed for restoring the gospel practices and dong what the apostles did. He believes that he is the inspired and divine messenger spoken of in the prophecies.

"I make this statement in order that the jury may have a clear idea of what Dr. Dowie teaches," the lawyer explained. "I do not desire the opposing counsel to make garbled statements to prejudice the jurors' minds."

The suit on trial is one brought by a former Dowielite, Samuel G. Priddle, for damages of $25,000 for libel. Priddle once dreamed that Dowie would be assassinated in his temple, and believing, as he says, in the potency of dreams, according to Dowie's teachings, he made public announcement of it. Dowie declared it was an attempt to have him assassinated and he attacked Priddle in his paper, Leaves of Healing. "Priddle is a prophet of the Gutter, a disciple of Damnation, and an insane fanatic," one of the articles declared.

After two hours' wrangling over the substance of dreams, Dowie's divinity and the subjugation in which he held his followers, the court and attorneys were so badly mixed up that the jury was dismissed until they could thread themselves out of the maze.

SWEET LOVE MELODY AT DUQUESNE GARDEN

Genee's Popular Opera, Nanon, Received With Favor Upon Its Presentation Last Night.

That tender and soothing love song "Nanon," from Richard Genee's ever popular opera, will return to everybody's lips after it has had a few more renditions by the Duquesne Garden Opera Company. Last night on the revival of the opera, the romantic Daubigne's quaint love ditty was instantly restored to universal favor with the big audience, and more hearts than that of the French lass of the story were won by the sweet melody.

Nanon is not new to Pittsburghers, but the popular presentation of this classic among modern comic operas never excelled that given by the local company. The song Nanon abounds throughout the composition like the "Serenade" in Victor Herbert's masterpiece, and gives a characteristic air of grace and piquancy to the whole production.

The scene being laid in France in the gay period of Louis XIV. gives rare opportunity for the display of rich costumes and charming stage settings, and in both these particulars every attention has been given to the details. Nothing is lacking in sumptuous stage equipment, and in Duquesne Garden last night's audience saw a more finished production than was seen here in the earlier days of the opera's existence.

Miss Josephine Bartlett as Madame de Maintenon shows herself worthy of the mantle of her distiguished sister, Jessie Bartlett Davis, who won fame with the Bostonians. Miss Bartlett possesses a voice of exquisite quality, and Miss Ethel Balch, who impersonates the title role, sings with charming sweetness. Miss Margaret Robinson—always captivating—is especially so in the part of Nanon. Jack Raffael as Daubigne, Harry Davies as Hector, and William Corliss in the part of Marsellac, are up to their usual good voice. The work of the chorus, which was established for its excellence at the opening of the season, is being maintained and despite the drills, dances and strange stage maneuvers which are required in this opera and on short notice, the work of the company throughout is most praiseworthy.

In the palm garden Miss Myrtle Arndt was presented with a magnificent basket of roses between the principal numbers on her vocal program.

AT THE TROLLEY PARKS.

Free Entertainment Bills Presented This Week Contain Much of Novelty.

Last evening, at the trolley parks, was an ideal opening night for the free entertainment bills arranged for this week, and at all the popular resorts there were good sized crowds. The manner in which the programs were received evidenced warm appreciation. All the bills are ahead of the average usually presented at these park entertainments.

At Kennywood park Rocereto's band made its usual good impression. Clarice Templeton, who sang "The Holy City" illustrated by the cinematograph, repeated her success of Sunday and was applauded generously. The illustrations are a new idea brought here from the east, and have made a decided hit.

Oakwood and Southern both had good sized audiences. Oakwood has a good vaudeville show. Grimet and Gruet, the eccentric comedy artists, head the bill and are very good entertainers. Weitzel, the juggler and hoop roller, made a hit with his clever work, and Edwards and Merrell, in their comedy sketch, kept their audience "going" all the time they were on the platform. John Murtha, a singing comedian, was a valuable adjunct to the bill, while the Santos had a very funny sketch.

Bryant & Saville's minstrels held forth at Southern. The proprietors of the concern are a very good team themselves, and they are surrounded by a company of clever entertainers. Robin, the juggler, last night duplicated his triumph of last week at Oakwood. McDevitt and Kelly, parodists and eccentric dancers, tickled their audience, and the Novelty Comedy Four were encored a number of times.

Manager A. S. McSwigan has decided to inaugurate a new idea this season—that is new for this season—in the shape of an "amateurs' night," when all local people aspiring for the plaudits of their townspeople will have a chance to see what they can do. Amateur night will be Friday of each week at both Southern and Oakwood parks, and already there have been a deluge of written inquiries about it, so there must be a host of ambitious young people in the Iron City.

PASSENGERS BADLY BEAT A CONDUCTOR

In a dispute with three passengers over the payment of fare, Bert Shields, a conductor on a Pittsburgh & Birmingham car, early this morning was badly beaten and rendered unconscious by three young men. The trouble occurred in Smithfield street and when the car reached Water street the conductor attempted to put the men off. They attacked him and after Shields fell to the street unconscious, two of his assailants escaped. L. Davis, alleged to be one of the men in the fight, was arrested and locked up in Central station by Policeman William Tanney. Conductor Shields was sent to the Homeopathic hospital.

Another Arrest in the Head Case.

James Reed, a riverman, was arrested and locked up in Central police station early this morning by Policeman Hugh Duffy, on a charge of being a witness to the shooting of Charles Head by John Flannegan, at No. 29 Watson street, Saturday night. Reed denies he saw the shooting, claiming that he left the Watson street house before the shooting took place. He alleges he later met Flannegan and he told him he had killed Head.

PERSONALS

Herbert J. Franz of Tyrone, Pa., a wholesale tobacco dealer, said last night that the crop of Pennsylvania this year will not be so good as last. "It has been a peculiar season," he said, "so far as tobacco growing is concerned. The early part of the season was a dry spell and the weather was not so warm as it should be. Recently the ground has been kept too moist with the frequent rains. The result is that the growth of tobacco has been retarded. Should the weather be good from now on the quality of the crop will not be equal to last year's."

THE DEATH ROLL

Cornelius O'Donnell.

Cornelius O'Donnell, for 20 years alderman in the Ninth ward, Pittsburgh, died early yesterday morning at his home, Maple and Linden avenues, Edgewood, surrounded by his children and relatives. He had been in failing health for about two years, but death came peacefully and found him in the possession of his mental faculties and with a full realization of his approaching end. He was an earnest, lifelong member of the Catholic church, and he died with the consolation of his religion. Mr. O'Donnell was born in Butler county, near Millerstown, February 2, 1831. He was left an orphan at an early age by the death of his father and mother, and he and his brothers went to work in the rolling mills at Bradys Bend and the family later removed to Pittsburgh. He was for over 40 years a resident of the Ninth ward. During the war of the rebellion he enlisted in the Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and was mustered out at the close of the war as sergeant of Company E of that regiment. He was a member of Post No. 41, G. A. R. In 1869 he was elected alderman of the Ninth ward, which office he filled for four terms, or 20 years. During that period he served as chief deputy, or acting mayor of the city through the administration of Mayors Blachmore, Liddell and Lyon. Mr. O'Donnell was noted for his kind and genial disposition. He was a close student and his study and experience gave him a profound knowledge of the law applicable to his office, and he was known and recognized as an authority in matters pertaining to that position. He enjoyed the reputation of being an upright, conscientious magistrate and a safe, conservative adviser among the residents of his ward and the city generally, and he acted for them in many private trust capacities. At the close of his last term of office in 1890 he entered the real estate business and remained in the same until about a year ago. He was a brother of ex-Postmaster John C. O'Donnell and is survived by five children: Attorney James E. O'Donnell, Martha, wife of Thomas J. Kane; Mary, wife of M. A. Hanlon; Rose, wife of Thomas McCaffrey, and John C. O'Donnell.

The funeral will take place from his late residence tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, and solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. James' Catholic church, Wilkinsburg, at 9 o'clock.

Funeral of John G. Burns.

In Girlhood

There is a great need of motherly watchfulness and care. A growing girl needs all her strength, and if she is nervous and melancholy, and loses appetite there is surely something wrong. This is especially true as the young girl approaches that important period of change when the womanly function is established. Timely care and proper treatment at this period may save much after suffering.

The best medicine for young girls who are nervous, melancholy, and irregular, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures nervousness, dizziness, and melancholy, promotes the appetite, and gives the body robust health. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"My daughter was troubled with dizziness and constipation and was very nervous for five years," writes Mrs. M. Carter, of 1545 4th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. "I tried several doctors but they gave her no relief. At times she would eat nothing, had green and purple circles under her eyes, and was melancholy. A woman friend of mine told me to try your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets' which I did. After taking one bottle of each she began to improve and is still improving. People said she looked as though she were going into a decline. She is twelve years old. There are no circles around her eyes now and she is healthy and robust, eats as much as any child, and is growing fatter every day."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the bowels.

SOCIETY

PREPARATIONS have been completed by the members of the Yankanuck club for their annual outing to Yankanuck Island, in the Georgian bay district, Canada. The membership of the club, numbering about 20, includes a number of prominent Pittsburgh men, most of whom, with their families, will enjoy the pleasures of the proposed trip. The party will leave Pittsburgh Wednesday evening, August 5, a special train over the Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania having been engaged for their accommodation. W. S. Brown, Charles W. Gerwig and Ralph Overholt have charge of the trip. The officers of the club are the Hon. William H. Graham, president; William A. Dinker, treasurer and Talbott C. Granam secretary. Besides the officers and the members of the committee the party will include the following men with their families: Edward V. Babcock, Frederick Raymond Babcock, E. R. Dowler, Thomas Ward, Robert M. Holland, Edwin R. Kopp, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Guy F. McCandless and Stephen Stone, also Col. W. T. Lindsay, Clyde Overholt and William T. Graham.

The Yankanuck club has been in existence for about two years, its members having in that time built a large club house and an annex of four rooms. The first floor of the club house is one large room, used as a general living room. An interesting feature of this apartment is the large fireplace at one end. On the second floor are 13 bedrooms given over to the use of the married men and their families, while the third floor is occupied by the bachelor members of the club. Yankanuck itself is one of the many picturesque spots in the Georgian bay district. It is situated about eight miles from the Iron City camp, the home of another of Pittsburgh's popular fishing clubs. Yankanuck is also near the island owned by Joseph Vandergrift of Pittsburgh. One of the club members, Stephen Stone, is building a home on the island and there he and his family will in the future spend a part of each summer.

Allegheny Playgrounds Opened.

An interesting event of yesterday was the opening of the summer playgrounds at the Irwin avenue, the Sherman avenue and the Eighth ward schools, Allegheny. In spite of the unfavorable weather, 150 children were enrolled at the Irwin avenue school and 200 at the Sherman avenue school. No committees have been formed to take charge of either the Sherman avenue or the Eighth ward schools, and, therefore, the enrollment at the latter playground cannot as yet be ascertained. Mrs. John M. Colebery is chairman of the Irwin avenue school committee. The other members are Miss Edith Dehrhorst, Miss Della Whiston and Mrs. Charles Boggs. Here the exercises began with the usual march and flag exercises, after which the children turned delightedly to the swings and sand boxes for amusement. A sewing class has been established by this committee and William Gregg, a former teacher in the Fifth ward school, has been engaged to take charge of the class in basketry. Much enthusiasm has been manifested by all the children interested in the playgrounds and larger enrollments are expected each day.

The Eighth ward playground is under the control of the Woman's club of Ben Avon. At the Sherman avenue school the swings and other equipment had not arrived yesterday, and after the opening exercises and singing of national airs the little ones played various games known throughout the realm of childhood.

WILL ASK COURT FOR LENIENCY

Dr. Walter P. Kountz Withdraws His Motion for New Trial in Murder Case.

PAID BILL UNDER PROTEST

Showman Charged Sheriff With Seizing the Wrong Goods—City Appeals from Award of Damages to Daughters of the American Revolution.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Dr. Walter P. Kountz was yesterday overruled, the entry of the court showing that this action was at the direction of R. H. Jackson, one of the counsel for the defense. The case was called for argument before Judges James R. Macfarlane and Marshall Brown, but as none of the defendant's attorneys were in court they were sent for. When they reached court a consultation was held in the district attorney's office, which resulted in the abandonment of the effort for a new trial.

It is understood a petition for judicial leniency is being circulated on behalf of the defendant. It is possible Kountz's sentence will be imposed next week.

He was convicted of manslaughter for the killing of Contractor John E. Walsh, which occurred May 9. The maximum sentence for the offense is 12 years, and the minimum a suspension of sentence on the payment of costs.

Charles Cole, colored, who was convicted of a felonious assault on a daughter of George Stinson, was refused a new trial and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year and six months.

The arguments in the case of Joseph Cagovski, convicted of first degree murder for the killing of his wife, were not heard yesterday owing to the absence of his attorney, Harry L. Christy, from the city.

Henry H. Winchell entered suit against William C. McKinley, sheriff, for $5,000 damages for an alleged illegal seizure of goods. It is set forth that the sheriff had a writ of foreign attachment in which Casper Gotterdam was plaintiff and Flora M. and Charles E. Blaney, defendants, while the owners of the Bijou theater were named as garnishees.

A deputy sheriff, it is alleged, made a levy upon the property of the plaintiff used in the production of "Only a Shop Girl," in which the Blaneys had no interest, and on account of the necessity of the plaintiff to keep an engagement in Brooklyn, he paid the deputy $882.41, the amount of the writ, under protest.

In an affidavit of defense filed in the case of George M. Cote against R. B. Ferree and others for an accounting of the Fort Pitt Lumber Company, Ferree states that he was led into the negotiations by his cousin, C. B. Ferree, and indorsed for the latter to the amount of $3,000, which he had to pay.

Ferree says his cousin colored the lumber prospects so brightly that he said if the defendant would turn in and help him he would pay back what he owed him and make money besides. The defendant declares he is a physician and did not know anything about the lumber business, nor did he know anything about the insolvency of the company when the agreement to help Ferree admitted all the plaintiff was employed as manager, but says that he behaved so badly that the whole lumber camp was demoralized.

The city of Pittsburgh took two appeals from the award of damages in the matter of the vacation of Short street. The Daughters of the American Revolution were awarded $1,000 for injury to the "Block House" property, and the city now claims the property has been benefited more than the amount of the award. It is claimed the organization has neither the power nor the right to recover any damages. The other appeal was from an award of $1,000 to H. C. Frick.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A petition in bankruptcy was also filed by Allen H. Van Dyke, of Shoeshalla, of Mt. Jewett, McKean county, whose debts aggregate $2,072 97 and assets $5,007.

The Mercantile Trust Company, through Trust Officer William Hageman, took out letters of testamentary on the estate of Charles Gantzer. Stone & Stone are attorneys for the estate.

Anton Karabarz and others filed a bill in equity against the Polish Tradesmens Business Men's association to restrain it from loaning money to any of the members of the organization.

In the United States district court a petition in bankruptcy was filed by Thomas A. Jiles, a teamster of Allegheny, who places his liabilities at $32,690 25 and his assets at $2,000.

An order was issued granted Emma A. Caldwell from Dr. William S. Caldwell. Indignities to the person are alleged. The decree was at first refused, but additional testimony was taken with the result as stated. Reed & Bennett & Benner represented Mrs. Caldwell.

The master in the divorce case of Nellie May against Albert May recommended a decree. They were married April 6, 1898, and separated June 28 of the same year, after having lived in Washington avenue, Allegheny. Witnesses testified that the respondent abused his wife, that he drank a great deal and "was too lazy to work."

WAS WELL-KNOWN RIVERMAN.

Capt. McIntyre, Who Died at Coraopolis, Had a Long Career.

Capt. John W. McIntyre, who died at his home at Coraopolis Sunday after an illness of but four days, was one of the best known rivermen on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Capt. McIntyre was born near McKeesport in 1836 and at the age of 17 entered Snowden's machine shop at Brownsville to learn the trade of engineer and the building of marine engines. The first steamer he served on was the Savannah and later the Shriver, which ran between Pittsburgh and West Newton. He was on the steamer Hornet when Capt. Madison Bailey was in command of the steamer Key West running between St. Paul to New Orleans. During the year he carried a regiment of United States soldiers from Fort Pitt to Fort Philip. The next year Capt. McIntyre was on the steamer Cosgrave and in 1859 brought out the steamer Allegheny as pilot and commander. He remained with this boat in the local trade for four years, when he sold her and built the Blackmore, which he afterward sold and built the John Penny. He sold out his steamers in 1877 and commanded the steamer Grand Lake.

From 1878 to 1883 he was associated with J. T. Duffy at Louisville in the river coal business and was later connected with John A. Wood of Pittsburgh. Capt. McIntyre had been piloting many of the local steamers, the last of which was the steamer Mayflower. Last Wednesday he complained of being ill and returned to his home in Coraopolis, where on Sunday he succumbed to a stroke of apoplexy. He is survived by a widow, who was formerly Mrs. H. W. Shannon of McKeesport; two daughters and a brother Daniel of Allegheny. He was a charter member of Allegheny lodge, F. and A. M., of McKeesport, and a member of Harbor No. 25, Masters and Pilots.

Capt. McIntyre had a long and honorable career as a river pilot, captain and business man. He was noted for his integrity and his genial disposition. He stood high in the estimation of his associates. The funeral will take place from the family residence in Coraopolis at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Interment will be in the Versailles cemetery at McKeesport Thursday morning.

HEARING ON HARBOR LINES.

Capt. Sibert Received Testimony from Persons on Both Sides.

The hearing before Capt. William L. Sibert, local United States engineer, in the matter of establishing harbor lines from Davis island dam to dam No. 3 in the upper Ohio river, including the back channel of Neville island, brought out a number of protests from property owners along the river. About 100 people who own property abutting on the back channel of Neville island crowded the engineer's office yesterday morning during the hearing from 10 o'clock to nearly 1 o'clock.

The hearing opened with an explanation of the blue prints of the proposed harbor lines by Capt. Sibert. The riverman presented a paper which was read by Capt. T. M. Rees, setting forth arguments why the lines should be located as they now are. The property owners who had bought up the grants of the channel bottom which adjoined their property objected to the width of the back channel around Neville island. Their attorney, W. T. Tredway, argued that the channel need not be more than 300 feet wide, which would allow those holding grants to fill in about 200 feet of the channel bottom. It is held by rivermen that this channel will be an excellent anchorage when the Ohio river is slackwatered, and for this reason should not be narrowed.

The matter was then referred to the secretary of war after all briefs from both sides have been handed in. It is believed that the lines will be accepted as drawn up, with but few slight changes.

HENNING WAS FOUND GUILTY.

Only River Engineer Who Violated Marine Laws as Charged.

The local United States inspectors of steam vessels, George H. Atkinson and Isaac B. Williams, gave their decisions yesterday in the cases of the alleged violations of marine laws by the engineers on the steamers Tornado and Carbon. John B. Henning is the only engineer who was found guilty of the charges. His license is suspended for 90 days, beginning with October 1, when he will be returned to the United States district attorney.

Francis A. Bunner and George B. Alexander, engineers on the steamer Carbon, were found not guilty of the charge of carrying on April 22 excessive steam pressure, as alleged by John D. Miller and George Ertenkaut, representatives of the Marine Engineers' Benefit association. There were seven men, with the exception charged John B. Henning and Frank Jenkins, engineers of the Tornado, with obstructing their safety valves and carrying excessive steam, preserving on April 27. They were found guilty of the charge. He is the only engineer who has been found guilty as charged in the cases so far tried.

At 9 o'clock last evening the marks on the gauge at the Davis island dam showed a stage of 6.1 feet and the river was rising.

ARRIVALS.

Keystone State, Cincinnati. Kanawha, Roe. Charleston. Ben Hur, Sims, Parkersburg. Columbia, Evans, Morgantown. Edgar Cherry, Hoag, Brownsville.

DEPARTURES.

Keystone State, Knox, Cincinnati. Ben Hur, Sims, Parkersburg. I. C. Woodward, Williams, Morgantown. Edgar Cherry, Hoag, Brownsville.

The rains are raising the river, and a six-foot stage is expected.

The wickets of the Davis island dam were not put up yesterday, as the water was rising and more was expected.

The Stella Moren will be floated this morning and the Cadiz will also be able to get off the trap if the water reaches 6½ feet.

The steamers Bosa, Tom Dodsworth, Jim Wood and Jim Moren are due to arrive in the harbor today with tows of empties. They have been tied up below on account of low water.

The slight rise will insure the continuance of packet navigation for some time yet and permit many tows of empties to reach the harbor. The water is coming mostly from the Monongahela river.

The down-river packets were the Keystone State, Ben Hur and Kanawha. They all had big trips and had to turn away applicants, as they were loaded with passengers and freight. At the water Keeps at a packet stage all records for the amount of business done by packets in the summer season will be broken.

Capts. John Moren and W. H. Crumb have returned from Chicago after superintending the rafting through the tows at Caseyville, Ind. The officials of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company are proud of the work of their men and steamers. It was the only coal company to attempt to get tows beyond the shallows at Caseyville, and succeeded in getting through the Joe B. Williams, John A. Wood, J. B. Finley, W. P. Snyder and Allen Brown, all with big tows, for New Orleans. It was necessary to double trip at Caseyville, and there was scarcely enough water to allow the boats to get over.

Textile Men Return to Work.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The strike of textile workers was further broken today when 200 dyers, employed at John & James Dobsons' carpet mill accepted the proposition made by the firm. The firm offered $12 and 60 hours a week, which was accepted.

After Cross-Ties.

The Pennsylvania lines west are experiencing much trouble and annoyance with southern connections that persist in stealing cars intended for the transportation of ties. So frequent has this become that W. E. Hubbard, an assistant trainmaster of the eastern division of the Fort Wayne at Allegheny, has been sent to Kentucky to get on the trail of several hundred straged cars. His territory is unrestricted and since having been sent there a marked improvement has resulted in the movement of ties for the lines west.

Rushing Portage Work.

Since the old Portage railroad has been included in the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania, railroad the officials of that division here are anxious to get things in such condition that freight can soon be moving by the new route. Supt. S. C. Long will leave here this morning on a special train for Altoona, accompanied by his staff of assistants, where he will be joined by General Superintendent C. W. Creighton. The party will then inspect the Portage road. Mr. Long would have left yesterday when he expected the work to be completed.

Railroad Notes.

J. T. Blair, president of the Little Kanawha railroad, was in the city yesterday.

The inspection of the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad by Supt. R. W. Duer was completed late yesterday afternoon.

The Wabash and other Gould lines have asked for bids for a number of steel coal cars. The coal traffic of the Gould lines has increased considerably during the past few months. Most of the new equipment will be placed for service in this district and throughout Ohio.

A. M. Schoyer, general superintendent of the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines, was in Chicago yesterday attending the meeting of the train rules committee of the American Railway association. Robert Pitcairn, who is chairman of this committee, did not attend the meeting.

Work has been temporarily suspended on the new low-grade freight line of the Pennsylvania railroad in the east. The pressure of freight traffic from the north and west to Baltimore caused the cessation of the work. The old Columbia & Port Deposit road, which, according to reports, was to have been abandoned, has been reopened during the heavy movement.

RECEIVERS IN COURT OVER POSSESSION OF CAR PLANT

CANTON, O., July 13.—(Special.)—Charles E. Thomas of Cleveland, appointed receiver of the Canton Structural Steel Car Company by Judge Wing of Cleveland, has begun suit in the Stark county courts to obtain possession of the property of the company. On the same day that Thomas was appointed Adrian Doll of Canton was appointed receiver of the company, by Judge Ambler. Thomas' suit is to oust Doll.

DON'T BE FOOLED INTO DOING SOMETHING ELSE.

"After what I have taken and done it is no wonder I am glad of an opportunity to recommend what cured me to my friends.

"I suffered intense agony from gravel for nearly fifteen years.

"For five and six weeks at a time I could not work, the pain was so great. My kidneys and bladder were in horrible shape. My back ached so I could not sleep. I had no appetite at all.

"I tried about every doctor in Syracuse but they failed to help me.

"I used nearly all the advertised medicines without any benefit.

"This was my discouraging condition when I began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I used only four bottles and I consider myself cured. I have no backache at all, no pain in passing urine, my appetite is splendid.

"It helped me from the start and I gained twenty pounds in weight."

FRED HOFFMAN,
1311 Lodi St., Syracuse, N. Y.

STOCKS SLUMPED AND THEN RALLIED

Many of the High-Grade Shares Touched the Lowest Prices for Years—Grain and Cotton Also Lower—Money Firmer.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market was demoralized for about an hour after the opening yesterday, and during this period many of the high grade shares sold at the lowest prices for years. The movement was a continuation of that in progress at the close of the market on Saturday, and it was no doubt accelerated by the bears. London prices averaged slightly higher, but this fact was entirely ignored by Wall street. Selling orders predominated, and the evidence of liquidation was so genuine that buyers dictated the terms of every transaction. New York Central was again conspicuous for weakness, and broke from 115½, the opening price, to 113¼, the lowest quoted since 1898, when the stock was paying only 4 per cent on par. St. Paul was another sufferer, breaking from 145 to 142½, on sales of about 6,500 shares by one of the most prominent commission houses in the street. Pennsylvania attracted general attention by breaking to 119¾, or a fraction below the subscription price at which the company last month sold $75,000,000 new stock to its shareholders. This is the lowest quotation on Pennsylvania since 1898, when the dividend on the stock was only 5 per cent. It was the weakness in these three stocks, which stand at the head of railroad investment shares in the United States, if not in the world, that started liquidation in the remainder of the list. Illinois Central, which is largely held abroad, was unusually active and broke to 126½, a decline of nearly 5 points from the closing bid on Saturday. Northwestern broke to 183¾, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to 244, Delaware & Hudson to 167, Louisville & Nashville to 106¾, Union Pacific to 77, Baltimore & Ohio to 81¾, Atchison to 69¾, and other dividend-payers were correspondingly lower.

○ ○ ○

Amalgamated Copper was the weakest of the industrials, and after making a new low record by opening at 49¾, broke to 48¾, the lowest ever quoted. The directors of this company are scheduled to meet on Thursday to take action on the dividend, and the absence of support on the eve of a dividend declaration was looked upon as an evidence of the attitude of Standard Oil interest on the general market. The United States Steel stocks were weak, but the common did not get below 28 or the preferred below 78½, and these stocks were the first to display any evidence of support. Tennessee Coal and Iron declined to 46½, Colorado Fuel and Iron to 53½, Pressed Steel Car to 50¾, Smelters to 43¾ and so on through the list. Sugar declined to 118¾, but was comparatively inactive. Consolidated Gas declined to 185½, the lowest of the year. Several times during the first three hours an effort was made to rally the general list, but fractional advances met with renewed liquidation. During the latter part of the session, however, genuine support in all the leading stocks appeared and a general recovery took place, the rally carrying prices to the highest of the day, and slightly above the closing quotations on Saturday. The close was firm, at or near the highest. The sales reached 945,000 shares.

○ ○ ○

Three things contributed something to the rally. One of these was the easing of money. At the opening the call rate advanced to 4 per cent bid, 6 per cent asked, but during the afternoon declined to 3 per cent, and at the close to 2½ per cent. The announcement was made of the engagement of $300,000 gold for export next Tuesday, but this had little effect. Another factor was the break in cotton, and a third was the general weakness in grain, but particularly in wheat, which broke 3 cents for the September option and closed practically at the lowest. This was in the face of a decrease in the visible supply for the week of 1,659,000 bushels, the total visible supply now standing at 14,311,000, or a decrease of 5,000,000 bushels compared with the corresponding date a year ago. The weather conditions in the spring wheat belt were reported as ideal, and the decline of a cent in corn reflected the progress which that crop is making.

○ ○ ○

The mystery of this fresh outburst of liquidation in the stock market is as deep as ever. Comparing every detail of the business situation with the situation as it prevailed when stock market values were 10 to 50 points above the present level, there is more reason for a recovery now than at any time within the past two years. Taking Pennsylvania as a representative of its class, it may be said that it is now quoted 20 per cent below the lowest level touched in July, 1901, when a general strike of the iron and steel workers was ordered. It is 5 per cent below the lowest price touched in September, 1901, which had such incidents as the assassination of President McKinley; a government crop report showing the condition of corn to be 51.7 per cent, the lowest ever reported; an application by the New York clearing house banks to the secretary of the treasury to come to the relief of the money market, and a generally depressed condition of the speculative markets. The one important new factor in the situation today is the issue of an enormous amount of new capital. But this transaction, according to the official statement, made two weeks ago, has been practically completed; the company has the cash in hand, which will supply all its wants for two or three years to come, and the new issue of stock was not made as a bonus. On the contrary, the company realized a premium of something like $15,000,000 over par. What, then, is the matter with the market? is the question that is being asked on all hands. The answer of bankers is that the market is suffering from the sacrifice of good stocks to take care of stocks which at present have no market. The answer of Wall street professionals is that "something is hanging over the market," and that this something will be revealed in due time. Investors continue to hold off—the general public, because it must have a leader, and the big investment corporations because they have been able to loan their surplus funds at a higher rate than that returned on investment securities. But the latter are getting down to a 4½ to 5 per cent basis, and it is the history of the market during recent years that a basis of 5½ to 6 per cent is nearer the normal level. It is not the history of all great market movements that prices decline as much below as they formerly advanced above the level of intrinsic values, and while in the judgment of experienced financiers they are now below a fair level, the probability is that they will go lower before the movement is exhausted.

○ ○ ○

On the local stock exchange yesterday, while prices declined, the losses were rather insignificant, compared with those in the eastern market. The most important declines were in Crucible Steel preferred and the Westinghouse stocks. The former sold down to 78¾, the lowest on this movement, and closed at a net loss of 1¾ per cent. Westinghouse Electric broke to 89¾, but recovered to 91. United States Steel common broke to 28 and the preferred to 78⅝, but rallied in the final dealings. The coal stocks held remarkably well and closed slightly higher. The bank and trust company shares were dull and heavy and closed at net losses ranging from 1 to 5 per cent. Pittsburgh Brewing 6s declined 1 per cent to 110¾.

Stocks Were Supported.

It was the consensus of opinion in Wall street after the close of the market yesterday that the rally was the result of support from financial interests who feared the movement might run into a panic if it were not stopped. Earlier in the year it was noticeable that each time the market showed a demoralized appearance, support was forthcoming, and as soon as a rally got well under way the liquidation was resumed. Three or four times during the past six months the market looked as though it had touched bottom, and commission houses felt safe in advising investment purchases. Each time, however, a lower level has subsequently been reached. Some day "rock bottom" will certainly be reached, but commission house advices yesterday were to the effect that the stocks purchased for support would not be for sale July, and that a new offering the same issue for July 20 as 4½ per cents. Wyandot county, O., did not succeed in disposing of $36,000 4 per cents in June, and is offering the same bonds as 5s for July 20. Memphis School District 4 per cents to amount of $75,000 were offered, but not taken in June, and are now offered for July 15 as 4½ per cents."

On a 5 Per Cent Basis.

Early in the year when the Lake Shore and the Pennsylvania negotiated loans in bank and paid 5 or 6 per cent for the accommodation, experienced observers expressed the opinion that those transactions were in the nature of a notice that investment stocks must decline to a basis where the yield would more nearly approximate the market value of money. It was thought that stocks that were quoted on a basis of 3 to 3½ per cent would decline to a level where the yield would be 4 to 4½ per cent. A little more than a week ago, when the railroads, which acquired control of Hocking Valley, were reported to have negotiated in bank value for 5 per cent for the borrowed money required to carry out the deal, investors began to talk 5 per cent as the basis of return on stocks. Yesterday Pennsylvania went on a 5 per cent basis, the stock yielding that rate at 120. If Pennsylvania, which has already financed its requirements, and which has received an enormous amount of cash representing the premium paid on subscriptions, is warranted in selling on a 5 per cent basis, the argument seems logical that other roads which have not raised their cash requirements, and must either postpone improvements or borrow money in bank, should not sell relatively higher than a 5 per cent basis. In the following table the 10 leading railroad common stocks in the United States are represented. The first column gives the present approximate market price, the second column the dividend paid on par, the third column the yield on present prices, and the last column the price at which stocks would have to sell in order to raise the yield to a 5 per cent basis:

	Current Price.	Div. Rate.	Net Yield.	To Net Pc.
Northwest	165	7	4.24	140
Pa. Rail	120	5	4.83	100
New York Central	115	5	4.35	100
Pennsylvania	120	6	5.00	120
Illinois Central	130	6	4.62	120
Canadian Pacific	155	8	5.17	160
Louisville & Nash	110	5	4.55	100
Missouri Pacific	100	5	5.00	100
Baltimore & Ohio	82½	4	4.85	80
Union Pacific	77½	4	5.16	80

Municipal Bonds Go Begging.

Buyers of municipal bonds are also looking for a higher rate of return, and where this is not forthcoming they are withholding bids. The current number of the Financial Chronicle contains a table covering the operations for the month of June in the municipal bond market, which shows that there were no less than 55 municipalities the bond offerings of which met with no bids or with bids which were unsatisfactory and were rejected. Commenting upon the situation of affairs our contemporary says:

"Three-and-a-half per cent bonds command favor only in very exceptional instances, and even 4 per cents are often not easy to sell. The municipalities, however, are not slow to recognize the condition of the market, and where offerings at 3½ per cent have failed new offerings are now being made or contemplated at 4 per cent. This is true of the $815,000 bonds offered by Minneapolis at 3½ per cents. That rate having proved unattractive an ordinance is now under consideration advancing the rate to 4 per cents. St. Joseph, Mo., failed to sell half a million 3½ per cents and is now inviting bids for the same bonds on July 18 as 4 per cents. Gloucester, Mass., failed on offering $55,000 4 per cents for sale July 13, which in June had been offered as 3½ per cents without success. Brookline, Mass., has been somewhat more fortunate. The city failed to sell $240,000 3½ per cents in June but sold $174,000 of the same in July. Cohoes, N. Y., failed on $118,276 3½ per cents in June and again failed on a second attempt on the 3d of July. Fulton county, O., could not sell $72,000 4s in June, and is now offering the same issue for July 20 as 4½ per cents. Wyandot county, O., did not succeed in disposing of $36,000 4 per cents in June, and is offering the same bonds as 5s for July 20. Memphis School District 4 per cents to amount of $75,000 were offered, but not taken in June, and are now offered for July 15 as 4½ per cents."

Pennsylvania in the Teens.

Pennsylvania railroad sold at 119¾ yesterday, the first time since 1898 that it has sold in the teens. For a standard stock, the fluctuations have always been rather wide, but recoveries from the declines have been rapid. In the last presidential year the range was from 123¼ in June to 124⅞ in money, and when there was more or less uncertainty as to the outcome of the election. In 1901 the stock sold down to 157 in the May panic, but a month later it was up to 178¾. In 1902 that year the stock declined to 140 on the declaration of the strike in the iron and steel trade. It recovered to 148½ in August, and only sold down to 140¼ on the day following the assassination of President McKinley. From 140½ in September it had recovered to 152 in November. The stock is now relatively lower than it was in 1898, when it sold at 110, but the reason that in that year the dividend rate was only 5 per cent, while the present rate is 6 per cent.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $6,261,562, an increase of $410,000.

Stock exchange sales were 4,979 shares stock and $21,000 bonds.

Crucible Steel preferred declined to 78¾ and United States Steel preferred to 78⅞.

Westinghouse Electric declined to 89¾ and recovered to 91.

Pittsburgh and River Coal stocks held steady all day.

Bank and trust stocks closed 1 to 5 per cent lower.

IN WALL STREET.

Pennsylvania dropped to 119¾, the lowest it has been in some years; 31,040 shares were traded in.

There were 35,900 shares of New York Central dealt in; prices declining to 113¼, a new low record.

Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis declined 7¼ points, closing being 67.

Low records for the year were made in the Pacifics, Vanderbilts, the express stocks, Amalgamated and others.

United States Steel closed at 28⅝; 40,360 shares being traded in.

Total bond sales (par value), $2,680,000. United States bonds were unchanged on last call.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

In yesterday's market Crucible Steel common declined only a small fraction to 13⅝ and was in fair demand at that price bid at the close. The preferred, on the other hand, sold off to 78¼, the lowest touched on this movement, and closed at a net loss for the day of 1¾ per cent. The weakness was generally credited to sympathy with the decline in United States Steel preferred, these two stocks having lately sold very close to a parity. There was a rumor, however, that the deal whereby the United States Steel Corporation will acquire control of the Clafiin Steel plant had been favorably passed upon by the committee having the negotiations in charge, and that a report to a full meeting of the board of directors of the Crucible Steel Company would be made today. From the action of the market it was inferred that possibly the terms of the deal would be more favorable to Crucible Steel common than to the preferred.

Philadelphia Company common sold to the extent of 500 shares at 40¼@40⅝, the close being at a net gain of ¼. Manufacturers Light & Heat sold at 38, and Ohio Fuel Supply at 41.

National Fire Proofing preferred declined ½ to 36, while the common remained dull and unchanged at 24.

Westinghouse Airbrake sold unchanged at 155, and closed without bid. Electric second preferred was quite heavy at one time during the session, but near the close rallied to 91. There was nothing doing in Union Switch & Signal.

Industrial National Bank declined 4 per cent to 141, and closed at 140 bid. Home Trust sold unchanged at 141, and closed at 140 bid. Iron City Trust declined 1 per cent to 150. Germania Savings & Trust sold at 165 and closed at that price bid. Diamond National Bank sold at 465, a decline of 5 per cent from the last previous sale.

Hill & Co. sold $21,000 Pittsburgh Brewing 6s at 110¾, a decline of 1 per cent. Long, Robinson Bros. and Wettengel bought.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred will be quoted ex-dividend today.

United States Steel new 5s opened off at 80@80¼, but closed firmer at 80⅛@80⅜.

Among the stocks which reached low record prices for the year were New York Central, St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Manhattan Elevated, Missouri Pacific and Consolidated Gas. Both Pennsylvania and New York Central reached low record for the whole period since 1898. St. Paul sold at the lowest price reached since the May 9 panic, 1901; Consolidated Gas at the lowest price since 1900.

Morgan and Harriman brokers were conspicuous in giving support to their stocks around the lowest prices.

London's purchases yesterday are estimated at fully 40,000 shares.

There was a strong demand for time money in Wall street yesterday, and rates advanced to 5½@6 per cent. Monthly loans, called reports were received of attempts by American borrowers to secure funds in Berlin, without success. Paris was reported an urgent bidder for gold in London in preparation for a Russian loan, and London itself has to meet an instalment on the Transvaal loan today.

Pennsylvania led yesterday's market in point of activity, sales reaching 81,040 shares.

Reports to The Wall Street Journal for the month of June show that 52 railroads have had gross $50,038,160, an increase of $7,480,128, the percentage of increase being 17.33 per cent, and 19 railroads for the first week in July report an increase in gross of 22.04 per cent. The net earnings of 89 roads reporting for the month of May show an increase of 17.65 per cent, and the increase in net for eleven months of the last fiscal year was 4.32 per cent.

GOOD SALE OF OAKLAND BLOCK

The Corswirth Property at No. 3712 Forbes Street Brings the Sum of $32,500.

HOUSES SOLD FOR $17,500

Railroad Surveys at McKeesport Cause Much Speculation—New Scheme for Selling Lots—Howe-Brown Property Not Sold—A Sewickley Deal.

The G. R. Corswith property, at No. 3712 Forbes street, has been sold for $32,500. The purchaser's name could not be learned yesterday but it is understood he bought the property for a business stand. It is one of the best properties in this neighborhood, the lot measuring 25x90 feet, and having erected on it a three-story business building, used for stores and offices, and nearly new. The location is on the south side of Forbes street, between Atwood street and Oakland avenue, and the price paid, $1,300 a front foot, is considered reasonable compared with recent sales not for away.

Through H. A. Shaffer & Co. W. H. Skivington has sold to Louis J. Seleznick five residence properties in Greenfield avenue, Twenty-third ward. They are known as No. 710 and Nos. 802-808. The lots measure 36x90 feet each and the houses are 10-room bricks which rent for $30 a month. Mr. Skivington got the property about three years ago.

Guessing McKeesport.

Much curiosity is being manifested at the movements of the surveyors working at McKeesport. For two weeks or more corps of men have been laying out a new line, presumably for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. Tin Plate hill is to be tunneled and the proposed line runs from there up White Oak level. Farmers and business men whose properties along the route say that the line being laid out is following very closely the route of the old South Penn survey and that it will make use of the half completed tunnel in Somerset county which that road started. Of late there has been a well defined rumor that the work is being done for the Wabash instead of the Baltimore & Ohio, and that a connection is to be made with the Union road at Duquesne.

Work is progressing rapidly on the razing of the St. Andrews church in Ninth street, and a larger force of men was put at work this day. It is said that the site will be cleared by August 1, when Gullek & McNulty will let the contract for the entrance to the Star theater, which they contemplate building. Possession of the property in the rear, where the theater proper is to be built, is not obtained until August 15. Mr. McNulty yesterday emphatically denied the rumor that he had been current for some time, that he had abandoned their intention of building this year and said that the work would go ahead as planned.

A $700 Lot for $455.

Every big lot sale brings out some new feature which is calculated to work to the advantage of the lot buyer. The latest and in many respects the most liberal scheme of lot selling announced this year is the premium bond feature originated by the Freehold Real Estate Company, which is handling the Kestler-Bungard property in the Thirty-fourth ward district. With every deed or contract for a lot there is given to the purchaser a bond signed by the Allegheny-Bellevue Land Company, which is made up largely of the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. This bond guarantees the buyer a rebate of 25 per cent on the price of his lot if he builds a house to cost $1,000 within four months from date of purchase. If he builds within six months he gets 15 per cent off. If within a year, 10 per cent, and 5 per cent is given back to him if he builds within two years. The bond is negotiable so that if the purchaser gets a chance to make a good "turn" on his lot the new buyer gets the benefit of the bond. By this provision a man buying a $700 lot gets a rebate of $175 if he builds within four months. In addition to this he pays cash within 60 days from date of purchase he gets another 10 per cent, or $70 off the face of his purchase, which would bring the price of his lot down to only $455. The bond feature is a popular one in view of the character of the men behind the project and the improvements assured and is proving a drawing card for dozens of home hunters who are picking out their lots early before the big sale Saturday.

Hard on the Reading Public.

The morning paper which "sublimely" boasts of its freedom from "school boy" tactics, on Sunday gave another exhibition of its street railway knowledge in stating that the Howe-Brown property at Pike and Seventeenth streets had been sold to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for $3,000,000. Frank Smith, president of the Crucible Steel Company, which owns the property, yesterday denied that any sale had been effected and the same was learned from officials of the Pennsylvania Company. The price, $3,000,000, quoted in the morning paper is a glaring example of "pipe" estimates, as the entire property is valued at less than $1,500,000. That part of it which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company could use to good advantage is between Duke street and the Allegheny Valley railroad tracks. The highest offer made for this tract is $600,000, or just one fifth the amount reported. This is at the rate of $3 a square foot and it is said that the Crucible Steel Company is holding out for $5 a square foot. A stock company has been contemplating lately to buy the property for another purpose, but nothing definite has been accomplished as yet.

Sewickley Residence Changes Owners.

George Bros. have sold for Mrs. E. M. Gibbs to Mrs. Ada F. Kevin her residence on the west side of Thorn street, near Academy avenue, Sewickley, for $10,500. The house is a 12-room modern frame residence, on lot 60x200 feet. It is surrounded by handsome grounds and is near the residence of T. H. B. McKnight.

Madison avenue: W. J. White sold for William A. Hartman to Miss A. B. Floyd No. 6345 Madison avenue, a country frame house, on 24x100 feet, and another lot of the same size adjoining for $4,400.

Second avenue: Ernest A. Hornberger sold for James Johnston to Christina Muldoon a lot 22x100 feet, at the north corner of Second and Trenton avenues, for $2,200. Also for the same party to Mrs. Ida M. Lutz a lot 20x110 feet, in Trenton avenue, for $1,500.

Crafio: Harry H. Hunter sold the following lots in the Crafio plan: To Mary A. Thompson, a lot 25x120 feet, in Poplar street, for $425; to William J. Campbell a lot 50x120 feet, in Walnut street, for $2,800; and to George Walton a similar lot in the same street for $2,800; to John Nihard a lot 25x120 feet, in Becks avenue, for $550.

Brereton avenue: John J. Thorns sold to Mathias Slater an improved lot 88x100 feet, in Brereton avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $7,040.

New Firm Well Located.

W. M. Cooper, formerly with Burns & Reilly, and A. J. Miller, until lately a salesman for James H. Thompson, have formed a partnership under the firm of Miller & Cooper and have opened fine offices at No. 1101 Keystone building, where they will transact a general real estate and mortgage business.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection issued the following permits yesterday: Dr. E. H. Parke, brick veneered office, Stanton and Negley avenues, Nineteenth ward, $2,000; Anton Katevicz, brick four-story store and dwelling, 2311 Forbes street, Fourteenth ward, $13,000; W. C. McKlowney, brick store and dwelling, Wylie avenue and Crawford street, Eighth ward, $8,500; also six brick dwellings, Wylie avenue, near Crawford street, $16,500; William Wuerthelo, brick store and dwelling, Second avenue, Twenty-third ward, $10,000.

WILL GO TO CUBA.

Lieut. Muir of Local Recruiting Station Ordered South.

Lieut. John G. Muir, of the United States Marine corps, in charge of the local recruiting station, received orders yesterday to hold himself in readiness to join a battalion of marines which will sail for Cuba tomorrow. This battalion will be divided and placed at the coaling stations which have been recently granted to the United States by the Cuban congress. They are at Guantanamo, in the southeastern part of Cuba in the province of Santiago, and Bahia Honda, in the northwestern part of the province of Pinar Del Rio. Congress has voted $100,000 for the establishing of coal stations at these places.

Most of the men being enlisted here will be sent to these stations or to the Philippines. Nine men were enlisted at the local recruiting station yesterday. Lieut. Muir has been in Cuba before and has served in China and the Philippines.

Local Civil Service Examinations.

The examination to be given by the civil service commission for the filling of carrier and clerk vacancies in the local postoffice will be held on July 15 and 16. It is found necessary to hold the examination on two days, as all of the applicants cannot be accommodated on one day. About 120 applications have been received and a great many more are expected. Applications will be received up to the morning of July 15.

LIGHT RECEIPTS KEEP HAY AND GRAIN FIRM

Raspberries and Currants Scarce and Higher—No Change in Creamery Butter.

Receipts of hay and grain were unusually light for Monday, and prices were unchanged. Demand was limited for all descriptions, and, except for the fact that buyers were offish, and did not want a great deal of stuff, it is likely the market would have been firmer. Quotations last reported continue to remain in force, with the situation just about steady.

The wheat market was weaker Monday than at the close of last week, but flour remained steady and unchanged. Wheat could go down several points without affecting the flour situation, for millers have never fully followed all the wheat advances and are therefore in position to maintain flour quotations for a while, even in the face of falling wheat. Sugar is steady at the advance of last week, and coffee is unchanged. All other grocery staples are held at prices which ruled at the close of the week.

Usual Monday quiet reigned in the fruit and produce market, and quotations were allowed to remain unchanged, except for currants, which are higher, and raspberries, which have also advanced. Potatoes are selling at same figures as on Saturday, which are easier than those which prevailed a week ago. Cantaloupes are fairly firm, and are in good demand. Barrel cabbage has commenced to arrive, while crates are also still offering.

California peaches arrived yesterday, none offering in a jobbing way. Some consignments are expected today, when it is likely prices will rule higher. Cherries are not going quite so fast as they did a few days ago and quotations are easier. Apricots were not offered yesterday, but some will likely be in today. Other tropical fruits are unchanged.

Live spring chickens were less plentiful yesterday, and prices were firmer, at a slight advance. Other poultry remained unchanged.

The weakness which developed in the butter market a few days ago was sufficiently marked to keep prices from advancing yesterday at Elgin, although there was no decline, figures of last Monday still prevailing, with the situation just about steady. Cheese is easy, and eggs are just holding their own.

Cattle.

There was quite a falling off in receipts of cattle today as compared with last Monday, arrivals this morning amounting to but 85 carloads, as against 200 a week ago. The result was a much stronger market, quotations advancing 15c to 25c.

ALL THE GRAINS CLOSED LOWER IN CHICAGO PITS

Wheat Ruled Lower and Corn and Oats Declined in Price in Sympathy.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 13.—Firm cables caused strength in wheat at the opening, but it did not hold long. September showed a gain of ½c to ¾c to 79¾@80c, the high point for the day and immediately slumped off on selling by some of the large commission houses, influenced by good growing weather throughout the country and a bearish construction placed upon the government report. Local long holders followed the lead and bearish selling was general, September had touched 78¾c. A slightly better tone developed near the close, but with small cash demand and increasing receipts there was not much recovery and the close was weak at 78¼@78⅞c, a net loss of 2¼@2½c. Primary receipts were 518,300 bushels against 985,800 a year ago. The visible supply showed a decrease of 1,030,000 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 216 cars, which with local receipts of 55 cars, 20 of contract grade, made a total for the three points of 271 cars against 782 last week, and 627 cars a year ago.

There was considerable weakness in corn, due to free selling by local traders on receipt of good weather and on the easier cables. The opening, on the early strength in wheat, was unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 51@c to 58¼c with a firm tone, and at times there was fairly good support to the market, but in the face of the weakness in wheat stocks decline took place. Country offerings were quite liberal with but little support. The visible supply showed an increase of 220,000 bushels against an increase of 1,251,000 last week. Local receipts were 344 cars, with 34 of contract grade.

Oats were lower in sympathy with corn and wheat, but there was some good buying in deferred futures and prices suffered but little. The crop situation prevented much selling and the cash demand was light. Local receipts were 177 cars.

Local traders bought provisions on the break, but the buying had little strengthening influence and a big run of hogs an shower prices at the yards caused a weak market and the close showed a loss for September pork of 50c at $14 25, while lard was down 5@7½c at $7 57½@8 02½c and ribs 22½@25c lower at $8 30@8 37½c.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 80 cars; corn, 310 cars; oats, 290 cars; hogs, 16,000 head.

The leading futures reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., members of the Chicago board of trade, Farmers Bank building, are as follows:

PITTSBURGHERS BREAST THE WAVES

Superintendent John P. M'Tighe Astonishes Bathers at Atlantic City.

WEARS GAUDY BATHING SUIT

His Arrival the Signal for the Fun to Begin—Observant Man Has an Idea With Millions in It—Waddell Likes the Seashore.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13.

There was a new arrival in the surf at the foot of Tennessee avenue today that caused consternation among the Pittsburghers who were disporting themselves in the breakers or burying themselves in the hot sand. Someone saw a short stout man, attired in a black-and-white striped bathing suit, emerge from the Dunlop bathhouse and make a bee line for that portion of the surf where the Pittsburghers were congregated. The Pittsburghers made a run for the striped man to learn who the new arrival was. They soon learned. Beaming above the stripes was the contagious grin of Superintendent of Police John McTighe. Nearly all in the party were his personal friends, and the fun that followed was swift; but the black-and-white striped suit—well, it was the limit.

Theatrical Deal Is Off.

Information is rather meager as to the status of the two theatrical combinations which have been talking of building a theater in Atlantic City. There seems to be trouble over the financial end. The New Yorkers, from hearsay, came down here with the expectation of driving a deal in which they would get the best end of things and were rather chagrined to learn that the native was wide awake and was looking out for his end of the contract. One of the Atlantic City men, in conversing upon this topic, said: "Everything was lovely in talking over the building of the theater, but when it came to writing it out in ink, there is where the trouble began. I wanted a run for my money; and the New Yorkers wanted me to take a long shot on getting back in the end. I wanted something to help pay taxes and insurance, and a little to say that my money was earning 1 per cent. But there was no deal. The New Yorkers were looking out a big distance ahead for their white alley and mine was not in sight. The deal may go off all right, provided they let me have a good show for the investment."

The other interested party remarked: "The thing is still up in the air. Prices have had a dampening effect upon the New Yorkers. They got scared. They are not used to our ways. I guess they will come around, but no papers have been signed as yet."

Mayors in Consultation.

Mayor Stoy, who rules in the city hall, and Mayor Henricus Girardus Walters of the boardwalk came together in Kuehnle's hotel yesterday afternoon and engaged in a quiet conversation about city matters. The boardwalk mayor was very earnest in his decisions and informed the city hall executive of the needs of the beach and stated that the beach was now cleaner than it had been for several years and it was costing the city less money. Mayor Stoy said that he was of the same opinion and that it was a good thing for the resort that so much attention was given to the beach. "I don't think I need a uniform," said Mayor Walters, "as I find everyone knows me and respects my authority. I would like to have a private team, but haven't the means to get one."

"How would a roller chair do?" asked a bystander who was listening to the conversation, but Mr. Walters declined to reply to the question. Addressing Mayor Stoy, he continued: "We are giving the beach fine attention and the boardwalk is now very clean. I don't have as much trouble as formerly in keeping it clear of litter. The people begin to respect my task and help me by not throwing anything on the walk. They place the litter in the big boxes, which are good things." Refreshments were served and the two mayors parted amiably after shaking hands.

Insurance Against Drowning.

"There is millions in it," said the observant man, with a wave of his hand toward the crowd of bathers in the surf.

"What's this, another Col. Sellers eyewater game?" asked The Gaette reporter.

"Hardly, although there are thousands that need it."

"Need what?"

"Why, insurance against drowning."

"Oh, I see," said the newspaper man.

"Now, this is the scheme. It's a money maker," said the observant man earnestly. "We will organize a surf bathers' insurance company and for a nickel insure everyone who goes into the surf. We could install nickel-in-the-slot machines at every bathhouse and give a policy of $1,000 in case of drowning. You can see it would pay. There are 50,000 people in bathing today and not a single drowning case. But everyone who goes into the surf would be willing to pay a nickel for a guarantee of $1,000 in case of drowning. Why, the bathhouse keepers could issue coupons, with our guarantee, and do a rushing business. All we need is to interest some of our loan capitalists in the scheme. It would pay big dividends. I will show you a few figures—" but while the observant man was getting pencil and paper The Gazette man glided across the walk to interview a Pittsburgher.

Butler County Boy at the Seashore.

"Rube" Waddell narrowly missed becoming a member of the Atlantic City baseball club. He had agreed to sign with the local team if he could not patch up his troubles with the Athletics. "Rube" declared that Atlantic City was the finest "ranch" he ever was on and that it just suited his notions of an easy life. "My, I would like to stay right here forever, as there are so many fine-looking girls, and everybody is sociable, nothing stuck up about them."

The Atlantic City ball club manager was willing to let him stay in Atlantic City and pay him a salary to do so if he would give them a game occasionally at the park. But the wily Athletic captain took him back and forgave him for his errors. "Rube" says he is coming back again before the season ends to pitch a game or two at Inlet park.

CUT IS CONTEMPLATED IN SOUTHERN PIG IRON

Association Proposes to Forestall Importations by Making Substantial Concession.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Wall Street Journal today says: The Southern Pig Iron association has not yet authorized its members to quote Birmingham No. 2 below the price basis fixed some time ago, but it is expected to do so within a few days. Members of the association predict that if any reduction is made it will be great enough to inaugurate a lively buying movement.

The prices expected to be made are $17 25 or $18 25 for No. 2 Birmingham at New York, which in the event that the latter price is fixed, will be a reduction of $1 per ton.

Northern iron would at once meet the reduction but the scarcity of Bessemer pig iron at Pittsburgh makes it unlikely that there will be any radical reduction from the prices now ruling. A determination to prevent renewal of imports of foreign pig iron will have as much to do with the cut when made as any other factor. The production of pig iron is so enormous now that manufacturers fear a glut in the foundry iron trade if foreign iron is allowed to come in. Production is slightly ahead of consumption for the first time in two years, and continued dullness might lead to large surplus stocks.

At $17 25 or $18 25, New York prices, southern furnacemen could still make excellent profits in spite of the advanced cost of production. This week's adjustment of pig iron prices is expected to put Birmingham No. 2 on the basis of $17 25 New York as compared with the association price heretofore of $19 25.

MUNICIPAL WOES ARE CONSIDERED

Chautauqua Lecturers Take Up the Problem of Misgovernment.

QUESTION IS A MORAL ONE

Clinton Rogers Woodruff Sees Hopeful Signs—The Religious Organizations Are Taking Up the Fight—Progressive Element Is Making Toward Good.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 13.—Chautauqua has seldom seen a busier day than this one. There have been lecturers and lecturers, and by such representative men as Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, President Bashford of Ohio university and Prof. Charles Zueblin of Chicago university.

The American League of Civic Improvement is in session here and the speakers for the first day included John Quincy Adams of Philadelphia and Prof. John Spencer and John Craig of Cornell university. It was well to have Mrs. Baker's reading and two concerts sandwiched in for a breath space.

Mr. Woodruff in his lecture on "Municipal Progress" took the ground that the world is moving forward and that progress is characteristic of our race. He says "If we think only of the St. Louis disclosures, the revelations concerning Mayor Ames of Minneapolis and the scandals of Mayor Ashbridge's administration in Philadelphia the municipal outlook is as dark as ever. Municipal leagues, civic federations and citizens associations, while pursuing different methods in different fields, are all contributing to the solution of the problems. Business organizations of the land are taking up the matter, and some of the most successful municipal work in the country has been accomplished by them.

"The problem has been attacked with equal effectiveness by religious bodies like the Christian Endeavor and Young Men's Christian association from the point of the duty of the citizen and the church is coming to consider it a legitimate object of endeavor. The problem is a moral one, and the realization of this fact by the moral forces in the community is a favorable and auspicious one. The most satisfactory sign is that the people at large, irrespective of their connection with any organization, religious or political, are deeply interested in municipal questions.

"The woes of Philadelphia under Ashbridge are known and commiserated throughout the country. If widespread sympathy could relieve the situation it would be done at once. But this will have its effect, for Philadelphia will not remain content in a condition that makes her an object of pity. There is a progressive element making toward good. The forces making for right are being strengthened from day to day and in time must overcome those that sustain corruption and inefficiency."

PATERSON.

THE CITY THAT MAKES SILKS.

Two-thirds of Its Population of 100,000 Work in the Mills and Dye Houses.

Wonder-Working Waters of the Passaic River.

Over in "Jersey," twelve miles from New York, just beyond the Hackensack Meadows, on the main line of the Erie railroad, lies Paterson, the "Lyons of America."

Go there some time and learn how silks are made.

Alexander Hamilton discovered Paterson. Way back in the dawn of the last century he was the moving spirit of a group of capitalists and engineers who started out to locate a manufacturing town, and selected the region adjacent to the "Great Falls" of the Passaic as the ideal spot. To develop a water power they dammed the river just above the cataract and dug a canal paralleling the chasm below. The river bank was laid out into mill sites, and laterals were run to each from the canal. The enterprise flourished and a beehive of industry sprang into existence.

Along in the 50's John Ryle came along, established a silk mill, and made the all-important discovery in his dye house that the waters of the Passaic possess some peculiar property which imparts to silks a brilliancy and permanence of color unobtainable elsewhere. This gave an impetus to the infant industry and eventually made Paterson what it is—the head-center of American silk making.

The wholesale market for Paterson Silks and Ribbons is not in Paterson, but on Greene street, New York, and few buyers ever get a glimpse of the mills in which they are made.
